PLAN THIRD STORY FOR BUILDING ON BRAND

$30,000 Structure Will Have Apartments Round Patio On Upper Floor

PLANS for a two story brick building, that had been formed by Mrs. James B. McEnany, 206 West Elk street, to be erected on her property at the southwest corner of Maple street and South Brand boulevard, have been altered to permit the addition of a third story to the structure, and the additional permits have been secured from the city officials, calling for a total expenditure of $30,000 instead of $20,000 as originally planned.

Work on the building has progressed as far as the laying of the foundations and the L. D. McKeen Construction Company, 103 North Brand boulevard, has been instructed to rush the work to completion as rapidly as possible.

The building, which will be of brick, faces on Brand boulevard for fifty feet, and runs back ninety feet on Maple avenue. The ground floor will be devoted to stores and the second floor will be divided up into offices, while the third floor will contain twenty-seven rooms which will be arranged into commodious bachelor apartments, furnished with every modern convenience.

Patio on Roof

One of the features of the top story will be that it will be built around a patio, the rooms surrounding the courtyard on four sides, thus insuring a pleasant recreation place for the occupants of the apartments where they can spend their time amid a profusion of beautiful plants with which the patio will be decorated.

It is the desire of Mrs. McEnany to surround the occupants of the bachelor apartments with an atmosphere redolent of the spirit of the southland, and she believes that, in the open patio that is to form a part of the upper story, she will succeed in carrying out her ideas.

Award Sub-Contracts

Several of the sub-contracts have already been let by the L. D. McKeen Construction company, and others will be awarded as the work progresses and as the firms that are now bidding on the work submit their figures. The construction company has full

Police Seek Raffles; Poses As Realty Man

A GENTLEMAN Raffles, who is reported to be working in this vicinity, is the object of a search by the Glendale police department. He has robbed three houses in Eagle Rock and four more in Pasadena, according to reports this week.

The detective department of the Glendale police department request residents who have houses for sale, particularly those which are well furnished, to report any suspicious characters, it being the Raffles' burglar's program to first call and inspect the house under pretense of buying.

By this devious method he locates windows or doors by which he may obtain entrance, learns where valuables are kept and succeeds in getting away with much rich loot on the occasion of a nocturnal visit. It is an old, old trick, but is highly successful this season as Raffles is reported to be a person of seeming refinement.

REPORT REVEALS DROP IN PRICES

Clothing Leads Decrease as Cotton and Silk Goods Show Decline

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Wholesale prices declined 1 1-3 per cent in July, while from April to July, the drop was five per cent, the Department of Labor announced today. The largest decrease in July was in the group of clothes and clothing, due mainly to declines in cotton goods and raw and spun silk. The decrease in this group was over 2½ per cent.

Chemicals and drugs declined 2¼ per cent from the June level. In the group of farm products, advances in corn, cattle, hogs, eggs, hops, onions and potatoes, were more than offset by declines in wheat, oats, rye, lambs, cotton, beans, alfalfa hay and hides, causing a net decline of over 2 per cent.

Decreases approximating 2 per cent were recorded for the group of metals and metal products and building materials, while smaller decreases took place among foods, fuel and lighting materials and miscellaneous commercial commodities.

BANDITS GET $14,500

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—Three bandits today held up and robbed S. E. Hurdle and Phillip Schwoerer, employes of the J. H. Day Manufacturing company of the firm's weekly payroll, amounting to $14,500 and escaped in an automobile after being pursued about a mile by another machine.

LOWER TAXES SOUGHT IN CONGRESS PROGRAM

Big Sum in Securities From Which Government Gets No Revenue

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Lower taxes will be strongly recommended to the next congress by President Coolidge, it was learned today. The president will seek a better adjustment of the tax burden, to satisfy urgent demands from all classes that the present revenue law is operating unfairly and actually deprives the government of larger revenues.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in his report to congress, which will be cited by the president in his message, will urge that congress make possible the creation of new revenue sources by lowering surtaxes. Secretary Mellon will recommend a reduction to a 25 per cent surtax bracket from the present level of 50 per cent.

Tax Free Securities

Adoption of a lower surtax proposal, the administration contends, will make it easily possible to lower the income tax rates on moderate incomes. Most of the discontent now evidenced from high federal taxes is the result of the present high scale of present income below the $5000 class.

Secretary Mellon will stress the need of action by congress to lift the tax yoke off industry to permit the spread of capital into new channels.

The treasurer's view today was that only by this method will it be possible to secure an equalization of the tax burden.

The administration will renew its fight against tax free securities. The secretary today estimated that $15,000,000,000 of American wealth is now sunk in tax free securities, from which the government obtains no revenue.

TYPHOON SWEEPS HONG KONG PORT

Many Lives Lost When Hard Storm Ravages Shipping In Eastern Harbor

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Many lives are believed to have been lost in the region of Hong Kong during the worst typhoon in its history, said a Central News dispatch from Hong Kong this afternoon. The storm lasted an hour, during which the wind blew 130 miles an hour. The steamship Mingsang was reported to have been sunk in the harbor, with loss of all hands.

The British submarine L-19 was sunk, and, so far as is known, only one member of the crew was saved.

Two Japanese steamships were driven ashore. Many other steamships were wrecked. The coast is strewn with debris.

Japanese Save British

SHANGHAI, Aug. 18.—Terrific damage was done at Hongkong by a typhoon which raged for many hours, said a dispatch from that port today. The British naval station was reported damaged.

The Japanese crew of the Ginyo Maru aided in saving the lives of the crew of a British submarine that was wrecked.

Gallant attempts were made to save the crew of the steamer Mingsang.

A later dispatch said that all members of the British submarine were saved.

RELIGIOUS MEETING

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Delegates from every state in the union and two foreign countries gathered here for the opening today of the nine-day convention of the International Bible Students' Association. It was estimated that 5000 persons filled the Trinity Auditorium. The convention will end in the Exposition Coliseum, Sunday, August 28.

United States Will Not Take Part In European Affairs

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Premier Poincaire's latest effort to get President Coolidge to take a hand in the European reparations dispute by proposing to reduce French claims against Germany in accordance with possible reductions in the war debts which France owes the United States and Great Britain is certain to meet with failure, administration officials declared today.

Not only is the president determined to carry out the clear mandate of congress for the collection of every cent owed the United States by France and other nations, but he has embraced the policy of the Harding administration in holding that this government cannot and will not recognize any connection between the payment of these war debts and the amounts which may be collected from Germany under the Versailles treaty.

France Owes Big Sum

France now owes the United States approximately $4,000,000,000 and it is the intention of the administration to conclude an agreement with the French government providing for the payment of the entire amount, including the steady mounting interest.

It was made plain, therefore, that there was nothing in the latest French proposal to cause any change in the foreign policy of the administrtaion as outlined by Secretary of State Hughes in his note this week to the American ambassador in London.

Control of Chinese Railway Soviet Aim

PEKING, Aug. 18.—Messrs. Karkhan and Davtian, representatives in the Far East of the Soviet Government of Russia, today are bound for the cities of Harbin and Mukden, where negotiations will be started with Chang-Tso-Lin, military governor of Manchuria, of the question of control of the Chinese eastern railway.

Soviet Russia is strongly opposed to foreign control of this Chinese railroad and efforts are being made by the Bolsheviki commissars to secure some kind of guarantee from a responsible Chinese official that the line will not be surrendered to outside domination.

WARSHIPS RETURN TO HOME WATERS

Midshipmen Are Slated for Target Practice After European Cruise

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 18.—After arriving direct from Gibraltar during the night, the battleships Arkansas, Florida, North Dakota, Delaware and the supply ship Orian are at anchor at the naval operating base today. The first, second and third classes of midshipmen from the United States naval academy at Annapolis are aboard after their annual summer cruise in European waters.

After bunkering and taking on supplies at the base, the battleships will go to the target grounds off the Virginia capes next Tuesday, where there will begin a two day short range target practice. The work will be done entirely by the midshipmen. Shore leave will probably be granted the Annapolis men while in port.

The North Dakota, which formerly claimed Norfolk as her home, is included in the list of ships for de-commissioning under the Washington armament limitation treaty and it is probable that she will end her days as a target for bombs and naval guns, under the waters off the capes.

WEATHER FORECAST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The weather bureau today issued the following forecast for next week: Pacific states—Normal temperature and generally fair weather, but with a probability of occasional showers on the Washington coast.

COOLIDGE AS CANDIDATE GAINS IN STRENGTH

President Wins Support as Party Leaders Discuss 1924 Nominations

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Rumblings of an early outbreak of hostilities in the race for 1924 Republican nomination were heard throughout the capital today while friends of potential candidates prepared to launch early campaigns. Supporters of President Coolidge, by public endorsement of him for a second term have given their favorite a running start and other campaign managers are expected to start their candidates shortly. Calvin Coolidge stands alone in the field for the present. The names of a dozen potential candidates are mentioned by Republican leaders.

These include Senators Hiram Johnson of California; James E. Watson of Indiana; James W. Wadsworth of New York and Arthur Capper of Kansas, former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, General Leonard Wood, Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Political forecasts here predict booms will be launched for Johnson, Watson and Hoover within a few weeks.

Discuss Sudden 'Break'

While potential candidates are subjected to many rumors, the public generally is discussing the recent and totally unexpected "break" between Senator Johnson and Senator Moses of New Hampshire, when Senator Moses suddenly threw his support to President Coolidge.

It is reported here that Senator Moses or Senator Hale of Maine, will lead the Coolidge pre-convention campaign with assistance from Secretary of War Weeks. The Coolidge boom also has gained headway in the South since the appointment of C. B. Slemp, former Virginia Congressman, as Secretary to the president.

OPEN TEMPLE TO PUBLIC SUNDAY

Haddock & Nibley Co. Hosts To Visitors at Egyptian Building at Tract

The Egyptian Temple that is to be used as the administration offices at Rossmoyne, the old Judge Ross estate that is being developed by the Haddock-Nibley company, will be thrown open to the public tomorrow, and the people of Glendale will be welcomed by representatives of the firm all day and will be shown the wonders of this latest addition to the show places of Glendale.

The Temple is situated on North Verdugo road and forms one of the most striking structures in this region, and the work that has been done on it, under the direction of its designer, J. A. Schultz, 102 West California avenue, has reproduced in careful detail the glories of ancient Egypt and the lives and customs of the inhabitants of that country when it was the leader of the world's civilization.

Added interest in the Haddock-Nibley Egyptian Temple is given by the recent discoveries in the Valley of the Kings, where the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen has been opened and its treasures given to the scientific world, and the motif of the tomb of Egypt's long dead ruler has been followed in the decorations and the plans for the temple to which the people of Glendale are invited tomorrow.

THREE MEN KILLED

LONDON, Aug. 18—Lloyd's received a report today that the Cunard liner Vennonia, bound from New York to London was in distress as a result of the bursting of the main steam pipe. Later radiograms said three fishermen were killed by the explosion.

People From Other States Club Visitors

THAT Glendale possesses in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse a real show place, is seen by the records kept in the club guest book.

Guests are received every day at the clubhouse by Mrs. A. A. Barton, secretary-hostess, and the interesting fact is that they include both men and women from all parts of the United States and foreign countries.

Since August 7 the following have registered in the guest book: Mrs. T. W. Offenhauser, Texarkana, Ark.; Mrs. Estelle Fish, Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. W. B. Hebley, Denver, Ohio; Mrs. Theron Hayward, Redlands; Jennie K. Boomer, Winnetka, Ill.; May June Rogers, Chicago, Ill.; Violet E. Brightiff, England; Margaret Ferguson Sackett, Fort Collins, Colo.; James B. Alexander and Pearl Alexander, San Diego; C. M. Conkling, Palm Beach, Fla.; Pearl de Jarnette, Des Moines, Ia.

GOVERNOR OPENS FLOGGING PROBE

Oklahoma Executive Orders Attorney General to Make Investigation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 18.—Gov. J. C. Walton today extended his campaign against masked mobs and flogging parties by announcing he had investigated the beating July 4, of Harry C. Lewis, at Lawton, Okla., and of Rev. T. D. Irwin, celebrated "bathing pool" minister.

Lewis was found badly beaten. He told officers he was attacked by a man who demanded he surrender all current copies of a church magazine he published.

While declaring the whipping of Lewis was the outgrowth of political circumstances dating back to the days of the late Jake L. Hamon, Republican national committeeman, Governor Walton charged that "certain officials at Lawton have been indifferent to my requests for investigation and I have instructed Attorney General Short to look into it fully."

Assistant Cashier of Bank Kills Himself

SANTA ANA, Aug. 18.—Slumped against the side of the bed, the body of J. Howard Turner, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Santa Ana, was found on his ranch a few miles east of here today, where the banker had apparently committed suicide. A revolver found a few feet from the body, and a small hole through his temple confirmed this theory. The banker's wife declared her husband had complained of severe headaches for several days. At the bank where Turner worked it was stated his accounts were in perfect shape.

MOTOR CAR STALLS ON FLORENCE CROSSING

Man, Wife, Their Son and Neighbor Meet Death Result of Crash

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Four persons were instantly killed and a fifth perhaps fatally injured this morning when their motor car stalled on the Pacific Electric crossing at Florence avenue, in the south part of the city.

A work train filled with laborers being rushed to the harbor over the Long Beach line, rapidly bore down on the car with its occupants bound for the beach, giving them no time to escape, although the signal bell was ringing loudly and motorman had sounded the whistle.

An aged flagman looked on the death scene horror stricken as the following lives were taken as the first of a week-end toll of crashes:

W. L. Randolph, 7714 Whitsett avenue, Van Nuys.
Mrs. W. L. Randolph, his wife.
William Randolph, aged 5.
Frank Davis, a neighbor.

Floyd Randolph, an 18-year-old son, was injured and doctors express fear that he may have suffered internally.

According to witnesses, Randolph drove up to the intersection just as the bell began ringing its signal of an approaching electric train. In setting his brakes, the motor was killed and the watchman and pedestrians were aghast to see the white-flagged "special" never slackening as it approached the busy corner, until an accident was inevitable.

Screaming brakes on the cars brought the train to a sudden halt, about sixty feet from the corner, the human litter being tossed out of the way. The workmen who were thrown from their seats rushed to the aid of the stricken party, but only one had been saved from death.

The Randolphs are said to have come here recently from Portland, Ore. The bodies of the four persons were strewn along the right-of-way for forty yards. Floyd Randolph, the only passenger in the car not killed, but whom physicians say may die, was thrown clear first. An instant later, his little brother, mangled, torn and dead, was hurled from the automobile which was reduced to a mass of twisted steel and wood. Then, before the electric car could be stopped, the

Mrs. Molla Mallory, Seven Times Title Holder, Loses Finals To Helen Wills

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Sports Editor

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Helen Wills, 17-year-old product of Berkeley, California, justly earned the highest honor within the gift of American tennis this afternoon by defeating Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven times champion, in the final round of the championship singles. The sub-deb, playing as she never did before, completely smothered the old champion and made her victory secure in precisely thirty-two minutes by the watch, winning in straight sets, 6-2 and 6-1.

As far as Molla's play on American courts is concerned, she is the hardest woman to beat in the world. Her game lacks many little niceties that gladden the eye of the expert, but she gets the points and wins the games. Her idea of tennis is to hit the ball across the net into the court and defy her opponent to do likewise. One year ago, almost to the day, Helen Wills faced the opponent that is before her this afternoon. She failed. But Helen today is a vastly improved player.

The victory was a clamorous one, the 5000 spectators in the stand, forgetting sectional prejudice in its tribute to the new champion, so tender in years, but so mature in judgment, poise, speed and the certain knowledge that she alone deserved to be ranked as the highest in the land. The shout that went up lasted several minutes, and was in contrast to the deep silence that prevailed while the match was on.

Molla, graceful in her defeat, was the first to congratulate the new champion, reaching far across the net to clutch the child's capable hand, and then thinking better of this, took her in her arms and kissed her. Mrs. George W. Wightman and others of the sex repeated this maneuver but all the stands could do was to say it with vocal chords. They kept on doing this without interruption as Louis Caruthers, president of the West Side Lawn Tennis Association, tendered the championship trophy to its proud little owner.

Then Miss Wills, a blush creeping over her cheeks, her eyes cast down, left the courts and the echoes were still ringing in her ears when she disappeared finally from view.

As for the match itself, it was completely dominated by the child wonder. She allowed Mrs. Mallory only thirty-two points in both sets, and incidentally gained the enviable distinction of being the first American woman to win from Molla in straight sets, since 1919, when Mrs. Marion Zinderstein accomplished this feat. Expert opinion said Mrs. Mallory would win today, but they reckoned without a Helen Wills such as the American courts have never known. Her accuracy was phenomenal, her pace terrific, her tactics unimpeachable, her judgment above reproach.

All of her strokes had that pre-

Horse Shoe Club Offers Outlet For Energies Of Congenial Group Of Men

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

THE Glendale Horse Shoe club, from a small beginning in 1911, when J. D. Porter gathered a few congenial friends in the alley back of his house at 108 North Central avenue, has grown with that same spirit of co-operation and communal feeling enjoyed by this city, until today it numbers a membership of 200, with a roll that is ever expanding.

Coming to Glendale from Illinois where the art of ringing the shoe had long flourished, Mr. Porter found among his assets of 1911 a set of equestrian footwear that had done pitching duty back in his native state. He next found a group of kindred spirits. The result was the Glendale Horse Shoe club.

The little group soon moved from Mr. Porter's alley to the then vacant lot at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway, where the Security Trust & Savings bank is now located. There they fully organized for the first time, J. D. Porter as president, Ed Lee as secretary-treasurer, and Tom Hutchinso, H. T. Anderson, G. L. Head, J. E. Pettit, A. W. Jenkins, George T. Paine, S. E. Blatchley, Jess McClellan, M. P. Harrison, George E. Krinbill (now secretary of the Long Beach Horse Shoe club), and others, as members.

Club Keeps Moving

In 1912 the club was forced to move, taking a location on South Maryland avenue. Again, in 1920, they moved, coming to the corner of Orange street and Broadway, where a croquet court was added. But the progress of Glendale was such that once more, in just about a year, it was necessary to move, the present quarters on West Broadway between Orange street and Central avenue being selected.

There croquet courts were put in, together with horse shoe grounds, and the name of the or-

Couple Wedded 55 Years Surprised By Friends On Anniversary Of Marriage

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT HORN of 421 West Broadway, were pleasantly reminded that they were married fifty-five years ago Thursday, when a group of their friends at the Pacific avenue Methodist church surprised them by arriving at their home for an informal social evening.

Albert Horn was born August 12, 1846, in Germany, and when he was 9 years old his family came to America and settled in New York.

They made their home in the city of Tonawanda, and there Mr. Horn was married fifty-five years ago to Frederica Klepser, three years his junior. She was born in Tonawanda, July 10, 1849.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn had seven children, two of whom are living, Mrs. J. G. Smith of 421 West Broadway, Glendale, and Mrs. Frank Marley of Attica, N. Y. They have seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Join Church Here

They came to Glendale two years ago, and have been active members of the Pacific Avenue Methodist congregation. Mr. Horn is a devoted Bible student and has engaged in preaching.

A feature of the annviersary celebration Thursday night was an informal marriage service performed by Rev. H. C. Mullen, pastor of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Horn were the recipients of many beautiful flowers and messages.

Mr. Horn has three brothers in California, H. J. Horn of 221 North Louise street, father of Councilman W. A. Horn; H. W. Horn of Los Angeles, and Adam Horn of San Luis Obispo.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn both enjoy good health and only last year they took a long trip east to visit relatives and old friends.

Miss Helen Poole of 1224 East Windsor road is entertaining for the week-end Miss Elizabeth Pratt of St. Louis. Miss Pratt and Miss Poole were fellow students at Northwestern university, Chicago. Miss Pratt is a supervisor of music in the St. Louis schools.

Miss Margie Overton of North Orange street returned Wednesday night of this week from Berkeley, where she attended summer school at the University of California. While in the northern city Miss Overton was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clapp.

Mrs. J. V. Rowles of Topeka, Kansas, who is enjoying a summer on the coast, is a guest this week of Mrs. John W. Sharpe of 109 West Lomita avenue. Mrs. Rowles will leave early in September for San Francisco and Eureka.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston of 111 North Everett street, entertained recently Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Wigell and daughter of Rockford, Ill. At the present time the Wigells are located at Pasadena. They are delighted with Glendale and it is quite possible they will make their permanent home here.

Mrs. Georgia K. Waggoner of 526 South Central avenue returned Thursday from an extended outing, having visited San Francisco, Lake Tahoe in the north and Catalina in the south. She was accompanied by Miss Ann Morgan, of Verdugo Woodlands. Earlier in the summer Mrs. Waggoner spent some weeks on location at Guadalupe where the "Ten Commandments" was being filmed and found the work very interesting.

Annual Outing

A gay caravan of automobiles in semi-military array, left the city yesterday morning when the Glendale Girl Scouts, Troop 1, left for Santa Paula for their annual summer camping trip. The party, costumed in khaki for hiking, and carrying full camp equipment, left from the junction of West Colorado street and San Fernando road at 7 o'clock. The troop flag and banner waved from the car of F. A. Beach, who took the lead.

It was through the courtesy of Mrs. A. S. Chase, F. A. Beach, L. E. Hill, R. D. White and L. A. Hart that the seventy-mile drive was made by motor, and tents were pitched, and camp in order when the visitors left in the late afternoon for the homeward trip.

Members of the troop now in camp are Cecil Chase, Mary Jo Phillips, Alexandria Bagley, Frederica Browne, Marjorie Hart, Lucile Beach, Marjorie Temple, Wilma Gosser, Alice Carpenter, Lucile Harris, Katherine Bender, Beryl Goodale, Evelyn Traver. They will be joined today by Carolyn Ayars, who will motor up accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Frank C. Ayars; Charlotte Cleveland will join the camp Sunday, and on Tuesday, the last recruits, Vivian Nay and Mary Stanley, troop lieutenant, will arrive. They are accompanied by the troop captain, Miss Gladys Sharpe.

Hosts at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Magner of 630 North Isabel street, were host and hostess at a delightful affair recently, when they entertained a number of Los Angeles friends with a dinner party at the Oak Tree Inn.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Webb, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Eby, Miss Esther Eby and Miss Mildred Eby, Mr. and Mrs D. E. Koone and daughter Barbara Jane, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Richer, John Richer and Miss Betty Richer, all of Los Angeles and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Magner.

Mr. and Mrs. Magner are new arrivals in Glendale, having recently come from Los Angeles to make their home here. They expect to build a new home in the very near future.

Vacation Trip

Miss Grace Crampton of 325 West Burchett street has a delightful vacation trip in anticipation. She is to leave Glendale on Monday and will spend the remainder of the month of August, September and October in travel.

Going north she will visit San Francisco, Portland and Seattle, and from there her itinerary will include Victoria, Vancouver, Lake Louise, Banff, the great lakes, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Albany, the Hudson river, New York, Chicago, Kansas City and Dallas, Texas.

Most of the trip will be by rail, the boat travel including the trip from Victoria to Vancouver, the trip across the great lakes and the trip down the Hudson.

En Route Home

Glendale pupils and other friends of Miss Hazel Linkogel of 560 Riverdale drive, talented violinist, will be glad to learn that she is anticipating returning home and will arrive in Glendale the last week in August. Miss Linkogel was in Chicago early in the summer for special violin study.

Recently she has been a guest of her sister, Mrs. Gossrau, in Galveston, Tex.

Upon her arrival she and her sister, Mrs. Pearl G. Curran, also of 560 Riverdale drive, will go to Coronado for a short visit.

Miss Linkogel will resume her violin teaching and study the second week in September.

All Day Meeting

An all-day picnic meeting with Mrs. Edith S. Dockeray of 723 South Louise street is being anticipated by W. C. T. U. members for Friday, August 31.

Plans for this event were made yesterday at the meeting with Mrs. C. W. Spickerman at her home at 133 North Kenwood street.

Mrs. Spickerman proved to be a most gracious hostess and a large company of women enjoyed the afternoon in her delightful home.

Mrs. Ruby J. Smart was in charge of a short business meeting, Mrs. C. W. Bacon conducted the study of "Christian Citizenship" and Mrs. Marie Yeoman directed the parliamentary study and drill.

Enjoyable Week

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue, one of Glendale's best known old couples, have had many pleasures during the past week.

On Tuesday they spent the day at the C. J. Lowe home at 404 West California avenue.

Then on Thursday they entertained as guests at their home on East Wilson avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith of Stockport, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanis Taylor of Pomona.

Smith Hoag of Pasadena was a guest Friday at the Norton home. Mr. Hoag was a member of Rev. Norton's congregation in Thornburg, Iowa.

Summer Picnic

Members of the XVI club enjoyed a mid-summer outing at Echo park Friday afternoon. A number of the members are out of town on their vacations but the following were on hand to enjoy the picnic supper, Miss Alice McCoy, Miss Leta McCoy, Miss Lillian Shropshire, Miss Helen Tupper of Glendale, Miss Clara Glenn of Burbank, Mrs. Dolly Grattis, Alhambra, and Miss Gertrude Rock and Miss Ethel Connor of Los Angeles.

Journey to Beach

Mrs. S. A. Koontz of 470 West Vine street entertained members of the Navajo Needlework Club Thursday with a motor trip to Santa Monica and a beach lunch.

The party motored to the beach in the morning, and after lunch they spent the afternoon sewing.

There were Mesdames J. C. Waite, M. C. Fuller, J. D. Root, L. O. Carlisle, E. O. Carlisle, E. Bruce, S. A. Koontz and Miss Emily Collins.

Informal Luncheon

Complimenting Mrs. J. L. Chapman and Miss Edith Chapman of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. J. C. Crampton gave an informal luncheon Thursday at her home at 325 West Burchett street.

She was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Miss Grace Crampton, and the other guests were Mesdames R. P. Isitt, R. S. Iisitt and Miss Elvira Porter.

DEATHS---FUNERALS

WALLACE WATSON CLARK

Wallace Watson Clark, Civil war veteran, died this morning, Saturday, August 18, 1923, at the home of his son, Oliver O. Clark, at 346 North Louise street.

Mr. Clark, who was 73 years of age at the time of his death, was born in Ohio. During the Civil war he served with the Fifth Ohio Cavalry.

He came to California twenty-five years ago and settled in Los Angeles, where he made his home until a month ago, when he came to the Oliver O. Clark home in Glendale..

Mr. Clark is survived by four sons, Fred W., Frank W. and Orville L. Clark, of Los Angeles, and Oliver Clark, Glendale attorney.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park, where burial will be made.

The L. G. Scovern Undertaking company is in charge.

EBEN W. HENRY

Eben W. Henry passed away this morning, August 18, 1923, in Los Angeles after an illness of long duration.

The deceased was a former resident of Glendale, having lived here with his family for twelve years. He was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city and took an active part in all church work.

He leaves to mourn him, his wife, Mrs. Abbie F. Henry, one son, George Henry and two daughters, Mrs. May Whitten, and Mrs. Marion Webb and one grandson, Wallace Webb, all of Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Little Church of the Flowers on Monday afternoon August 20, at 2 o'clock with interment at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Bede A. Johnson of Los Angeles, is the undertaker in charge. Mr. Johnson is a former Glendalian, having been pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church a few years ago.

MRS. CELIA VAN DANIKER

Mrs. Celia Van Daniker died Wednesday, August 15, 1923, at a local hospital, at the age of 73 years.

She was a native of Sweden, and is survived by a son, James B. Van Daniker of Los Angeles.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the L. G. Scovern chapel on South Brand boulevard, and burial made in Grand Wiew Memorial park.

Women's Parliamentary Law Club May Become Unit Of District And State Bodies

TENTATIVE plans for organizing permanently and becoming a unit of the Los Angeles District and California State Federations of Women's clubs, were seriously considered at the regular meeting yesterday morning of the Women's Parliamentary Law club at the Public Library.

The club was organized early in the summer merely as a vacation activity, but the interest of those participating and the increasing membership indicate that there is a place in Glendale club life for a permanent organization of that kind.

Consideration of possible permanent organization resulted in the appointment of a committee to investigate the feasibility of such action and to report at the next club meeting.

Names Committee

Mrs. Mary Reese, who served as chairman at the meeting yesterday, appointed as members of the committee on permanent club organization, Mesdames Harry Greenwalt, C. H. Whitney, A. H. Brown, Angier and O. H. Spradeling.

The conduct of the club meeting is of unusual interest and helpfulness. Mrs. Whitney, club president, originated the idea of asking various club members to preside at the club meeting, so this plan is always used and the various Parent-Teacher association presidents and heads of other organizations, receive training in directing meetings. Mrs. Reese was chosen yesterday as presiding officer.

Later Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, instructor, became chairman of the gathering, directing study and drill in parliamentary law.

Miss Sinks Speaks

A feature of the meeting was a talk by Katherine Virginia Sinks, club editor of the Glendale Evening News on "The Newspaper and the People." Miss Sinks gave an informal, direct talk on the relations between the newspaper and the people. She said in part:

"From the time the first caveman editor scratched the daily news on a hard sheet of rock with a sharp stone, the newspaper has been a necessary luxury in every home, no matter how humble.

"Down through the ages people have believed themselves at the mercy of the newspaper, and if they are it is their own fault.

"There is an art in knowing how to deal with the newspaper, no matter how slight the matter, and this art is of vital importance to every man and woman who is connected with any civic, religious or club organization.

Helps Organization

"It is to the advantage of an organization to have satisfactory press notices, and these are possible only by having live, efficient, approachable press chairmen and president. Publicity can either make or ruin an organization.

"Reports of all kinds given to a newspaper should include detailed and accurate answers to the simple questions: who, what, when and where? It's a simple rule, but if always closely followed by a press chairman, or any one else dealing with the editorial department of a newspaper, will result in satisfaction for both the newspaper and the people concerned."

Miss Sinks eleborated on press reports and placed special emphasis on the satisfaction resulting from the exchange of courtesy between newspaper reporters and people.

Associated C. of C. Dinner Tuesday Night

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley will meet for dinner 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night, August 21, at the Sunset Canyon Country club, when matters of vital importance to each of the fourteen communities represented in the organization will be discussed, according to Leo B. Lesperance, secretary.

Burbank has engaged a speaker of note to address the gathering. The club may be reached by turning east on San Fernando road at Olive avenue and proceeding until the club gates are reached.

Following is the list of members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley; Burbank, Chatsworth, Girard, Glendale, Lankershim, Mission Acres, Montrose, Owensmouth, Pacoima, San Fernando, Tujunga, Van Nuys, Zelzah, Reseda.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Mixed faces," featuring William Russell, supported by Renee Adoree, is the feature at the Glendale theatre today, a story of small town politics, directed by Rowland V. Lee.

In addition, there are five acts of standard vaudeville from the Bert Levey Coast-to-Coast circuit, plus comedy, dancing, music and novelty numbers.

Starting Sunday, "The Village poem, comes to the Glendale theatre for a three-day run. This great classic should have an appeal to every member of the family. It is finely made throughout, and is to be numbered among the best pictures of the year.

Schools, Children, Climate
Glendale's Future And Past
Oil Like Mess Of Pottage
Home Is Sometimes Barren

By Gil A. Cowan

THE vacation season in Southern California is fast coming to a close. While a great number have been away during August, the last of the month will find them returning home in order to have the children in school.

Which brings up the subject of schools, and at almost every turn we find schools and more schools to keep up with the younger generation, which seems to increase abundantly in this salubrious clime.

And, speaking of children and climate, there is nothing else but —although we might mention the mountains and the seashore and the metropolitan attractions.

"Gosh, what ain't California got?" as a visitor here once remarked.

For one thing, California hasn't even begun to develop, although we talk about it in fantastic phrases. No, siree. California has just begun to begin to do things.

It is to smile at Alhambra, a city of 20,000 now, which says it has room for 87,000. The writer expects to live to see the day when 100,000 are piled up in Alhambra, even though they have to have a few cemeteries there to lay them under the sod.

As for Glendale, it is a city of destiny, just like Los Angeles and Pasadena and San Diego, and a lot of others. Glendale is going to be one of the greatest suburbs of the greatest metropolis the world has ever known. Indeed, Glendale is going to be wedged into the greater city as the apartment and hotel center of Los Angeles.

This is as logical as cube root or any of the rest of the mathematical propositions of which we know little. For Glendale is the most accessible place in which to live outside of Los Angeles, and a lot more accessible to offices and stores than a large part of the big burg.

Remember that, folks, when you are buying property. Apartments, flats, hotels and the like are going to eventually make Glendale look like San Francisco, insofar as structures are concerned.

So much for Glendale's future. Now something about its history, as we have been perusing J. C. Sherer's story of the community.

Improvement societies have always played a large part in the development here, he comments, and it is good to note that 1923 is no different from 1893 in having civic spirit and home town loyalty evidenced in organization.

The newspaper also played a big part in keeping the citizens informed, according to Mr. Sherer, who was for years the editor of The Glendale News. The Glendale Evening News is right on the job, telling the world of the wonders of the fastest growing city in America.

The prosperity of the community has always been noticeable. Glendale was never a boom town, according to history. But it has never suffered for lack of boom. Its phenomenal growth is proof that real values in property exist here. Of course, some cannot see it, never did, and there are none so blind as those who cannot see.

Long Beach today is in its heyday. Another municipal oil well makes the citizens of the harbor city feel like plutocrats. Without animosity, however, we might suggest that the farsighted ones look at Tulsa, Ok., with its empty office buildings; or see Bakersfield with its drear days following the Midway and Kern river oil booms; Taft, also, is "not what she used to be," while Coalinga is very dull these days.

Oil is the greatest little "boomer" we know of. Here to day and somewhere else tomorrow. It takes the crowd along. The easy money boys, the shell game artists, the whole gang of 'em, pack up their tents and flit when a field finally settles down to a daily production which is an ever-decreasing source of revenue.

It is so different in a city of homes, a suburb where industry and occupations thrive year in and year out. Even Kansas City, with its stock yards, is far better off than Long Beach with its oil fields, which are apt to commercialize the beach, smear it with oil, and introduce an undesirable element among the residents.

Give us Glendale as it grows greater day by day. We fail to envy the neighbor city's bride. Black gold is the mess of pottage, as it were.

If you are warm and weary, and seek solace, try a little prescription tomorrow which cannot be obtained at the drug stores. Attend church and hear one of the many Glendale pastors preach on the good things in life. We hope that none do otherwise.

And after dinner get out in your car and commune with nature in some shady nook where the birds and the bees and the whispering trees sing paeans of peace and good will. For home with all its blessings sometimes becomes barren except for restrospection.

Get out and get acquainted with other things besides those which you see six days a week.

BAIL SET AT $300

Arthur Wareham, Los Angeles motorist who was arrested here Thursday night for careening around Salem street while, it is alleged, he was under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was released last night from the city jail on $300 bail. He will be tried August 21 at 10 a. m. by Police Judge F. H. Lowe.

Smuggled Chinaman Runs When U. S. Marshal Halts Old-Time Peddler's Wagon

By OLD TIMER

SOON after coming to Glendale an incident occurred up on Glendale avenue which forever shattered a long cherished dream, in which an almond-eyed individual, with pig tail hanging down his back, would creep around with soft shod feet and the household tasks, as it were, would do themselves, so invisible and unobtrusive were the Celestials from across the sea. The very name implied heaven and peace in the dreams which pictured California the culmination of all earthly joys, the realization of the "All Desired."

The incident showed that the antagonism developed by the encroachment of the Oriental had resulted in legislation which, if enforced, would limit the immigration and that never in the future would Chinese labor be available as in the past. The yellow peril was a real menace and must be curbed.

To the mid-westerner, accustomed, "when winter comes," to have cellars overflowing with the harvest of garden and orchard, great bins of apples and potatoes and of the rutabagas of which "The Scribe of the Verdugos" writes so feelingly, it was amazing to find one's relatives living from Chinaman to Chinaman, if not literally from hand to mouth.

Vegetable Peddlers

At that time no markets with their wide-open doors tempted with earth's choicest fruits, no highway with its wayside shrine—I mean market—but up and down the city streets and out into the village lanes, and even in the orchard districts, the solemn-faced Oriental supplied the housewife with the fruits and vegetables for the family table.

The newcomers ceased to marvel when the fresh vegetable or salad for lunch was secured from one itinerant, and if the dinner menu was not in mind at that time, later in the afternoon, material for the evening meal was secured from another of the slant-eyed brethren. Few hours of the day passed without the one-horse wagon with its high seat and protecting top being in sight.

It was a habit easily formed and the newcomers soon adapted themselves to buying peas and potatoes by the pound as well as wood by the sack, and the words, cord of wood, bushel of potatoes or peck of apples, were forgotten.

So, when a Chinaman came in sight on Glendale avenue, with a companion on the seat beside him, as a matter of course the peas were weighed and the bunch of turnips acquired, and the dinner to be was deposited in the corner of the office—a little frame building on the east side of the avenue, next to the old livery barn which is still a landmark. Suddenly there was a sound of shouting in some queer, outlandish tongue, a sound of pattering feet and a cry of "stop" in English, followed by several shots from a revolver.

Chinaman Surrenders

The fear of being shot did not deter a curious rush to the door, only to see a white-faced Chinaman fleeing and a short, dark man in pursuit, firing at intervals in the air. The Chinaman ran around Third (Wilson) and turned south on Everett street, passing a group of children too frightened to run. Midway in the block he evidently became convinced that his pursuer meant business and surrendered, especially as his way was blocked in front by several citizens.

Returning to the wagon with his prisoner, the man, who proved to be a United States marshal, ordered the driver to come along, answering the remonstrance of a kindly disposed feminine customer with the information that he was a United States marshal in the performance of his duty.

The visiting Chinese was contraband and had been smuggled up through Mexico and was being harbored by his countrymen down on the Hunter ranch near the river. The driver of the wagon was arrested for harboring the fugitive and also for calling out the warning which made the contraband attempt to escape.

The patient horse and wagon of fresh vegetables were left standing on the street and Uncle Billy Patterson unlocked the empty livery barn and led the horse in to await some one from the Hunter ranch.

Upon investigation the driver was also found minus the necessary papers and both Chinamen were deported.

Two cousins were the next drivers of the vegetable wagon, Ham Suey and Ham Charlie by name, but that is another story.

ATHLETIC CLUB TO STAGE DANCE

Second of Summer Series to Be Held Tonight at Odd Fellows' Hall

The second of a series of summer dances given by the Glendale Athletic Club will be given tonight in the Odd Fellows' hall, corner Broadway and Orange streets. William Morgan, who is in charge of the affair, is confident that it will be even more successful than the initial ball, which was one of the largest attended social functions of its kind ever staged in Glendale.

The well known "King Tut" orchestra, composed entirely of local jazz artists, will "strut their stuff" to add to the enjoyment of the merrymaker. The music will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Charles P. Brice, Jr., president of the club, announces that the funds from the dances are to go toward outfitting a representative Glendale basketball team during the coming winter months.

JEWETT HAS NEW MODEL ROADSTER

Latest Equipment Is Added To Paige-Detroit Co.'s Latest Special

The Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company this week announces a Jewett Special roadster on the new Jewett Six chassis, according to word received by Ralph B. Bliss, 308 East Colorado, local distributor.

The Special roadster has a full three-passenger seat, yet has all of the "snap and zip" seen in the fleet Paige models, says Mr. Bliss. Its finish is the same as the present Jewett Special touring car. Japanese double deep blue trimmed in nickel, he says.

Its equipment makes of it one of the best models in the Jewett line, claims Mr. Bliss. In this equipment are the usual seats with Marshall type springs, covered with hand crushed Spanish leather; one extra cord tire mounted on rear; combination tail and automatic stop-light; double spring bar bumpers, front and rear; motometer; drum sidelights on cowl; sun visor and automatic windshield wiper.

"Besides offering one of the snappiest bodies," says Mr. Bliss, 'the roadster has a commodious compartment in the rear capable of holding a sample trunk and two suitcases. Taken all in all this light, beautifully trimmed body brings out the best that there is in the new Jewett chassis."

AFRICAN POPULATION

The population of the Union of South Africa has been estimated at 7,000,000, of whom only about 1,000,000 are white persons.

The remarkable range of ten octaves has been accomplished by Michael Prita, of Vienna.

DECLARES DRUGS NATIONAL PERIL

Former Attorney General of Montana Speaker at Kiwanis Club

General James Donavan, former attorney general of the state of Montana, who was the principal speaker at yesterday's noon luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis club, held in the ballroom of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, spoke as a representative of the American Narcotic crusade, telling the members that since prohibition has been in effect the use of drugs has increased to the point where it has become a national peril.

"If I thought the ban on liquor had produced this tremendous increase in drug addiction," said General Donavan, "I would favor the repeal of the Volstead act."

This was the most radical statement in the speaker's conservative thoughtful address which was delivered with a view to arousing the people to the necessity for action to curb the flood of narcotics now sweeping over America, with its sickening backwash of broken, pitiable human wrecks.

On Kiwanian Spirit

D. H. Webb, secretary of the club, who introduced the speaker, had arranged to have Judge Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue for the Los Angeles district, address the gathering, but Mr. Goodcell was unable to be present.

A. L. Ferguson, who presided over the meeting, then presented F. J. Sackett, former president of the Fort Collins Kiwanis Club, a bacteriological expert stationed at the Fort Collins Kiwanis club, a fan spirit and told of how the Fort Collins club was working on the problem of the under-privileged child.

Ernest E. Harrington of Glendale, who has recently returned from a visit east, told of the wonderful spirit manifest in his old club at Davenport, Iowa, where the Kiwanians are very strong.

Win With Wires

He mentioned the fact that they won the record last year for the largest attendance of any club in the country, and told how they did it by sending a telegram to each absent member each week, calling his attention to the fact that he should attend the luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of that city, and telling him where and when it met.

Attendance prize at yesterday's Kiwanis Club luncheon in Glendale was won by H. W. Wilson, the prize being a case of Green Hill ginger ale, given by Sid Brown. Burton McGinnis won a cleaning order on Goode & Belew, and Frank Pilling won a pound of coffee donated by Bert Perry through the Harry Mac Bain grocery.

OPEN 14TH UNIT OF SUBDIVISION

Hamlin & Hepburn Launch Sale of Fairview Property On Alameda Avenue

Announcement is made by Hamlin & Hepburn, 203 West Broadway, of the opening of the 14th Unit of their popular Burbank subdivision, Fairview, located between Fourth street (Pacific Electric tracks) and Glenwood road, and between Valencia and Elmwood streets, one block west of Alameda street.

"This property is close to the new Providencia school," says E. D. Hamlin, who makes the announcement, "and is only one block from the Moreland factory on San Fernando road. It is level as a floor, commands a beautiful view of the valley and is sold on the same easy terms as our other Fairview units have gone—lots $900 up, $50 down and $15 per month.

"The present offering adjoins the 10th Unit, on which many nice houses are now erected. Although we have not advertised this until now, seventeen lots have already been sold."

The 14th Unit of Fairview may be reached by driving out San Fernando road to Alameda street at the Moreland factory, then north to the tract office, which is on the west side of Alameda street, half way between Fourth street and Glenwood road.

It is announced that the tract office will be open all day Sunday.

Red Cross in Plea For Comfort Bags

The Christmas spirit is already becoming evident in Glendale, for in an announcement from Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of local Red Cross activities, a plea is made for comfort bags for Christmas presents for United States soldiers, sailors and marines.

In a communication received from the Pacific division headquarters, Mrs. Bartlett is informed that the national Red Cross is planning to send these bags at Christmas time to the 38,225 U. S. service men in the island possessions. The Pacific coast Red Cross has been assigned the Hawaiian group, where 7703 soldiers, sailors and marines are located.

Directions for the bags call for any bright, durable material, colored cretonne being popular. The bags are to be 10 by 10 inches finished, with double draw strings, and filled with handkerchiefs, wash cloths, cards, pencils and other useful articles.

The Glendale consignment must be completed and ready for sending by the end of the first week in September, and any Glendalians desiring further information should call Mrs. Bartlett at Glendale 56-J.

TUJUNGA

Chamber Of Commerce At Tujunga Holds Meeting To Plan Street Improvements

As a result of the interest aroused over the street improvement question the regular monthly meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce in Legion hall was marked by a record attendance and the enrollment of nearly thirty new members.

The principal business of the meeting was the improvement program to be worked out and recommended to the supervisors, with the improvement of transportation facilities as outlined and planned by the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company running second.

All sections of the community were well represented and some spirited and emphatic opinions were expressed as to what streets should be first improved. A strong delegation turned out in support of El Centro street and Monte Vista boulevard also had many supporters.

Urges Improvement

Several older residents urged the improvement of El Centro street on the ground that it runs past the school, the Community church, the post office, Legion hall and a grocery store, which reason is opposed by some as purely sentimental, to say nothing of irrelevant, immaterial, etc.

As a counter argument to this one, a group of Monte Vista Boulevard supporters advance the urgent necessity of grading and oiling this street on account of its being a natural connection for the new road into Big Tujunga Canyon, that is now being surveyed, and the State highway, at a point that would segregate canyon traffic from through traffic before it entered the main business section of town, diverting it by way of the natural contour of the country and eliminating an appreciable percentage of the Sunday and holiday congestion on Michigan avenue at the point where congestion is least desirable. Monte Vista is the only street that follows the natural contour of the hills from a point east of town at the highway to the hills north of town, running through part of the residence section and crossing the main business street.

Strong Delegations

Supporters of the "Improve Monte Vista Boulevard" campaign claim that more traffic flows over this street than El Centro. This, of course, is denied by supporters and property owners of the latter section.

George Slusher, the first storekeeper Tujunga had, and Dr. C. C. Buck headed the El Centro boosters. Harry Zachou had an equally strong delegation to bat for Monte Vista. He travels Tujunga streets as much or more probably than any other, with the possible exception of the inevitable milk man and should be capable of offering some words of wisdom on the subject.

The subject was one everyone was interested in and not only the new members turned out but many old timers, who have been content for some time to let Sam do it or whoever happened to get to the meetings, turned to with a will and some right smart arguments were tossed about.

It began to develop into one of those endless chain things when a motion was made by E. C. Carlson to refer the matter to a special committee, but only after accepting an amendment by George Slusher, erstwhile absentee, to the effect that the committee be under no obligations to include the unfinished position of last year's program in its recommendation.

Confer With Supervisors

Chairs were again occupied and the discussion of other business was resumed. Ed Foster and E. C. Carlson, standing road committee, were instructed to confer with the supervisors and ascertain what recommendation the county surveyors make with regard to the connection of the Big Tujunga Canyon road with the streets of Tujunga.

Other questions came up for discussion, including the establishment of direct mail service with Glendale, the present arrangement being extremely inconvenient and productive of delays. At present mail for Glendale from valley points has to go through the Los Angeles office and then back to Glendale, taking at least two days and in many instances several more to send mail a distance of ten miles.

Assistant Postmaster Hallett of Glendale stated recently that a direct service arangement could be effected by sending a signed petition to the postal authorities, asking for the change. This is a question that affects the whole valley and should be energetically pursued to its logical conclusion.

G. L. Aiken's home on Greeley street was the scene of a joint meeting of Post 250 of the American Legion and the Auxiliary Thursday evening. An initiation of new members was conducted by the auxiliary and eight ladies were added to the roster.

Plan Moon Festival

The plans for the coming Moon Festival on August 31 to September 3 were discussed and further completed. New features of this year's festival will be announced later.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold an old time social at the home of Mrs. Alma F. Wieman on the corner of El Centro and Pine streets this evening. Clothing must be worn backward and everything undertaken by those attending must be said and done as backward as possible. The violators of this rule will be fined.

M. F. Gilmer, who was elected by the Men's Brotherhood of the Tujunga Community church to head a second troop of Boy Scouts, cannot be spared from his present duties as an officer of the organization, according to District Scout Executive Benner. The Brotherhood will select another man to fill the place at an early date.

Bishop to Confirm

Bishop Cantwell of Los Angeles will confirm a class of twenty-five children and adults Sunday at 5 p. m. at the Tujunga Catholic chapel, Church of Our Lady of Lourdes. The bishop's sermon preceding this will be on the confirmation. Mrs. Foster will be hostess to the visiting clergy at a supper at her home in the evening.

Plans for the new building to house the exchange and offices of the Sunland Rural Telephone Company at Palm and Los Angeles streets, Tujunga have been prepared by Jeffries and Jeffries, architects and builders, and the board of directors will pass upon them soon.

Mr. Adams, president of the company, asks subscribers to and users of the telephones not to use the old Los Angeles directory after today, August 18, on account of the many changes made. The new directories will be distributed in a few days.

LA CRESCENTA

MUSICIANS GIVE RADIO PROGRAM

La Crescenta Artists Heard In Varied Selections by Big Audience

Miss Margaret Hauber, pianist and lyric soprano, and Mrs. Allen, violinist, both of La Crescenta, gave a matinee program over the radio.

Mrs. Allen delighted her hearers with the following numbers: "Berceuse," from "Jocelyn," and "To An Alpine Maid," by Ole Bull. Playing with her usual skill and technique, she charmed her audience, as always.

Miss Hauber's vocal numbers were "Ave Maria," by Bach, Gounod, with violin obligato; "When Song Is Sweet," by Sousi; "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lierence, and "The nightingale's Song,' by Zulu.

The piano numbers played by the local favorite were Chopin numbers, and "Romance," by Sibelius, the latter number by request.

Miss Hauber was accompanied by Anna MacBell Vicers, and Carrie Preston Rietmeister, artist program director.

Mrs. Viola Waddle has returned from a most successful auto trip through Yellowstone park, Shasta and other northern points of interest. While in the vicinity of Mt. Lassen she had the pleasure (?) of seeing this volcano in action. Though Mrs. Waddle and her son, Elliot, enjoyed every part of the trip, they are quite delighted to be home again. Also report the roads are crowded with tourists on their way to our "Land of Golden Sunshine."

Picnic in Canyon

Miss Ruth Leary entertained the Aeolian Music club, which is composed of the most advanced pupils of Miss Hauber's classes. The club motored to the Bissell canyon, where the hostess had prepared a delightful weiner roast picnic supper. After enjoying the spread the young people gathered around the camp fire, singing the old favorites and many of the present day popular songs. Later in the evening a more formal program was given by the club members, including vocal and instrumental numbers.

Those present were Misses Henrietta Biescar, Elizabeth and Grace Morrison, Zella Dunlop, Marion Kieth and Ruth Leary (hostess), and Miss Margaret Hauber, teacher of music; Robert Keko, Waltz Young, Arthur Crowell and Frank Carter.

On Tuesday, next, Miss Hauber will entertain the Aeolian club in honor of the Misses Elizabeth and Grace Morrison, two of her pupils, who will leave shortly for El Paso, Tex.

Members of the Willing Workers club of the community church were entertained last evening by Jack Brown at the home of his parents on West Montrose avenue. Those present were Misses Edith Busch, Marion Kieth, Grace Jones and Beatrice Valker; Messrs Kelso, Arthur Crowell and the host, Jack Brown.

Music and games were enjoyed during the evening, and cake and ice cream provided the refreshments.

TAX RATE HEARING

A public hearing is set for Tuesday night by the City Council on the subject of Glendale's tax rate, officials at the city hall are given to understand. However, they expect the session to be very routine.

SAN PEDRO OIL FIRE CONTROLLED

No Casualties and No Homes Damaged When Reservoir Becomes Ablaze

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Aug. 18.—With the fire in a 500,000 barrel reservoir of crude oil of the General Petroleum corporation, which burst into flames yesterday, apparently under control, several companies of Los Angeles firemen are standing guard for the next two days until the oil is consumed.

There were no casualties and no homes in the nearby Point Firmin district of San Pedro were damaged, although a panic was created by a sensational newspaper report. The reservoir had been tapped to allow as much of the oil beneath the blaze to escape and this was given as cause for fear.

At no time was the city of San Pedro endangered, the fire being in an isolated section, occupied principally by the grounds of Fort McArthur. The damage is estimated at $1,000,000 by the General Petroleum officers, their company being the only losers.

Expect Crisis Today

The crisis of the fire was expected today. As a precaution against wind change, water was being poured on an adjoining tank. Officials expressed the fear that when the fire burns down to the reservoir of water at the bottom of the tank, the steam formed may cause an explosion.

Twice during the night the huge tank overflowed with flaming streams of oil. The overflow caused the burning oil to pour into a canyon near the Fort McArthur barracks, but ended in the sea. That the fire was of incendiary origin was the belief expressed again today by officials of the oil company.

The fire fight was spectacular, for under the rolls of heavy, thick clouds of smoke the army of men fought to extinguish it while caterpillar trucks went back and forth ploughing up ground for an embankment to keep the fire within bounds.

Extra! Congress Will Be Free Of Bugs!

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Fleas and roaches, noted for their lack of discrimination in choosing human victims, will no longer harass the able legislators of the nation.

When the lawmakers return for another session of scratchful debating they will find that the scratches have been, in the parlance of the track, "scratched".

The health department has gone after the fleas and roaches with sodium flouride and probably with the ulterior motive of showing the solons why the health department appropriation for next year should be increased. Extermination of the pests before the December session is the aim of the destroying forces.

While the amount of the building permit is given at $30,000, Mrs. McEnany is of the opinion that the finished cost of the building will entail an even greater expenditure, as it is her aim to erect a structure that will be, in every sense, a credit to Glendale's principal thoroughfare.

HORSESHOE CLUB GROWTH IS TOLD

Group of Congenial Spirits Pass Pleasant Days on Local Court

ganization was changed to the Glendale Horse Shoe and Tourist club. The latter was added by reason of the fact that during three or four months of each year, some fifty tourists are attached to the club roster.

Six months ago, checkers, chess and dominoes were added to the list of games. Today, tomorrow and any week day, in the neighborhood of forty members of this club may be seen engaged in the various games afforded, and many Glendalians and visitors stop on the sidewalk, there on West Broadway, and behold with amazement something they never knew existed before.

But on Sunday grounds of the club will be deserted, for it is one of the rules that no playing is allowed on that day. And on no day will any profanity ever be heard on these grounds. Dignified, respectable middle-aged men come here, men of position, of families, oftentimes men of considerable means—for it is not everyone who can while away the busy hours of the day at pitching horse shoes, playing croquet, checkers, chess or dominoes!

Congenial Spirits

On the other hand, the grounds of the Glendale Horse Shoe and Tourist club are no loafing place. These men come here for an hour or two, play a few games, get beneficial exercise either physical or mental, together with the stimulus of social contact, then go their ways again, to return perhaps on the morrow, perhaps in a day or a week. In short, not at any time would anyone be likely to find more than twenty-five per cent of the members on the grounds. When some leave, others come. It is a true club, a fraternity, a meeting place of congenial spirits.

In 1920, the Glendale club, with four others—Long Beach, Wilshire, Pasadena and South Park—formed a state association and became affiliated with the national body. Now, in 1923, the state association numbers sixteen clubs—Long Beach, Glendale, Pasadena, Pomona, Redlands, Santa Ana, Santa Monica, El Segundo, South Park of L. A., Wilshire of L. A., Exposition Park of L. A., East San Diego, Balboa Park of San Diego, Visalia, Monrovia and Covina.

Showing a membership in the state association of over 500, the shoe pitchers of California may be said to be forging ahead rapidly, with respect to other states A state tournament, held every year, is scheduled for September 5, 6, 7 and 8, 1923, at Santa Monica, on the high school athletic field, Pico boulevard and Fourth street, with $500 in cash prizes for seven regular and two special events.

Many members of the Glendale club will compete in this tournament, of which George E. Krinbill is manager and C. B. Thomas referee. The program committee comprises George E. Krinbill, Long Beach; F. J. Osborne, Los Angeles; C. F. Bryan, El Segundo, and E. R. Waldron, Santa Monica.

List of Contests

Following is a resume of the events that will be run off at this tournament: Event 1, championship game, prizes totaling $150; Event 2, team contest, open to one team of two men from each club in the state association; Event 3, ringer contest, each man entering to pitch three or more games of 100 shoes each; Event 4, for pitchers having records of from twenty-five to thirty-three ringers in one series of five twenty-one-point games; Event 5, for pitchers having records of from sixteen to twenty-four ringers in one series of five twenty-one-point games; Event 6, for pitchers with fifteen ringers or under in a series of five twenty-one-point games; Event 7, open only to pitchers belonging to clubs in the state association, 100 shoes to be pitched by each one entered, points to win; Special Event 1, for "boys" 70 years old and up, each entrant to play his opponent one twenty-one-point game, games to win, and Special Event 2, open to players who participated in previous events, but failed to win a prize, to be played after all contests are over, fifty shoes pitched, points to win.

All entries must be in the hands of Secretary Krinbill of the Long Beach club not later than August 30, it is announced, each person being limited to one entry, except men making up a club team for Event 2. Pitching will start promptly at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon each day of the tournament.

Present Officers

The present officers of the Glendale Horse Shoe and Tourist club are: George T. Paine, president; W. M. Holeman, vice-president; Walt H. Nicoles, secretary-treasurer, and J. D. Porter, A. A. Gingrich and Sam Dick, directors. A. B. Holt is manager of croquet, T. H. McKay of checkers and chess, and Oma A. Fish of the pitching team.

The present officers of the California State Horse Shoe Pitchers' association are: George T. Paine of Glendale, president; George E. Krinbill of Long Beach, secretary, and Walt H. Nicoles of Glendale, treasurer.

Immigrant Climbs To Editor's Chair

Harry Miller

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 18.—Eleven years ago a stranger in the land; today, managing editor for a daily newspaper. And this at the age of 23!

Such is the remarkable story of Harry Miller, who holds that responsible position on the Bulletin here.

Landing in America in March, 1912, after several weeks' journey from Ukraine, Miller's family settled in Chicago. Henry entered the public schools there and received his diploma two years later. He then went into the employ of a Chicago book house while he continued his high school studies at night.

His first actual contact with newspaper work came in 1917, when he began to work as copy boy on the old Chicago Herald. His night's work over, he spent the greater portion of the day in a nearby school of journalism, thus combining theory and practice. Since then Miller has successfully held positions as a reporter, editor of a weekly paper, city editor and his present one, which he has administered for close to two years.

While Miller is not quite ready to admit that newspaper work is the easiest in the world, he states that it holds out the greatest attraction for the man who wants to do big things.

Night Sessions Irk Commons Members

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Speaking of the late dancing, commons is getting the all-night habit. Members of the house who live in the suburbs are up in arms at the obstructionist methods which have frequently been adopted by Laborites to keep parliament in session until the wee small hours. When the house sits after 12:30 at night it means that those members who do not live in London are without means of transportation, and they either have to wander about the streets or sleep on the hard benches of Westminster.

Poetess Weds, Then Goes Under Knife

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Two hours before she must go under ether for an operation for appendicitis, Edna St. Vincent Millay, poetess, was married to Eugene Boissevain, Dutch importer, at the home of Boardman Robinson, cartoonist, at Croton-on-the-Hudson.

The wedding had originally been planned for several days' nence, but an acute attack of appendicitis developed and Miss Millay was told she must immediately submit to an operation. The pleadings of her fiance won her over and the marriage was performed quietly. Almost immediately she entered an automobile and was driven to New York hospital. Her husband accompanied her.

Norma Millay, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Jan Boissevain was best man. The guests included Arthur Davidson Ficke, Charles Ellis and Miss Gladys Brown.

Boissevain is several years older than his bride. His first wife, Inez Milholland Boissevain, a suffragist, died in 1916.

"Always Happy To Serve You"

ADVISES BROKER ON COMMISSIONS

Time of Payment Should Be Specified in Contract, Attorney Claims

By CARLOS G. WHITE
Attorney for Oakland Real Estate Board

When a real estate broker has finally brought the minds of the buyer and seller together, often as a result of months of effort, the big, practical question arises as to when the commission for such service is payable. The question is of secondary importance if the transaction is finally closed; but if, without any fault upon the part of the broker, some hitch arises through the fault of either buyer or seller, the broker then becomes vitally interested in the question of whether or not he is in a position to demand compensation for his months of work.

If the broker's written contract undertakes to provide for a time when the commission becomes payable, the express provisions of such contract control; but if the contract does not cover this detail, then the general rule of law applies.

In the absence of controlling provisions in the contract, and in accordance with the general law of brokerage a broker's commission is earned and payable when he has procured and produced a purchaser ready, able and willing to buy the property upon the terms and conditions and at the price fixed by the owner. Such a showing of performance on the part of the broker is made by his procuring from the purchaser an enforceable contract upon the specified terms, or upon other terms assented to by the owner. But in the absence of a contract between the owner and purchaser, then by a showing on the part of the broker that he brought the owner and prospective purchaser together for the purpose of entering into a contract of sale at the price and upon the terms of the owner, but that the owner declined to proceed with the sale that he had previously engaged the broker to make.

Special Provisions

If the contract contains special provisions making the commission payable upon the happening of some event, the special provisions of the contract in this respect control and supersede the general rule. In one case, the contract provided for payment to the broker when a certain offer was accepted. In another case the broker's commission on a lease, according to his contract, became payable when the lease should be signed. After preliminary agreement had been made and deposit paid, the building burned down before the formal lease was signed. The broker's own contract defeated his claim for service.

In this connection the use of the word "consummated" is worthy of attention, because it is capable of two different meanings. In one case in which the broker's original contract of employment provided that his commission become payable "should he succeed in consummating a deal" with a specified purchaser, the court held that when the broker had brought the two parties together and the parties had entered into an agreement, the broker's commission was earned, even though by reason of differences arising between the parties the transaction was never completed. The court in that case noted that the agent had performed all that he could perform, and had consummated the deal to the extent within his power.

Court to Consider

On the other hand, it has been held that where the parties to an exchange, at the time of signing up the agreement to make the exchange, specifically agreed to pay the broker a certain commission upon the consummation of that exchange, the court should consider what the parties meant by the word "consummation" at that particular stage of the proceedings and consequently held that, since the transaction was never completed, the broker's commission in that instance never became payable.

Ordinarily, therefore, the broker's commission becomes payable upon his procuring for his principal an enforceable contract of sale with a responsible purchaser upon the specified terms. It is consequently important to the broker, in times like the present, to specify in his contract of employment the terms and extent and nature of any credit or installment payments which he may be authorized to allow in effecting a sale.

Schedule for Golden Bears Is Decided

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18. — The 1923 collegiate football schedule of the Golden Bears was announced today by Andy Smith, University of California coach.

On Smith's return from Los Angeles Thursday, he expressed the belief that the bears might go through the season without a defeat, but added that the U. S. C. Trojans could be expected to furnish the lively competition.

Sept. 29—St. Mary's at Berkeley.
Oct. 6—Santa Clara at Berkeley.
Oct. 13—Olympic Club at Berkeley.
Oct. 20—Oregon Aggies at Berkeley.
Oct. 27—Washington State at Portland.
Nov. 3—Nevada at Berkeley.
Nov. 10—U. S. C. at Los Angeles.
Nov. 17—Washington at Berkeley.
Nov. 24—Stanford at Berkeley.

Canada had a railroad mileage of 51,338 miles in 1922.

FARMER SOLON RAISES FAMILY OF HUSKY KIDS

Six Little Johnsons Insure New Senator's Supply Of Farm Labor

Left to right: Francis, 19; Victor, 21; Agnes, 10; Mrs. Johnson; Lillian, 25; Magnus, Jr., 14; Florence, 9, and Magnus Johnson, whose election has threatened the dignity of old-line senators.

There may be a shortage of farm labor in some sections of the grain belt, but not on the farm of Minnesota's new senator, Magnus Johnson. Magnus believes in preparedness and his farm is amply protected from labor shortage by a large and enthusiastic family. Mrs. Johnson doesn't care particularly for Washington society, preferring the cows and chickens, and Magnus says she shows just as good judgment running the farm.

MANY WILL JOIN COMMUNITY HIKE

Horseback Riding Party to Be Held Thursday at Oakmont Stables

Tomorrow, August 19, the first hiking trip of the local Community organization, under the recreation department, will lead through the Arroyo Seco to Oakwild.

Those already signed up are the following: L. Long, Faith Kennedy, R. M. Gaddis and a party of four. Mrs. S. Braun, who is to be chaperon, Ethel Reninger, Helen Hibbs, Alice Woodbury, Lorainne Mitchell, H. L. Chapman and Alex Tabst.

Any others wishing to go are to be at the Montrose car line in time for 7:25 car, it is announced.

The following are registered for the next horseback riding party, to be held under the auspices of Community Service next Tuesday night, August 21, at 7 o'clock in the corral of the Oakmont Saddle stables, Montrose: Ruth Ryder, Faith Kennedy, Dorothy McPherson, Helen Collins, Alic Pratt, Ruth Ryan, Harold Duey and Alexander McPherson.

Thirteen Can Ride

Any additions must register with Community Service and make their reservations. There are thirteen horses available, it is reported, and if more register another night will be arranged for the following week.

Attention is again called to the tennis tournament, those having registered and who have not yet been matched being requested to get in touch with William Bode, at the Glendale Phonograph company, 123 South Brand boulevard.

In order to match the second time, cards showing results must be mailed in to Community Service headquarters, 150 South Brand boulevard, or telephoned in, Glendale 3070.

Mexican Wallops Boss, Faces Assault Trial

Juan Garcia is incarcerated in the city bastile on a charge of battery preferred by J. Navarro, a foreman for Peter L. Ferry, contractor. It is alleged that Garcia, not liking his boss, slipped up behind him last evening at the Ferry corral and proceeded to do a more or less informal dental job, resulting in Navarro's loss of three teeth. Judge Lowe held Garcia on $50 bail this morning for trial August 21 at 10 a. m.

Motorists Injured in Verdugo Road Wreck

Edwin A. Carpenter, giving his residence as a ranch on R. F. D. No. 4, Glendale, wrecked his automobile and suffered a painful laceration last night while driving to his home. The accident occurred on North Verdugo road. Motorcycle Officers Baugh and Booth, investigated and removed the injured man to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital for surgical treatment.

MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The stock market closed steady today. The rise in stock values, which started about a week ago, continued unabated in the short session today. Higher prices were established all along the line.

A feature in the oil stocks was the advance of Houston Oil to 49⅞, a gain of nearly 3 points. The rest of the list was steady, gains ranging from a fraction to 1 point. California Petroleum rose ⅛ @ 21⅝ and Pan American ⅝ @ 63.

Steel stocks were firm, Bethlehem Steel advancing over 1 point to 50⅝, Crucible, ⅞ @ 64⅞, Republic nearly 1 point to 44⅞ and United States Steel, ¼ @ 98⅞.

Railroad stocks were higher, Baltimore & Ohio moving up to 49⅝ and Canadian Pacific ¼ @ 146.

The remainder of the list was steady, with good fractional gains secured all around. Government bonds, railway and others, steady.

Total sales today, stocks, 442,400, for the week, 3,111,600 shares.

Bonds today, $3,408,000; for the week, $38,839,000.

In Grain Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Slight irregularity marked the close of the grain market today. Wheat export trade was light and reports from the Canadian wheat belt contradicted recent bullish indications of poor crops. Business in corn was broader.

Wheat closed ¼ off. Corn was steady to ¼ up and oats ⅛ @ ¼ off.

Provisions were firm.

Death Penalty Goes And Crime Increases

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 18.—Argentina abolished the death penalty from the penal code about a year ago, and since then there has been a noticeable increase in crimes of violence in this city. The question of restoring the death penalty has arisen, and a bill to this end has been introduced in congress.

EFFECT OF COLORS

Barnacles seem to have an aversion to light colors as experiments have shown that the colors with which bottoms of ships are painted has an effect on their fouling.

WIFE SLAYER IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Fires Two Shots Into Chest, Rams Telephone Pole With Automobile

FRESNO, Aug. 18.—Clarence C. Murphy, 37, shot and killedhis wife here last night and while in a semi-conscious condition, due to two self-inflicted bullet wounds in his chest, drove his automobile into a telephone pole on Tulare street and sustained injuries that will likely prove fatal.

Following the crash and the rescue of Murphy from his demolished car, police sought his home and there found his wife, Dora, 35, dead, her powder burned clothing torn from her body. Three bullets had found their mark and she was wounded fatally in the head and shot through the body and the left arm.

Find Note To Son

At the county hospital Murphy refused to talk of the tragedy today other than to say that he and his wife had each fired a shot. The couple have two children, a son and a daughter. A note addressed to the boy was found in the house after the police discovered the body of the murdered woman. While the note indicated Murphy contemplated some action, no indication of the nature of his plans could be discovered in the message. An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted Mrs. Murphy in February on the grounds of extreme cruelty. At the time of the hearing, she charged that Murphy was drunk most of the time and that he beat her.

It is presumed that the divorce action and the publicity attendant upon it, caused Murphy to slay his wife.

Olive Grove Dairy's Product Satisfying

The Olive Grove Dairy, located in Burbank, is pleasing consumers in Glendale through the high quality of its Grade A raw milk and rich cream, according to W. H MacDonald, proprietor.

"On my ranch are only healthy, virorous, tuberculin-tested cows," says Mr. MacDonald. "With thirty years of experience in the dairy business, I believe I can say that I understand the production and distribution of milk."

On the Olive Grove ranch is every modern facility for serving pure, fresh, creamy milk to the public. Inspection is invited. Milk may be ordered by phoning Burbank 83-W or Glendale 1448-J.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald are now living in Glendale, where they have bought a home at 440 West California avenue. They pride themselves on being Glendalians and more still, they pride themselves on the way their milk keeps fresh in hot weather, being guaranteed not to sour within twenty-four hours from delivery, even without ice.

Men Secure 'Equal Rights' In Divorce

MONTGOMERY, Aug. 18.—The Alabama house of representatives went on record today favoring "equal rights for men." The legislative body passed a bill giving men, as well as women, the right to obtain a divorce on grounds of cruelty. "It is time some consideration is being shown for men," said Daniel Cook, author of the bill. A section providing for abolishment of rolling pins was defeated.

CITY AMONG LEADERS

With the 1923 building total to date well over the $6,000,000 mark, and the great tide of prosperity rising higher and higher with each passing day, while July saw it again among the half-dozen leaders in southwest construction, Glendale's course into the harbor of a roseate year seems set beyond any diverting.

FILM STAR'S AGE IS STILL ENIGMA

If Thirty, Mary Miles Minter Will Sue Mother for Earnings of Years

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—With the age of Mary Miles Minter still an enigma, discussion was rife here today whether she would accept an offer to be starred in Ziegfield Follies, as reported in New York. Efforts to reach the actress proved fruitless again today as she has gone into seclusion, apparently to some mountain resort for a much needed rest on the advice of her physician, but not even her closest friends know her whereabouts.

Miss Minter's father, a printer on a Dallas, Texas, newspaper, declared she is 30 years old. Her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, from whom the actress is estranged, and whom she says she will sue for the return of over a million dollars, claims she is but 21 years old. However, an affidavit made some years ago and purporting to quote Mrs. Shelby concerning Miss Minter's age, which would make her near 30 now, has been uncovered in New York.

The actress declared frankly she does not know her own age, but asserts that she hopes it can be proven to be 30, for then she will be able to collect from her mother even a greater sum than she had anticipated for money she earned several years ago.

SHOOTS SELF ON STEPS OF ALTAR

Prominent Church Worker Commits Suicide Before Eyes of Father

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 18.—"God Almighty, forgive me for what I have done. Good-bye mother dear, and God bless you."

This was the note J. Carrick Trost, 21, prominent churchman and member of the Messiah choir of the Lutheran church, wrote just before he ended his life with a .45 caliber revolver in the pulpit facing the altar, late last night.

Charles R. Trost, father of the young man, reached the church just as the shot which ended his son's life, rang out and saw the body of his son fall heavily to the floor. This was Trost's second attempt at self destruction.

Despondency over ill health is said to have been responsible for the act.

HOLD OIL PRICE DOWN IN DAKOTA

State's Gasoline Station Is Closed as Standard Stands by Cut

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Few stations in South Dakota have advanced the price of gasoline from 16 to 20 cents, despite Governor W. H. McMaster's agreement with independent producers, according to advices received today by the Standard Oil company of Indiana. The board of directors decided to let the Chicago price remain at 15.4 cents and to make no advance in South Dakota until it was learned that other companies would raise their rates. The state highway station at Mitchell, S. D., where the first cut was made by Governor McMaster's order, was closed today.

May Send Pal to Chair for Relative

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—It was a case of "pal" turning on "pal" recently in the Kings county court, when Ralph De Salvo, an inmate of Auburn prison, testified against Edward Dougherty, on trial for first degree murder. Dougherty is accused of having robbed and killed John Bruns, a grocer of 85 Johnson street, Brooklyn. De Salvo, who admitted that he had committed forty robberies within six months, said that he was testifying against his friend to vindicate Antonio De Marco, his brother-in-law, who had been arrested in connection with the murder.

MARTIAL LAW GROWS

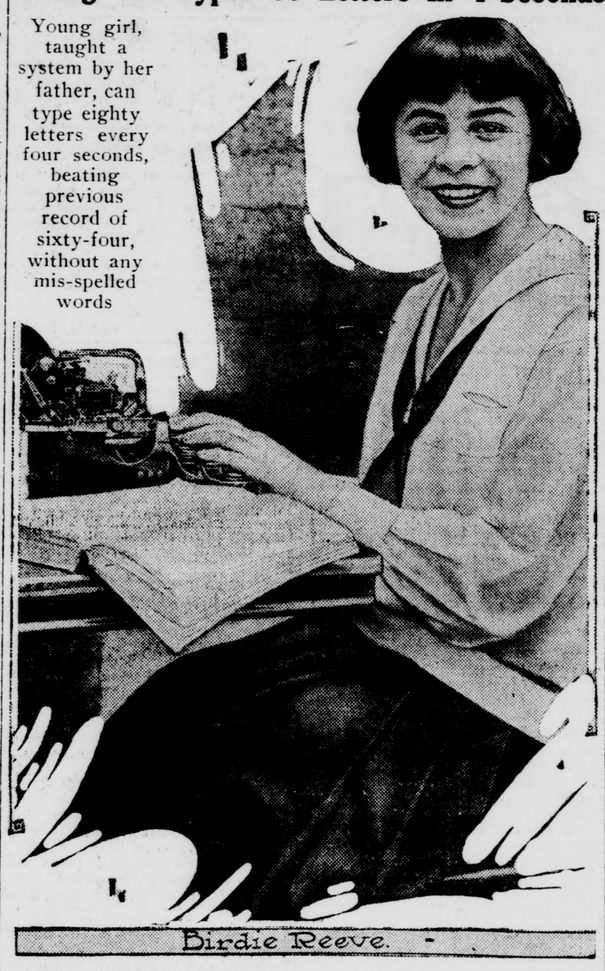
TULSA, Okla., Aug. 18.—Martial law extended late yesterday to include all of this county, today was held in more serious regard, following the arrest of ten additional men by national guards in connection with the floggings by masked bands. Attorney General Short who has been here investigating alleged mob violence was to return to Oklahoma City today, presumably to report to Governor J. C. Walton the results of his probe.

FEAR OF OUTBREAK

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 18.—Fear that there is a serious outbreak imminent at Steubenville as a result of the clash between the members of the Ku Klux Klan and irate citizens of that city was expressed today by a delegation of Steubenville citizens believed to be Ku Klux Klansmen, who visited Governor Donohey at the state house and told him of the conditions existing at Steubenville.

TYPIST CLAIMS SPEED TITLE

Young Girl Types 80 Letters In 4 Seconds



Young girl, taught a system by her father, can type eighty letters every four seconds, beating previous record of sixty-four, without any mis-spelled words

Birdie Reeve.

NEW YORK, August 18.—Sixteen-year-old Birdie Reeve is not only the world's fastest typist, but probably is also its best speller, according to her father, Thomas I. Reeve, who devised the system by which she accomplishes her record.

Miss Reeve is said by her parent to be able to type 250 words a minute and to spell correctly any word in the English dictionary.

Not only does this diminutive typist excel in speed, but she accomplishes it with the use of but four fingers, a system which Mr. Reeve says he perfected himself. Eighty letters in four seconds, or 1,200 a minute, is the detailed record on which Miss Reeve challenges all comers.

She is not a prodigy, but is just like other girls of her age, says the father, who adds that his daughter is very fond of all kinds of outdoor sports. At present Miss Reeve is devoting considerable time to the compilation of a dictionary which, she says, will contain combination letters intended to simplify typewriting.

In speaking of the system which, he says, makes his daughter the fastest typist in the world, Mr. Reeve describes it as an "intellectual game," the object of which is to build up words and phrases with single or coupled letters. As an illustration of how much faster Birdie works than do average typists, he points to the present record which, he says, is only sixty-four letters in four seconds.

Birdie has a precocious sister, Rosie, eleven years old. According to Mr. Reeve, both girls would be wasting time going to school, as they are far ahead of teachers and professors in their knowledge of English.

Community Property Act on State Books

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18.—The Community Property Act, giving the wife equal rights with her husband in the disposition of their property, was written into the state books yesterday. Efforts to hold the measure up on referendum failed when only 47,445 qualified electors of California signed petitions asking that the act be submitted to the people. A total of 48,289 signatures was necessary to hold the bill up on the referendum. The petition lost by 844 signatures.

After a re-check of the figures today, Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan officially announced that the referendum had lost.

The 1923 legislature has the distinction of being the only legislative session to escape having some of its legislation held up on referendum since the power of referendum was given the people in 1911.

Steeplejack Objects To Acting as Target

OAKLAND, Aug. 18.—The occupation of steeplejack is a precarious one at least. But when some unknown would-be assassin takes frequent shots at a conspicuous figure scaling lofty tanks and poles, any steeplejack would seek escape. The would-be assassin's poor markmanship accounted for the presence of Thomas Wesella at police headquarters to complain.

An unidentified enemy has fired at him on several occasions recently while he was at work painting high flag poles, the bullets striking within a few inches of his head.

Pullman Porter Helps Stork on U. P. Flyer

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Forsaking his duties as a Pullman porter, J. Marlinez, of Union Pacific Passenger train No. 3, yesterday stepped into the role of maternity physician and assisted in the birth of a nine-pound baby girl to Mrs. Eleanor Williams, as the train sped across the California-Nevada line. Mrs. Williams was en route here from Iowa to join her husband.

Following the arrival of the train here, the mother and child were taken to the family home, where it was reported both were doing nicely.

Coolidge to Follow Harding's Policies

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The American embassy has been legally advised that President Coolidge will not change America's foreign policy, it was learned at the foreign office this afternoon. British officials said President Coolidge's decision to maintain the foreign policy of his predecessor will not have any effect upon Great Britain's plans.

It is possible Premiers Baldwin and Poincare will confer after the British cabinet discusses the French reparations note next week.

Man Held for Trial On Statutory Charge

J. C. Nottage, accused of a statutory offense, was incarcerated in the county jail in Los Angeles yesterday in lieu of $1000 cash bail set by Police Judge F. H. Lowe, who held him for further hearing at 3 p. m., August 21. Nottage gave 1024 South Berenda street, Los Angeles, as his address.

Asks Police to Halt Air Rifle Practice

Mrs. R. Johnson of 135 North Olive street complained to the police yesterday that her small son had been shot by one of the neighbor boy's aid rifles and asked the police to stop the human target practise which she claims is in practice which she claims is in vicinity.

SEA MYSTERY IN LOSS OF VESSEL

Wreckage of 'Swift Star' Is Sighted by Schooner's Captain July 22

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The title "Swift Star" was written today on another mysterious disaster of the sea. The last chapter in the history of the Swift Star, missing several weeks, was written by Captain F. J. Follett, of the schooner Albert H. Wills, who sighted bits of wreckage and life boats of the ill-fated vessel July 22 about 200 miles north of Cristobal. The actual fate of the Swift Star will never be known, taking its place in maritime history, with the Cyclops, which was swallowed up by the sea, leaving no trace behind.

The wreckage was sighted just after a severe electrical storm. The Swift Star was struck by lightning and demolished, it is believed.

The Swift Star cleared Los Angeles last month for Fall River, Mass., and was sighted last at the eastern end of the Panama Canal, July 13.

Helen Wills Winner Of American Title

cise touch to which the usual reply is not enough. Certainly Mrs. Mallory's wasn't sufficient, though she fought with all the courage and indomitable spirit of her fighting forbears.

Strange to relate, it was the former champion, usually the most accurate of players, who committed the most errors, no less than 41 being placed to her discredit. She was hardly blameworthy in this respect, however, Helen's severe game forcing most of them. The child herself made only 23 errors in all, ten of them coming in the first and thirteen in the second. In placements she outscored Mrs. Mallory by 22 to 10, in other words, it was no contest. So tense was the moment that the appearance of the players failed to elicit the usual ripple of formal applause. In spite of the fact that it was an East versus West duel, the great majority of the gallery was distinctly pro-Wills.

Helen won the toss and began service but immediately placed herself in a hole by netting her first two shots. Molla then obliged with an out after a brief rally. It seesawed for several minutes while each made errors.

The champion finally earned the game, 7-5, as the result of a successive out and net.

Molla then dropped the first two points on her own service, thanks to errors, and gained a point on a placement. After a prolonged dual, her accuracy deserted her and two straight errors gave Helen the game.

Two Startling Points

Miss Wills' service was broken again in the third game when Mrs. Mallory won at love, dropping straight returns at Helen's feet as she rushed the net. A double fault gave the champion the game point. Helen, however, came back and scored two startling points to begin the fourth game, making two wonderful back hand returns and dropping a placement for the first point and cutting the other out of reach for the second. Mrs. Mallory then made two errors and then another love victory.

Miss Wills finally made her service stand up by winning the fifth, 4 to 1, taking the lead in games at 3 to 2. She earned the points by rushing Mrs. Mallory back and forth across the baseline and volleying behind her frantic reach.

Wins Four in Row

The same tactics were repeatec in the sixth, which Helen also won by forcing the going, making the champion commit errors. Once, Helen came to the net to volley a placement.

Little Helen made it four in a row with the loss of only one point by winning the seventh at love; the champion's game losing its steadiness as deep court driving pounded on her fore and backhand.

Successive inaccuracies by both players carried the points to deuce in the eighth, but before this Helen brought the crowd up standing with a great backhand "get" only to lose the point when the champion dropped a drive down the sidelines. She came back with a volley placement and then won game and set by driving to Mrs. Mallory's back hand and the latter's return went out of court.

Champion Collapses

Her game seemingly having collapsed entirely, Mrs. Mallory yielded the first game of the second set at love by driving four straight balls into the net. Helen, however, also netted the first point of the second game and the second point went to the champion by the gratuitous means of the ball climbing the net and falling safe. But more errors by the champion carried the points to deuce ultimately and then Mrs. Mallory proceeded to lose by the simple expedient of netting one ball and watching another, a backhand, falling into an unprotected sector of her court.

Helen rapidly ran the points up to 40 love in the third game with glimmering drives to the back court and after netting another caused Molla to loft one out of court for the game point at 4 to 1, giving Helen the lead at three love in games. In the fourth the points went to a 30-all, each scoring pretty placements off the backhand, but Helen failed to get another over the net and Molla drove beyond the lines, making it deuce. Helen, however, did likewise on the next two shots and the champion won her first game of the set, 4-2.

The child wonder caused Molla to drive twice into the net in the fifth in trying to solve her service. Then she netted a drive on her own account and watched one of Molla's sail beyond the lines. Molla then tried a passing shot off the backhand, but the ball dropped in the alley and Helen won the game, making her lead 4 to 1.

Molla Starts Rally

Molla obliged with the long-awaited rally in the sixth and took the first two points with placements from her forehand. Whereupon the coast entry electrified the gallery with successive placements that fairly bristled with action as they dropped in Molla's open court. The points went to deuce three times, Helen bringing it to that stage finally with a volley off the background that barely cleared the net and then bounded back into the child's court. Whereupon she again drove the champion back on her heels with two placement aces and won the game, 7-5, and incidentally an almost insurmountable lead at 5 to 1.

Kinsay Is Winner

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18.—Howard Kinsay of San Francisco defeated Harvey Snodgrass, Los Angeles star, in the final round of the men's invitation tournament at the Casino Courts before a crowded gallery here today. The score, 6-4, 4-6, 6-0, 9-7.

Peddlers Of Fake Stock Fear Kenner

H. J. Kenner, Nemesis of Crooked Stock Sellers

H. J. Kenner, head of the better business bureau of New York, is the nemesis of fake stock peddlers, crooked agents and dishonest merchants. The bureau is assisting the state and federal governments in the campaign to drive the "sharpers" out of business.

POLICE IN HUNT FOR MOB VICTIM

Murder Suspect Kidnaped by Armed Band After His Release on Bond

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Aug. 18.—Police early today searched this city and the surrounding countryside for Clay Dunn, prominent local man, who was seized by a mob of men last night and spirited away in an automobile after he had made bond in connection with the alleged murder of B. A. Harris, a policeman.

The mob held officers at bay with firearms and seized Dunn as he left the jail following making of bond. Smears of blood were found on the pavement near the place.

Harris was killed Thursday night by an unidentified assassin as he was driving the police wagon. R. B. Brown, grocery man, is also held in connection with the killing.

SON TO TAKE UP DE VALERA'S WORK

Young Irishman to Carry on Task Halted by Arrest Of Party Chief

DUBLIN, Aug. 18.—Vivian De Valera, son of the arrested Irish republican chief, plans to carry on his father's task, it was said today.

Vivian will attend a republican mass meeting which was organized by his father before his arrest at Ennis. He will read a statement that his father prepared.

Another interesting figure at the meeting will be Erskine Childers, whose father was executed by the Free State.

CONFESS AUTO THEFTS

SEATTLE, Aug. 18.—Alleged to have confessed the theft of half a dozen automobiles, Leslie A. Carson and Paul Wessel, both 28, of Los Angeles, are held here today. Thirty-two suits of expensive clothing were found in their rooms with other finery believed the fruit of their automobile thefts.

PICK DELEGATES TO LEGION MEET

Department Convention Will Be Held at Eureka on August 27 to 31

Delegates and alternates to the California department convention of the American Legion were named last night by Glendale post No. 127 at a regular meeting presided over by Chalmer D. Day, commander.

Those selected to represent this city at Eureka Augusst 27 to 31 are as follows:

Delegates—James F. McBryde, R. MacArthur, Major Wyman, Mitchell Frug, Chalmer D. Day and Dr. William C. Mabry.

Alternates—Captain J. H. Wittmeyer, Charles G. Gibb, L. J. Fortier, Dwight W. Stephenson and Eugene J. Wix.

Choice for Committee

Nominations for a member of the executive committee of the local post to succeed Col. James W. Everington, resigned, who is moving to Culver City, were made with the choice to be made next week between G. L. Kaeding and J. H. Wittmeyer.

Dr. Mabry was appointed as the Legion's representative in Chamber of Commerce conferences.

Angelo Bessolo of Eagle Rock, who is a member of the state hospitalization committee of the Legion, was present and spoke of several proposed resolutions to be presented at the state convention. Several other visiting Legionnaires were introduced.

Four Persons Killed When Train Hits Auto

mother's body fell from the automobile. The bodies of the two men were found a few paces down the tracks.

Only one member of the Randolph family, Eugene, 11, was not killed or hurt. He escaped by not being with his parents. According to the lad his father was being taken to work by the other members of the family, who were to "practice" driving the machine home. After leaving for Randolph's work, the party picked up Davis, a friend.

Motorman M. F. Stebbnis, driving the electric car, is said to have seen the machine, but thought it would move off the tracks. When he realized the machine was stalled and its passengers appeared frozen in their seats, it was too late to stop the car before it bore down upon them.

Army & Navy Store Has Changed Hands

The Army & Navy Store at 201 South Brand boulevard has been in existence a little over two years, and has had a remarkable growth (like everything else in Glendale). W. C. Waring's large circle of acquaintances will miss him now at the "old stand," as he is retiring in favor of James L. Huntington, who with Stephen W. Huntington will conduct the "Army & Navy Store" as Huntington & Son, proprietors. The business is being conducted as usual.

Stephen W. Huntington, the senior member of the firm, is a retired banker of New Rochelle, N. Y., where he served the city as president of the council and was prominent in all the civic movements of the city.

The Huntingtons live at 201 Kenneth road, Glendale.

Texas Governor Asked For Probe of Whipping

TOWA PARK, Texas, Aug. 18.—Requests have been made on Governor Davidson that he send rangers to investigate the whipping of Lonie Davis, 25, a farm hand, who is recovering today from minor injuries in a Wichita Falls hospital. Davis claimed to have been seized Thursday night by five men, taken to a country road and beaten with a wet rope.

The security of the present lies in nursing the valiant deeds of a nation's past.

Both Federal, State Officers Suspected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—It is declared here today by department of justice officials that state and federal officers may be involved in the recent raid at Savannah, Ga., against the biggest bootlegging ring in America, in connection with which four of the alleged ring leaders are already under arrest.

The alleged leader of the band is William Haar, at one time a grocery clerk. According to government officials, the band owns a fleet of vessels and has cement lined storehouses in the swamps along the Georgia and Florida coasts.

They are alleged to have sold their smuggled liquor to people all along the Atlantic coast, through the southern states and even as far west as Chicago and St. Louis.

Haar is alleged to own a number of vessels of British registry. Not only was the liquor imported from Cuba, the Bahamas and other points in the West Indies, but the ring, according to the officials, obtained supplies from England, France and Canada. After the stuff had been smuggled ashore in small power boats the distribution was by means of automobiles and trains.

Program of Glendale Artist Is Announced

Glendale is to have a big representation participating tonight in the Glendale and Iowa night at the Hollywood Bowl.

Glendale and Iowa share honors in having Miss Gertrude Cleophas, native of Iowa and now a resident of Glendale, take part in the program.

The program is announced as: "Scherzo, Op. 34" (Goldmark), symphonic poem, "On the River Moldau" (Smetana), overture, "Flying Dutchman" (Wagner) by the Bowl symphony orchestra, directed by Emil Oberhoffer; piano and orchestral numbers, "Presto giocoso and Largo-Molto allegro" (MacDowell), Miss Cleophas and orchestra; "Overture Soloenelle 1812" (Tschaikowsky).

Guthrie Family Back From Beach Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Guthrie and daughter Catherine of 1641 Grand View avenue returned yesterday from a week's stay at the Coronado hotel. While there they had Robert and Margaret Frazee, former Glendale young people who reside in San Diego, as dinner guests and members of a launch and aquaplane party, in which Miss Catherine Guthrie displayed her skill at skimming over the ocean with only one spill from the plane board.

Mr. Guthrie is again at the helm of his real estate business here.

Safety and Comfort Must Come First

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Expressing dissatisfaction with the way passengers were held in a stalled Seventh avenue subway train, at Ninety-sixth street and Broadway, Monday night, the transit commission yesterday issued orders that the safety and comfort of passengers was primary and should take precedence over the efforts to resume operations. Employes are ordered to give information to passengers as to the character, origin and extent of such accidents, and to make all efforts to guide and discharge them from the subways to the streets.

Work $3000 Fraud Through 'Lost Purse'

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18.—Capitol park is headquarters for spooners and spoofers. The spoofers worked on C. M. Selling, San Francisco grocer, to the tune of $3000, he told the police today.

Selling and a new found friend found a pocketbook. A distracted owner rushed up, claimed the wallet and in gratitude offered Selling $40,000 in steel stock for $3000, the story goes. Selling raised the $3000. The friends went to look for the steel stock. Now Selling and the police are looking for the friends.

AUTOMOBILE SECTION

PART TWO — GLENDALE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1923 — PAGES 1 TO 6

AUTO TRAVEL INTO STATE IS HEAVY

More Than 20,000 Machines Machines Are Said to Be On Way to South

Trekking across the continent at this very moment are great multitudes of motorists with Southern California as their destination. Los Angeles is the main objective of most of them, but some stop off before they get this far. Not a few are aiming directly at Pasadena, and others will go up or down the coast or into the interior, some to stay for a few weeks, many of them to remain as permanent residents.

Estimating four persons to an automobile, the average count, the Automobile Club of Southern California has figured that about 80,000 pilgrims are now headed this way.

One cannot help but wonder where they are coming from. It is a difficult job to check up the answer to this question, but the TouristBureau of the Auto Club has partially solved it. This bureau has tabulated the thousands of letters it has received during the past two months asking for information on the roads leading to the southern part of California, and it is from this source of information that the figures have been taken.

From Everywhere

It is shown in this tabulation that the largest number of motor tourists—as they are officially designated—are pushing westward from the vicinity of New York, including the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. Take a glance at the map and see that by actual count there are 8,256 motor cars full coming from the so-called New England region.

States immediately surrounding Chicago are contributing 7,213 cars. The southern states are contributing 1,520 cars, divided between the Atlantic seaboard of the south and the central-southern section of America.

Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas are pouring 760 machineloads into Los Angeles. From Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota there are 840 bearing down on us.

Registrations Gain, Expenses Show Decrease

COMPARATIVE figures for the month of July, 1923, with those of the corresponding month one year ago shows that the Motor Vehicle Department made an increase in registrations of all characters in 1923 of 15,828 and a total increase in revenue for the same month of $62,608.91.

Registrations figure for July, 1923, 68,572 against 52,744 for last year. The revenue collected by the department in the month amounting to $252,929.99, while the same month last year produced $190,321.08.

In the face of this increase in registrations and money collected in 1923, Will H. Marsh, chief of the division reports that the payroll costs were reduced for the same period in an amount of $3,817.37. The payroll for July, 1922 amounting to $29,147.16 whereas the offices as operated this year in July has a payroll cost of $25,329.79.

TAX ON GAS IS WIDELY ADOPTED

Thirty-Eight States Make Levy of 1 to 3 Cents For Road Work

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The various states which at present are levying a consumption tax on gasoline, ranging from 1 to 3 cents a gallon, expect to increase their revenue by $41,607,835 during the current year. At the close of 1922 there were only eighteen states which imposed gasoline consumption taxes, but now there are thirty-six states which impose the tax, or will do so by the close of this year.

The movement of taxing gasoline on a per gallon basis of consumption has gained headway because of the popular belief that the tax is placed where the burden belongs. Much of the money thus raised is used for road construc-

L. A. COUNTY SETS HUGE RECORD

Less Than 300 Passenger Cars Separate District From Greater N. Y.

Los Angeles is running a neck and neck race with New York for the honor of being America's greatest automobile market. So close is the race between them that a difference of less than 300 sales separated them at the end of the first half of the year.

Passenger car sales in the metropolitan district during the first six months of 1923 were 50,289. Los Angeles county was right at the heels of metropolitan motor car merchants with 49,996 sales, according to Motor Fax figures.

To set the sales of Los Angeles county side by side with those of Greater New York is to make the fairest and most logical comparison of each city legitimately from an automobile trade standpoint, embracing the surrounding towns and cities.

Lots of Territory

In New York figures the sales of four adjoining counties—Westchester, Suffolk, Nassau and Putman—are regularly added to those of the five boroughs of the City of New York in making up the totals for the metropolitan district.

How wonderful is the showing made by Los Angeles county can be seen from the fact that the U. S. census of 1920 gave it only 936,438 population as compared with that of New York's five boroughs, which was 5,560,408 according to the same census, Greater New York then being six times larger than California's banner county.

In sales gains Los Angeles county this year, however, has far outstripped Greater New York with an increase of 24,382 over the first half of 1922, or 93 per cent. Metropolitan district gains for the first five months of this year were 9,274, or but 32 per cent.

Metropolitan district passenger car sales in June were 10,512, a loss of 1,787, as compared with May, or 14.5 per cent. Los Angeles county sales in June were 9,061, as compared with 9,918 in May, a loss of 857, or 8.6 per cent.

The New York sales figures segregate the high from the medium and low priced cars. In the first half of this year there were 4,379 sales of the former and 45,910 of the latter.

CONTEST FOR SAFETY IS STARTED

Police Department Conducts Campaign to Reduce Auto Accidents

By H. D. ROBINSON
For International News Service

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 18.—Fewer lives to the mile, not more miles to the gallon or more miles to the minute, is the goal of an automobile driving contest being held by the Indianapolis police department.

Appalled by the terrific toll of automobile accidents in Indiana, Captain Michael Glenn, head of the police traffic division, hit upon the contest plan to stimulate interest in safe driving. In order to test the theory that women drivers cause a large part of the accidents, the contest was limited to women.

The entrants will be required to drive over a test course through the business district with police judges riding with them. The manner in which they handle their automobiles in traffic, cross railroad tracks, avoid reckless pedestrians and observe the city traffic rules will be scored by points.

In Final Contest

Preliminary contests began August 6 to narrow the field of scores of entrants down to ten. These ten will meet in the final contest later in the month. Cash prizes have been offered for the winners by an Indianapolis newspaper and other awards by the Hoosier Motor Club.

"There have been speed, endurance and economy automobile tests," said Captain Glenn, "but the most essential thing in motoring, safe driving, has apparently been overlooked. The result is that while we get many miles to the hour, and many miles to the gallon, our consumption of lives to the mile remains entirely too high."

A safe walking contest for pedestrians should be held after the safe driving contest is completed, in the opinion of Captain Glenn.

Twelve Millions Get Seven Good Warnings

Aware that the summer season brings the peak of automobile travel and increased highway hazards, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has issued a warning to 12,000,000 motorists. The cautions total seven:

One—Would you willingly injure a child?

Two—Drive reasonably.

Three—Put your city on the Safety Honor Roll.

Four—Remember you are at times a pedestrian.

Five—"After you" is courtesy on the road, as well as in the doorway.

Six—Keep the brakes in perfect condition.

Seven—Haste makes havoc.

A small percentage of the motoring public causes the thousands of motor accidents and fatalities which occur every season. It is the aim of the automobile world in 1923 to stimulate this havoc-making minority to eligibility in the Sane Drivers' Club.

Auto Road Laws in Effect September 1

Motorists are warned by the Automobile Club of Southern California that on September 1, which is less than a month away, the new laws governing the operation of motor cars in California will go into effect.

One of the new laws provides that hand signals indicating a turn can be given only from the left-hand side of the car in the future.

It is indicated that under the new motor vehicle act more rigid enforcement of the correct hand signals will be noticed.

Another most important provision is that in which it is pointed out that all vehicles must keep on the right-hand side of the road while traveling—and, in addition to this, they must keep on the right-hand side of the right-hand of the road.

Auto Thefts Being Made Unprofitable

Thieves are finding automobiles to be an unprofitable form of loot. In 1922 78 per cent of vehicles stolen were recovered, according to the National Automobile Dealers' Association. Those high in robbery circles are reported to have said that the car-stealing business is highly unsatisfactory, due to the fact that the product cannot be readily hidden, that it goes out of style if concealed too long and that the number of vehicles recovered makes the overhead cost so high as to render a good business profit almost impossible.

THE RAILROAD CROSSING — By MORRIS

Southern California is flirting with death at the grade crossings. Many escape, it is true, but not all. The list of deaths and injuries is appalling, to say nothing of the property damage and general economic loss. With its hundreds of dangerous crossings on well traveled highways Southern California is permitting a condition which potentially imposes the death penalty on motorists for mistakes, ignorance or bad judgment. It is evident that the people realize the increasing menace and that they will support any reasonable program to prevent further crossings being established and to eliminate the more dangerous crossings until the peril has been reduced to a minimum.

TELLS ABOUT TRIP EAST BY AUTO

Robert A. Oliver, Driving in Hupmobile, Back From Interesting Journey

Experiences of a motor trip east are interestingly related by Robert A. Oliver of the Oliver Printing Company of 716 East Broadway, who with Mrs. Oliver and Leslie McQueen just returned home. Mr. Oliver says:

"This trip is getting so that the average person does not think much about it, and nearly everybody would like to take it. Under ordinary conditions and as long as you travel on one of the main transcontinental highways, one need not have any fear of not making the trip in good time and with a certain degree of comfort.

"If you wish to camp out you will find camping grounds all along the routes, and practically all of them are maintained by the cities and the use of them is free to the tourists. At night you will meet some very interesting people at these camping places, and will be able to get some information about the roads, for you will invariably find some one there who has just come over the roads you will take the next day.

Good Accommodations

"If you do not wish to camp out, accommodations for eating and sleeping may be obtained anywhere along the road, and most of the places are reasonable. We camped part of the time and stayed at the hotels part of the time.

"As for gas, oil and water, one need not worry the least, and need not carry any extra supply except of water, two canteens being sufficient for a machine and three people.

"But when one takes the trip and gets off the main roads of travel, encounters a few cloudbursts and storms, driving through water and mud over the very worst roads imaginable, then it is certainly a test for one's nerves and an automobile.

"One instance of a bad road was when it took us three hours

WARNING! BE CAREFUL IN DRIVING!

New Speed Laws Will Go Into Effect on First of Next Month

New speed limit regulations governing motorists on California highways will go into effect September 1. And they put a new angle on reckless driving, according to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

In the first place, the law declares it a crime for any person to drive any vehicle on a public highway at such a speed as to endanger the life, limb or property of any person. Even if the autoist is driving at a speed less than that prescribed by the law, but in such a manner as to endanger the lives of others, he will be due for prosecution.

Look Out for Joker

This is the "joker" in the new speed regulations: that the speed-mad motorist who is a hound for obeying the letter of the law but fails to uphold its spirit, will get jumped on!

It does not make any difference if the motorist did not intend to injure anyone. Under the new law, he is a criminal if he fails to drive at a careful and prudent speed under all circumstances.

The motorist is required by the new motor vehicle act to drive at a careful and prudent speed, not greater than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the traffic, surface and width of the highway on which he finds himself.

Severe penalties will follow an infraction of this section of the new law, say state authorities, and the Auto Club warns motorists to become thoroughly acquainted with it.

Here Are Speed Limits

Under the new motor vehicle act, the following speed limits are prescribed, and there is no joke about these prescriptions either, say club officials.

You must drive at fifteen or less miles per hour in all business districts; at obstructed railway crossings; at highway intersections where the driver's view is obstructed; in going around curves where the driver's view is obstructed; and in passing schools when persons are entering or leaving the grounds.

In the residence district the

THE 1924 STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX SEDAN $1795 HERE

The Closed Car You Buy Now You'll Use Next Winter

Any owner who has felt winter's winds whistling through the ill-fitting doors and flimsy pancis of a makeshift closed car knows there is no substitute for quality.

The 1924 Model Studebaker Light-Six Sedan you buy now will not only serve you admirably this summer and next winter, but will endure for years.

It is sturdily built for long, hard service, to ride comfortably, to look well and to operate at a moderate expense.

And when you are ready to trade it in on a new car the depreciation will be reasonable. Studebaker used car values are high because of Studebaker's inherent merit. And there is always a market for used Studebakers.

The substantial hard wood and steel body with its broad windows and four wide doors, its rich mohair velvet plush upholstery, and many refinements, is a model of Studebaker craftsmanship.

Construction of the chassis is an achievement in the use of precision methods in large scale manufacture. Proof of this lies in the machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods, to which is largely due its virtual freedom from vibration. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

The smooth-running Light-Six motor has made friends everywhere for its durability, power and flexibility just as it has for its economy and reliability.

The Light-Six Sedan is low priced because it is built complete by Studebaker in large volume, but there isn't a cheap thing about it. It is above par in every particular.

Studebaker's reputation for producing high class transportation for 71 years is worth considering when you buy a car.

Four wide-opening doors. Eight-day clock. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Attractive coach lamps. Heater. Mohair velvet plush upholstery. Glare-proof visor and windshield cleaner. Dome light. Thief-proof transmission lock.

TAX ON GASOLINE WIDELY ADOPTED

Many States Make Levy To Secure Funds for Road Building

tion, and in this the owner of the light car which uses less gasoline and which is less destructive on the highways feels the tax less than does the owner of a heavy car or motor truck which is heavy on the roads and a large consumer of gasoline.

Lightens Burden, Claim

In addition to raising additional revenue for the building of roads, the new tax, it is said, lightens the burden of the man who does not own an automobile and who does not get any direct benefit from the highways. The revenue raised by the eighteen states which imposed a gasoline consumption tax in 1922 approximated $11,923,442, of which $6,474,178 was applicable to state road work. Due to the larger number of states imposing the tax this year, the collection will be much larger.

The increase in the number of automobiles in operation also tends to increase revenue. Last year there were a total of 12,239,114 cars registered, from which there was a total revenue of $152,047,823, of which $117,093,116 was used for road construction and repairs. With the increase in motor car production since the beginning of the year, there having been 2,000,000 new cars produced in the six months ended June 30, 1923, the revenue from registration of cars and trucks will also be much larger this year.

The states which have adopted a gasoline sales tax, the estimated annual consumption, the rate imposed and the estimated yield of the tax, according to a compilation made by Dow, Jones & Co., is given below:

gBill passed increasing tax to 2c a gallon.
"Estimated total gasoline consumption in 1922 in the states which passed gasoline tax laws was 2,607,000,000 gallons out of a total domestic consumption of 5,366,000,000 gallons in that year," according to the information. "Estimated yield of gasoline taxes in 1924, levied in thirty-six states out of forty-eight, is $41,607.35, based upon 1922 registration, of 12,239,114 cars and trucks and an annual consumption for each vehicle of 424 gallons, the average estimated by the National Chamber of Commerce. Estimation is 1,000 gallons for each truck and 358 gallons for each passenger car, but 10,793,930 passenger cars greatly outnumbered the combined average. Cars and trucks now in use number about 13,500,000, according to latest estimates. With the license tax only, owners of cars pay no tax for use of roads outside of their own states, but payment for such use can be collected by means of a gasoline tax."

What is the meaning of that "star" on the new California auto license plates?

Offices of the Auto Club of Southern California have been overwhelmed with inquiries as to the significance of the lone star on the license plates with a numeral following it.

Some interesting investigators have ventured the opinion that this star means anything from the fact that the motorist has been "pinched" and is under a penalty marked by a star, to the fact that it is an auto owned by some famous movie star!

It simply means, point out auto club officials, that California state licenses have passed the million mark and instead of using numerals to indicate one million the state authorities have substituted a star.

Therefore, when you see a license plate with a star and a numeral "30" after it, or "13," then you know that the real license number is 1,000,030 and so on.

Oregon Secures Big Money on Gas Tax

According to Sam A. Kuser, Oregon's secretary of state, the June tax on motor vehicle fuels produced a total of $205,784.71, which was based upon the sale of 6,664,011 gallons of gasoline and 234,104 gallons of distillate. As compared with the month of May this year, gasoline distribution increased nearly 6 per cent, while distillate sales fell off approximately 48 per cent.

Of the June collections, $67,810.63 resulted from operation of the original law imposing a tax of 1 cent a gallon on gasoline and ½ cent a gallon on distillate, while $137,974.08 was returned from the additional tax law providing for a uniform rate of 2 cents a gallon on all kinds of motor vehicle fuels.

To date, the motor vehicle fuels tax measures have brought to the state treasury the total sum of $3,634,286.73.

BAD FOR ENGINE

One of the worst things one can do to an engine is to race it while not under a load. Many serious accidents, big repair bills, and needless delays have come from this practice.

AUTO TRAVEL TO STATE IS HEAVY

Estimate 20,000 Cars Are On Their Way Into This Territory

the much-advertised Pacific northwest, including the states of Washington, Idaho and Oregon, there are 1,200 arriving. Almost countless hundreds are coming from Utah, Arizona and Nevada, but these natives know their roads so well that they do not find it necessary to inquire from the Auto Club how to reach Los Angeles, and only fifty-three letters have been received from those sections.

Motoring parties are also coming from Venezuela, France, China, India, Greece, Honduras and England. If they could drive their machines over the ocean waves, they would probably do it, but since that is an impossibility they are shipping their cars with plans of touring in California.

So much for an answer to the question as to where they are coming from.

Modern Forty-niners

It is estimated that each of the machines will carry an average of four passengers. It is also estimated by club officials that there are nearly twice as many coming as have been tabulated, as only about half of the motorists write letters to find out about the roads. They just naturally pack up and come!

During the last ten years this transcontinental flow of travel has increased about 1,000 per cent—that is, from 2,100 cars in 1914 to more than 18,000 during 1922. These figures are accurate because they were checked as the motorists crossed the Colorado river ferry at Needles, as they moved toward the setting sun over the famous old Santa Fe Trail, now known as the National Old Trails Highway.

Just one year before, in 1913, only 167 transcontinental automobiles entered Southern California over this same Santa Fe Trail. In a year the number had jumped to more than 2,100, largely because the road was sign-posted through Arizona, New Mexico and California by the Auto Club during that year, and then during 1915 the sign posts were extended to Kansas City, a distance of 2,000 miles, entailing a great degree of publicity and consequent increase in motor car travel.

You can get just as highbrow as you want to in ferreting out the reasons why there is an unprecedented number from the east and middle west coming by automobile to Southern California. Why Southern rather than Northern California? Have you ever taken a squint at a map showing the various transcontinental routes? If you have, you have noticed that the routes pushing their nose into the northern part of the state cross the great American desert, and also during the winter through about eighteen feet of snow.

to go eight miles, and not over five minutes were lost! And in those eight miles we passed several autos that had been abandoned.

Some Bad Roads

"This was the worst road. We had plenty that were not much better. We encountered storms in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas. We went through two cloud bursts, the one in Arkansas being so bad that everybody said it was impossible to get out of the state. In Kansas we were told that we could not get into a certain city on account of the flood waters.

"We got out of the state of Arkansas, and when we got to witnin a few miles of this city in Kansas, after traveling all day in mud, we came up behind a long string of cars. We stopped long enough only to find out that they were waiting for the storm waters to go down. The water was flowing across the road for about a half mile.

"We pulled out of line, it was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and headed our car toward the waters. We half floated, but were the first in town that day. And the town itself in places was under six feet of water.

"When we came to the Canadian river two concrete pillars had been washed out, and that portion of the bridge was impassable. We were told that there was a high spot in the river, and if we wanted to risk it we might ford it. The river was about a quarter of a mile wide and the water was running swiftly. We got across all right, but if we had gotten off that high spot it would have been another story.

"One of the main reasons why we got through these rough roads was the automobile which we had, which was a Hupmobile. Each day we would have more confidence in what the car would do, and we became so accustomed to a sense of security in the fact that this sturdy machine would get us through, that we really did not give much thought to whether or not we should attempt to get through, but we just drove over these roads with absolute confidence.

Auto Gives Results

"Altogether we saw at least 200 machine completely stuck and almost buried in mud and sand, some of them abandoned. Our car was not stuck once, although it went through places where all others turned around and went back.

"The total mileage for the trip was 6,731 miles, and our car averaged 18.59 miles to the gallon of gasoline. The amount of oil used was thirty-three quarts. When all the rough roads, the long and high grades, are taken into consideration, this is much better than we expected. The average daily run was 242 miles a day, and once we made 525 miles with only a forty-five-minute stop.

"Two spring bolts were the only repairs to be made, and three punctures completed our tire troubles."

DEVELOPMENT OF BUICK IS SHOWN

New Models Consistent With Firm's Past Practice In Making Cars

"The striking thing about the 1924 Buick lies in the fact that it is wholly consistent with past Buick practice," says Ray. L. Galvin, sales manager of Tanner & Hall, local agents, 237 South Brand.

"While feature after feature is in a sense new, in that it is apparently a substantial improvement over preceding models, each is along the lines of development rather than innovation.

"Four wheel brakes? Yes, but precisely on the same principle as the brakes which proved so trustworthy and efficient on the rear wheels of the 1923 Chassis model—merely a good idea for two wheels extended to all four wheels."

The new body design immediately impresses the prospect as uncommonly graceful and beautiful without being in any sense freakish. The radiator and hood are suggestive of the best foreign design, that on the sixes being fully nickeled, on the fours enameled. The headlights, with non-glare lenses, are of new and handsome contour and, in noticeable harmony, the instruments on the operating board and the tail lights are of the same shape. Both sixes and fours have a flush type ventilator in the cowl.

On the various six models the wheel base has been lengthened from two to four inches, affording much more room. In the larger cars the auxiliary seats are four inches wider and afford comfortable riding for three persons. In fact, the so-called seven-passenger models can accommodate nine persons if necessary.

SLIPPING FAN BELT

A very small amount of belt compound applied to the pulley surfaces of the fan belt, will stop it from slipping. The compound is a sticky substance used in machine shops, power plants and factories to insure the gripping of the pulleys by the belt with sufficient force to transmit the power without slipping.

BUYERS' STRIKE IDEA DISCOUNTED

Period of Better Service Is Predicted by Head of Accessory Firm

The recent slackening of activities in many lines of business has caused various rumors to the effect that there will be a buyers' strike on numerous commodities.

Geo. Pepperdine

This idea is not correct, according to Geo. Pepperdine, president of the Western Auto Supply Company, who has just returned to the main office from an extensive trip in the central and eastern states. It is the opinion of Mr. Pepperdine that we are experiencing just merely a quieting down of the little boom which took place after the slump of 1920. That abnormal increase in activities began to appear early in 1922, and during the latter part of 1922 and the early part of 1923 many manufacturers and wholesalers tried to boost their business by the old game of threatening higher prices, which was, of course, partially justified by the advance in the cost of raw materials, but if this process had been permitted to continue the company would have soon been experiencing such an over-expansion of activities that another slump would have been inevitable. The more conservative policies of a large portion of the business men of the country and the refusal of the public to be stampeded into overbuying has been a great factor of safety and has caused business to quiet down to the healthy and wholesome condition that we now see.

Survival of Fittest

Mr. Pepperdine says: "At the present time and for many years to come we shall all experience an age of competition and service. When conditions are unsettled and every line of industry is experiencing unnatural periods of expansion and depression no one knows just where he stands or what can be safely done, but at the present time we can see business in general begin to settle down to a long stretch of steady running during which time many of the fly-by-night concerns, both in manufacturing and retailing, will be eliminated and the conservative, well-financed and properly managed concerns will progress rapidly because of their ability to render the greatest possible service to the public. In other words, it will be a "survival of the fittest" in business. Many manufacturers that were trying to get an advanced price for their product a few months ago are now quietly settling back to old prices, or even lower prices in some instances, and are glad to have the assurance of steady orders at a modest margin of profit. Many manufacturers are selling surplus goods and over stocks at prices below the market, enabling retailers to run sales, which is all evidence of the general realization of the fact that it is necessary to keep business in liquid condition. There has been considerable over-production in many lines of merchandise this summer and it has taught valuable lessons to the manufacturers, so that we may not expect such great over-production in future years and correspondingly less quantities of goods thrown on the market at special prices."

Public Wakes Up

Speaking particularly of the automobile accessory and tire industry, Mr. Pepperdine continued, "the public is beginning to realize that there are many grades, classes and qualities of such merchandise, and for the comparatively inexperienced automobile owner it is of great importance to buy his requirements from a well-established and reliable dealer or house that has the reputation of carrying first-class merchandise. This line of business, being comparatively new, has induced many people to jump into it who probably had failed to make good in other lines of business and thought they could see easy picking in this line. There have been so many unreliable dealers and price cutters, especially in the tire business, handling lines that are unknown and without reputation, that people are beginning to realize that it is not always the price they pay for an article that should influence them, but of more importance is the reputation of the house handling that article so that they will have definite assurance of satisfactory service and fair treatment in case of trouble of any kind.

"Public approval is the surest proof that a business is being conducted on proper lines, and in our own business we have reason to believe that the values we offer and the service we render have merited the unqualified approval of automobile owners in the western states, because our sales have increased with leaps and bounds. The confidence placed in our company by the public and supported by their patronage has enabled us to increase our business so rapidly that we now have about seventy-five stores in operation in the west and will soon have more than one hundred stores, and as this business increases the public may expect us at all times to be striving to render even more efficient service, give even lower prices and to continue to back up every sale with a positive guarantee of satisfaction."

12 Major Improvements at No Advance in Price

Fifty thousand Jewett owners testify that Jewett Six is the most car for the money that has ever been built! Now—the NEW JEWETT SIX tops all former achievements!

Here are twelve important improvements which add sensibly to Jewett Six's value, sturdiness, comfort and completeness. Read what the NEW JEWETT SIX now gives you in addition to its established superiorities. More than ever Jewett Six now dominates the $1000 class.

1. Large brake drums. Now 14 inches in diameter. Added strength, absolute safety. 18.21 pounds per square inch of braking surface. More than any car its size.
2. Heavier, stronger wheels. More bolts. Larger spokes. A 25% greater margin of safety than ever offered in a car this size.
3. Positive pressure chassis lubrication, using oil not grease. Avoids the mess of grease cups. Masters squeaks. Insures long life in all working chassis parts.
4. Improved valve mechanism—runs in bath of oil—is practically noiseless and will long outwear usual design. Experienced motorists particularly will approve.
5. Improved Rayfield carburetor. Increases gasoline mileage about 10%. Gives smoother, faster action in get-away with no sign of "fuss."
6. New position of gear-shift lever; now immediately under driver's hand—no reaching.
7. New type of spark and throttle control. Smart in appearance; safer; more convenient. A distinct improvement that appeals to all drivers.
8. New instrument board assembling instruments in oval panel. More convenient; quicker, easier vision day or night. Compact; neater in appearance.
9. New type non-glaring reflectors in headlights. Legal everywhere. Reduces annoyance for oncoming drivers. Provides wonderful illumination.
10. Thicker and more comfortable upholstery in open models. Easy spring action, soft cushion effect, a delight to women.
11. Deeper front seats with back tilted to give easier driving posture; longer leg room. A really restful, easy car to ride in.
12. New pattern velour upholstery on standard Sedan models. Makes a rich looking car.

In addition to these twelve improvements, and refinements too numerous to mention, you get in this NEW JEWETT SIX the same sparkling performance that won a nation. Its full 50 horsepower Paige-built motor fills the hood. It drives from 2 to 60 miles an hour in high. Picks up from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds, in high gear. Passes most any car on any hill.

High-pressure, hollow crankshaft oiling system—the same as used on the big Paige and other top-quality cars—insures long motor life. Two gallons of oil per minute are forced through all main and connecting rod bearings.

For a year and a half Jewett Six has been out-performing other cars. Jewett Six buyers are enthusiastic. Now—with 12 important improvements, and a host of refinements the NEW JEWETT SIX is far and away the most sensational value the market affords.

Drive one of these NEW JEWETT SIXES. Let your wife drive. All Jewett dealers are ready to show you. A telephone call will arrange a demonstration. Be among the first!

LONG GUARANTEE PROVES CHEAPEST

Two Year Service by Philco Battery Assured by Liberal Policy

"Back in the days of King Tut, probably the merchants waxed eloquent in a tongue long since forgotten, on a guarantee, we will say, that their caskets would last forever. I dare say a few casket makers of that period did make such an excellent casket that it endured down through the ages. King Tut's casket proved it," said Herman Psenner of Psenner Bros. Autoelectric Company, 601 South Brand.

"Applying this far-fetched simile to batteries, it is well for motorists to look into the concern offering an exceedingly long-timed battery guarantee. The better battery manufacturers are conservative in their guarantee. Take, for example, the guarantee of the Philco battery. There is a Philco battery with a guarantee of one year, a year and a half, and two years. The price of these batteries is naturally on a sliding scale. The cheapest in the long run is the two-year guarantee battery.

"Two years pass quickly. What if the two-year Philco guarantee battery breaks down for some reason or other? If such be the case, the car owner has paid for a definite number of months' battery service, so the dealer makes good the difference called for in the guarantee on a pro rata basis. In this case, the motorist enters into a contract for battery service at so much a month, and that's every cent it's going to cost him, whether the battery lasts four days or four years. If the latter be true the motorist paid for two years of battery service, the remaining two years is his reward in battery service for adhering to battery care and coming in for service.

"The guarantee clause on any merchandise resolves itself down to who is behind the guarantee. King Tut's casket maker built a product which surely could stand any guarantee clause, and the Philco battery guarantee is just as staunch as King Tut's casket."

Great Gain Is Made In L. A. Registration

That Los Angeles registrations are keeping pace with the percentage increase of new passenger car sales is evidenced by figures just released by the local bureau of the California Motor Vehicle department.

During May of this year the gain over the same months last year was 55 per cent. For June it was 65 per cent and for July 71 per cent.

Since February, the start of the fiscal year for California license plates, the local office has issued 282,305 plates to passenger cars. In the commercial car end of it there were 12,800 issued; motorcycles, 3280; trailers 1926.

Long-distance telephone service in Algeria is so slow that the mail is often preferred.

MAKE DELIVERIES ON COUPE-SEDAN

Trend Is Toward Closed Cars, Willys-Knight Sales Figures Indicate

For the first time since the Willys-Knight Coupe-Sedan was placed on the market the local agency, Smith-Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand, is able to make immediate deliveries on this popular car, according to Sales Manager Harry C. Kennedy. The tendency toward closed cars, Mr. Kennedy says, is shown by the fact that 60 per cent of the orders placed with Smith-Sloan, Inc., are for closed models.

The Willys-Knight Coupe-Sedan, Mr. Kennedy claims, owes its popularity and its superiority to the fact that it is easy to enter and to leave, there being no trick seats to tip over or to squeeze between, and the five passengers who can be easily accommodated can leave comfortably through the doors at both front and rear.

One of the latest sales made by Smith-Sloan, Inc., was that of a Willys-Knight touring car with a California top to Rev. Charles M. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church, who is immensely proud of the stylish appearance of his new car, which has disc wheels and every other feature possible that adds to the comfort of the motorist.

FORD OUTPUT IS 6,900 CARS DAILY

New High Mark Quadruples Company's Production During First Year

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 18.—Production of the Ford Motor Company has gone to 6,900 cars and trucks a day, according to figures furnished to Jesse E. Smith, local Ford agent, 125 West Colorado.

And the new production figure means that within one eight-hour working day domestic assembly branches of the company are at present turning out four times as many cars as were produced in the entire first year of the company's existence.

The new production record was set up Friday, July 27, when domestic output reached 6,907 cars and trucks, the Ford News announces. This is twenty-three better than the previous high day of June 30 when production was 6,884.

During its first year the company produced 1,708 cars, so last Friday's production was just seventy-five more than four times that figure and was 1,905 more than the first three years' output of the company, which totaled 5,002.

INSTALL SERVICE ON BRAKE LINING

Parker & Black Equip Shop To Do Factory Job on All Makes of Autos

Installation of a factory service on brake linings is announced by Parker & Black, 113 West Harvard street, who will have the new service in operation by the beginning of September, according to H. M. Parker. Defective brakes, Mr. Parker declares, are one of the most prolific causes of automobile accidents, and the new system that will be installed will work to minimize this fault that is so prevalent in so many cars.

New machinery will be installed to handle the work, and an expert will be employed to test and inspect brakes, and the firm will be able to do a complete factory job on any kind of car brought into the workshop. In addition the firm will maintain its battery service, on which it has built up such a strong connection.

Parker & Black have been notified by the chief of the department of Motor Vehicles at Sacramento that they have been appointed as official adjusters of headlights, under the new law that becomes effective on September 1, and all cars brought to them will be adjusted to conform to the new statute.

Washington, D. C., has the largest per capita street tree population of any American city.

COLORFUL AUTOS WIN POPULARITY

New Cleveland Models Gain Favor of Motorists, Says Distributor

Introduction of some new and startlingly attractive color combinations in the two-door sedan and the sport models are announced by Smith & Howe, 116 North Maryland, Glendale, distributors of the Cleveland Six.

Mr. Smith says the Cleveland company is furnishing these two models in new color and distinctive nickel trimmings to meet the persistent demand of the motoring public for added individuality in the modern motor car.

"The five-passenger sport model, which has always been supplied in beige brown, is still available in this color, with an optional choice of "blue devil blue" and colored khaki top as well as Spanish leather to correspond.

"Various colors are optional with the two-door sedan. They are: Simplex green, maroon, Buick red, Packard and Bavarian blue. With all these colors, excepting green, the body above the windows is in black; the running board and fenders are also in black. Any one of the colors makes a striking combination with the black running gear.

ILLINOIS PARTY REACH GLENDALE

Durant Touring Car Turns in Fine Performance On Trip from DeKalb

The performance of the Durant touring car over a stiff trip from DeKalb, Ill., to Glendale was related this week to A. R. Young, Durant agent, 126 South Orange, by Tillman Schlageter, who, with his three sons and two sisters-in-law, reached this city after driving through to Yellowstone Park, on west to Portland and down through Oregon, Northern California to Glendale. The only trouble during the entire run arose from two punctures that were caused by nails that were picked up on the road, and at San Francisco the valves were ground. Carrying a load of 1,400 pounds, the Durant averaged twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline and performed perfectly all the way, even over some of the roughest roads to be encountered anywhere.

Mr. Schlageter and his party are the guests here of Glen Holland, 409 Elk street, and today they plan to start for San Diego and Tia Juana for a brief visit.

Mr. Young has strengthened his selling force here by the addition of E. A. Patterson, in preparation for the immediate deliveries of extensive shipments that have been promised him, and he has received the assurance from the factory that all demands for cars will be filled promptly.

SPECIAL JEWETT SIX WINS CLIMB

Brinkerhoff Hill Contest Is Captured In Record Time at Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The Brinkerhoff hill climb, an annual event, won here July 28 by a Jewett Six, this year attracted many of the most famous automobile drivers in the United States with specially built motor cars.

The "Try to Pass It On a Hill" slogan of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company for its Jewett Six was given added impetus among dealers by the performance of their car. The fastest time on the hill was made by Edward Bachle in a Jewett Six.

Bachle not only defeated all drivers but set a new mark for the mile and four-tenths hill of one minute, thirty-one and three-fifths seconds. The former time was one minute, thirty-two and two-fifths seconds, made in 1922 by an eight-cylinder car selling at about $3,000. This was equaled by George Reynolds in a Jewett Six in a professional event earlier in the day.

Costly Cars Enter

The motor cars beaten by the Jewett Six included many of the most expensive makes with shortened wheelbase, special geared axles and high compression cylinder heads. One of the cars was driven by Ot Loeche. It was the same used by him when he won the Pike's Peak mountain climb a few years back.

The eight-cylinder special was built for the hill. It has a ninety-seven-inch wheelbase and won the 1922 climb. Bachle drove a Special Jewett Six with a standard wheelbase, standard axle, standard transmission and few variations from the standard production engine.

There were fifteen different makes of automobiles competing in the various events. Of these only a few sell for less than the Jewett.

In the classifications of the motor cars the Jewett with piston displacement of 249 cubic inches was forced into an event with cars not one of which sold for less than 100 per cent more than the Jewett. It was in this event that the Jewett driven by Reynolds carried off the honors and equaled the hill record.

Wins Free-For-All

In the free-for-all Bachle shattered this mark and beat his nearest competitor, Dave Lewis, by one-fifth of a second. Lewis was driving a popular make of automobile selling for nearly $2,000 and especially designed for the hill. Bachle was officially credited with crossing the finish line at seventy miles per hour.

The climb is officially known as Brinkerhoff hill. It is sixteen miles from Syracuse, but attracted visitors from every section of the state. Local newspapers variously estimated the crowd at from 15,000 to 25,000. All agreed that there were 2,000 automobiles on the scene.

All cars had flying starts, being given 300 feet in which to gather momentum before crossing the starting line at the base of the hill. Climbing steadily to a point about one-quarter mile from the finish post, the contestants struck an abrupt downgrade for about 100 feet, then entered a 10 per cent upgrade to the finish line.

Cups were presented to the winners of each event by the Syracuse newspapers and the automobile club. The newspapers laid particular stress on the fact that a six-cylinder car not only won, but those cars finishing anywhere near the winner were six or eight cylinder makes.

INTEREST SHOWN IN NASH MODELS

1924 Line Wins Admiration Of Motorists Who Have Inspected Cars

Interest in the new line of Nash models for 1924 is keen, according to officials of the Glendale Nash Sales, 112 South Maryland, especially in view of the nation-wide "smash" with which the new line was announced in newspapers and magazines all over the country. Every model in the entire line shows new beauties that have been added by the engineers and designers to make the 1924 Nash the outstanding value of the year, the local agents claim, and the opinions that have been expressed by those who have seen the new cars warmly endorse the claims that have been made for them and more than justifies the enthusiasm that the sales force of the agency feels in the prospects for the coming year's sales.

The factory officials proved themselves immune to superstition in getting out this complete new line of 1924 models, for there are exactly thirteen models, in the line. These are sixes, five-passnger touring, sport, roadster, five-pessenger sedan, four-door coupe, seven-passenger sedan, Victoria and seven-passenger touring, fours, carriole, five-passenger sedan, sport model, roadster and five-passenger touring, all on the 112-inch wheel base.

BUYS THIRD CAR FROM PACKER CO.

Road Builder Demands Auto To Stand Hard Driving Strain, He Says

Ray Houle of Burbank has got the Studebaker habit, as is evidenced by his purchase last week of his third touring car, and every time that he has bought a new car he has stepped up into a higher class. His first car was a Light Six, which he drove 20,000 miles in five months before trading it in and buying a Special Six. Last week he brought back the Special Six, with 49,454 miles showing on the speedometer, and turned it in on a Big Six.

The cost of maintenance on the Special Six over the entire 49,454 miles averaged a shade over three-tenths of a cent a mile, and the car, according to officials of the Packer Auto Company, Studebaker distributors, 245 South Brand, is still good for many thousand miles more.

Mr. Houle, who is a road contractor, depends on his car for transportation in all weathers and over all kinds of roads, especially many of the new roads that he is building, and he asserts that he needs a car that will stand the constant pounding that such work entails, and for this reason, he says, he pins his faith on the Studebaker.

Another Studebaker fan, William L. Winslow, 212 South Orange, showed up at the Packer salesrooms this week, bringing reports of the excellent behavior of a Special Six, 1920 model, which he had driven via Salt Lake, Yellowstone Park, the Banff-Windermere highway, and back through Washington and Oregon, over roads that were good except when it rained, but he explained that it rained most of the time. In spite of this fact, however, the 1920 Special Six maintained an uninterrupted performance all the way and never caused Mr. Winslow any trouble.

Mr. Winslow drove the entire distance himself and camped out nearly every night of the trip.

OWNERS TELL OF MAXWELL MILEAGE

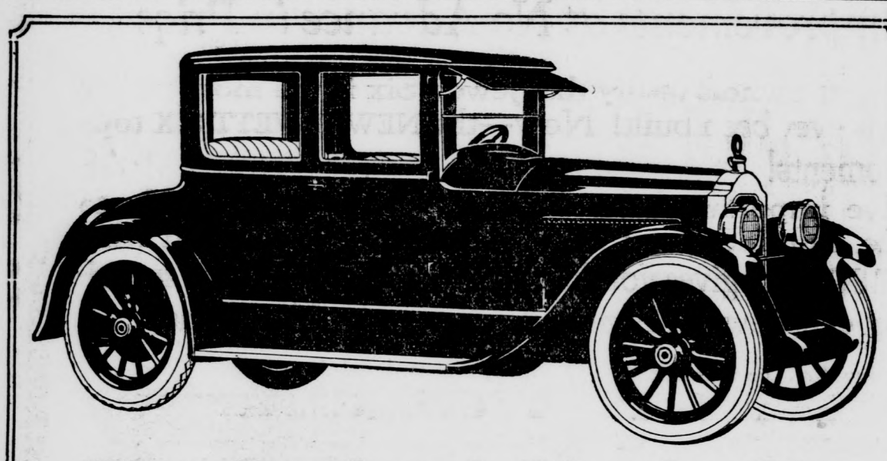
Over-Size Tires Stand Strain Of Long Distances on California Roads

"Maxwell owners come into our place bubbling over with enthusiasm for the wonderful tire mileage that they are getting on the Maxwell cars," said Lyman P. Clark, Maxwell-Chalmers dealer of the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street.

"Glendale traveling business men, whose veracity is unquestioned, make claims for tire mileage on the Maxwell car that seem almost phenomenal as compared with the past history of the automobile business. Any number of the late model Maxwells have been driven 25,000 miles on the original tires, and P. H. O'Neill of 1142 East California street, Glendale, came in our place of business this morning and claimed 36,000 miles on two of his original tires; the other two are now in process of retread after 32,000 miles, and Mr. O'Neill is a salesman traveling all over Southern California, principally in outlying towns where the roads, if any, are questionable; his motor car is his office. He also claims twenty-seven miles of gasoline to the gallon and an average of 1,200 miles to the gallon of oil, which compares favorably with the mileage received by the average Maxwell owner. Other Maxwell owners who have so enthusiastically claimed as high mileage are C. M. Young, 116 West Magnolia, Glendale; P. E. Maxwell, 920 West Doran street, Glendale; Willard Cleveland, 363 West Lomita, Glendale, and others too numerous to mention.

"This high mileage is due to the fact that the Maxwell is equipped with over-size tires, the car sets low, the springs being underslung, and, most important of all, the specially designed disc wheels which are a standard equipment on the Maxwell car," says Mr. Clark.

Tortoise shell eyeglass frames at one time in China were supposed to bring luck, according to their size.



The Packard Single Six

Anyone who can afford to buy a car priced at $1500 or more can better afford to own a Packard Single-Six.

Those qualities of performance you have always admired in the Single-Six can be enjoyed at a cost of operation and maintenance so low that ownership becomes an investment in economy.

These are statements that any Packard salesman can readily verify. We suggest, therefore, that you investigate the Single-Six before you try to content yourself with a second-choice car.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Wayland Byers runs the confectionery store in Minden. He leans forward, just a little, when he walks so that his long apron all but trips him, and he is always politely attentive. The casual observer would put him down right away as a pleasant sort who was bound to succeed because of his anxiety to please.

Since he had come to Minden ten years before Wayland Byers had been accepted without comment. He was quiet, minded his own affairs, and, except in the way of business, made few friends. Maud Agnew was the only one who suspected this venture as storekeeper was his first and that a story lay behind his advent in the little city.

Maud went to work in the store on the day it opened, saw through his pretence of familiarity with the business, and pulled him through. Wayland did not thank her. Instead, he gave her a salary equal to that which he took for himself and let her know it would rise with the growth of trade. She became a partner and the only one in town who knew anything of the silent man. And yet, she often asked herself, how much did she know?

"I have wondered why you came here to open a candy store," the young woman gave in to her curiosity one evening just before the closing hour, when they were alone in the place. "And I am wondering why you do not take a more prominent part in the activities of the town. It is not because you are not smart enough—not because you would not be popular if you wished."

When Wayland Byers was a young man he stepped out of college and into the hands of a group of prosperous relatives. The world was a place in which large sums of money were to be made, he was told, and the making of it depended largely upon a man's appearance and manner. Wayland was handsome and aggressive. More than that, he was courteous and a good talker. His relatives proposed that he become a member of an investment company, gave him a title and an office, and put him to work.

The young man found the work surprisingly easy. He was almost ashamed to take his salary, for all he seemed to do was put in a daily appearance at the office, sign papers as treasurer of the company, finger his blotter and pens for a while and then leave for a game of golf. He wished he knew something about incorporation, deeds, mortgages, escrows and other things which came so easily from the lips of the rest. But when he protested he was met with a laugh.

"You can't learn all at once," they said. "You are doing very well, and so long as we don't complain you need not worry."

And he was doing well for the company. Wayland had money and position and his name was one to bring confidence and customers. He continued to sign papers, now and then, and tried to make himself believe he was an important member of the firm.

The first time he was subpoenaed as a witness Wayland was concerned. There were so many questions he did not understand and these answers he had been primed to deliver, while they were true of course, came with difficulty. The company won the suit. More followed and Wayland Byers suddenly realized he was an officer or director of a number of concerns involved in legal disputes.

"Can it be possible you don't know?" an attorney thundered at him during one of these cases. "If so, there is more than one reason for calling them dummy directors."

Then Wayland Byers weakened, forgot his golf and the other distractions his easy job had made possible, and sought to discover just what was his place in the business world. Through no conscious act of his own, because of his trust in others, he had been made a dummy director in several concerns. He forced the issue, insisted on being informed and, over night, lost the assurance and even the youth which had been his.

"I am the goat, the dummy, the dumbbell," said Wayland Byers as he walked home from the meeting. He still tried to make himself believe the others were honest, but now he scrutinized papers before he signed them, and spent all of his working hours in the office. All of the time he studied the affairs of the company, mastered the details and grew older and more silent.

"Now that you know just as much about it as we do," it was one of the older men who spoke, "how about putting in your money to expand our field?" He outlined a program which promised large return. Wayland promised an answer in the morning.

When it came it was his resignation from the company. To those who had lost in other deals he sent checks and was surprised that he had a small amount left. It was enough, anyhow, to buy the store in Minden.

"And so you see," he said to Maud, "that's what kind of a man I am, a dummy. I'm glad you know, even if it means a loss of any respect you may have had for me."

She was smiling a little sadly.

"A dummy," he repeated. "That is what I call myself and what you will think of me now."

"There are dummies in bridge," said Maud softly, "and sometimes a girl has one for a partner.

"A business partner, Maud?"

"No—or—that is for you to say!"

A little later a happy girl laughed. "What will Minden say? This is the latest the store has ever stayed open!"

"When it finds out," he answered, "it will say I am a lucky man."

DIVERSE AND DISTINCTIVE MODELS

The straight-line silhouette lends tiself appealingly to the wool crepes, the ratines and eponges. The model to the left is in gray, trimmed with drawn-work, and about the hips. The round neck is finished with a narrow standing collar of self-material, caught at the front with a ribbon bow. Ribbon also forms the side sashes. Medium size requires 4 yards 36-inch material and 5 yards of ribbon.

Wool crepe, trimmed with colorful braid, is used for the second model, designed for women of youthful figure and tastes. The deep girdle is plaited, and the single panel at the left side falls several inches below the skirt. Bias folds of self-material finish the short sleeves and the collarless neck. Medium size requires 5 yards 36-inch material.

Mirst Model—Pictorial Review Dress No. 1660. Sizes, 16 to 20 years, and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model—Dress No. 1600. Sizes, 16 to 20 years, and 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

This afternoon I've been reading a pamphlet on treating superfluous hair. It's a most discouraging pamphlet; it doesn't seem to think much of any form of treatment. Depilatories which contain anything strong enough to destroy the hair will hurt the skin, it says, and there I thoroughly agree with it.

If depilatory powder is ever used, it should be left on only long enough to cut off the hair at the surface of the skin, and washed away before the skin is at all irritated. But this requires careful attention, for some skins are much more sensitive than others.

The X-ray treatment which destroys the hair is said also to destroy the glands of the skin. Electrolysis, or the electric needle treatment, destroys only the root of the hair and is permanent in effect and harmless. But there is often a return of from 10 to 50 per cent of the hairs, so the face has to be gone over several times. It is a slow and costly treatment and should be done by an expert so there will be no scars.

Hair on the legs or under the armpits should be shaved off. Fine hair on the upper lip should be treated with a mixture of fresh peroxide of hydrogen and ammonia. I have found a half-and-half mixture effective. Put it on with absorbent cotton and make it fresh every time. This bleaches the hair and finally discourages its growth.

The pamphlet I have been reading says not to use tweezers for the large hairs, but here I differ with it. You can use tweezers for coarse hairs, but touch the spot at once with peroxide of hydrogen. Always beware of remedies that promise too much.

G. B. P.: As your teeth retained this yellowish tint even after the professional cleaning it must be natural and any bleaching of them would probably not be becoming to you, in addition to which it might injure the enamel.

Men: Diluted witch hazel or any good toilet water will afford temporary relief from an oily skin; but to overcome it one must put the system in a healthy condition. The trouble usually comes from poor elimination, or sluggish digestion. Try drinking plenty of water, and go on a diet.

Dorothy A. E.: Your pimples are probably only the result of a temporary condition; if you do not aggravate it by eating too many sweets and other very rich food, you will have a clear skin again in a short time. Many growing girls, and boys too, are troubled this way for a short time in their teens.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

TWO PUZZLES

In a most delightful letter a Letter Friend puts a puzzle up to me.

I've got to hand it on to you, so I will let you share the letter. Here it is:

"In one of your latest letters you speak of having to dig in your garden, I think it was, put away the clean clothes, etc., before you could sit down and enjoy for a little while your new book, or anticipated pleasure.

Woman's Work

"So that makes me think I will just speak of something in the world that is rather a puzzle—this having always something to do, and never getting it done. That's me. Mind you, I don't say it's you.

"When I was small I was educated to feel that one must work first, then play. Now my little jobs seen so endless that the only way I can possibly 'play' is to steal my play. I mean, for instance, last Saturday afternoon. I'm in a busy office. Have one Saturday afternoon in two weeks. I didn't get out until about 3:30. I knew I had a lot of housework to do. I just hated to take that rare little half holiday (and go home and sweep floors. Old-fashioned ideas would have dictated for me to go and do my work and then go to the good moving picture I had longed to see. I knew if I did go home first I'd never achieve the picture. So I stole into the dark, airy place in luxury. Took off my hat, leaned back and was in paradise two hours. Then I went home like a bird and did my cleaning, feeling that I'd had my play-time and was bettered by it.

"I once told a dear, beloved, gracious woman my little trouble, of never being done with odd-jobs. She surprised me by saying: 'Neither am I through with them. But John says he thinks it is my duty to myself (and him) to, after a certain time, "sit down!"'

Those Miracle Workers

"Some people do get through with their work and do it perfectly, also. I suppose that is the real, old-fashioned 'efficiency'—no, I mean 'New England faculty.'

"I once knew a young woman who was mother to six or seven children. She had a houseful of company for a summer day. 'Do bring out your sewing,' a kind relation begged. 'I want to help you.' 'Why, it's all done,' said the little mother, smoothing down an immaculate apron comfortably.

"When I go on a Sunday trolley ride, I see thousands sitting on piazzas, on the grass, in hammocks. They don't have a book in hand, nor a letter-pad—they are just 'setting.' Are all their jobs done up, every last thing done? Or, dreadful thought, have they everything to do, and are they not doing one blamed thing but 'sitting'?"

My Letter Friend exactly defined her puzzle, but I take it she really has two.

Steal It If You Have To

First, should one try to get all the odd jobs of life thoroughly done before one plays, even if that means crowding out play-time altogether?

Second, how do those wonderful people manage who seem to have a tremendous lot to do and yet seem to get it all done and have more leisure time than the rest of us?

I can answer the first. No, one shouldn't.

Because if one did, one would not be happy. And if one were unhappy, one would be unliveable. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. Steal your play-time if you have to, but get some some way.

But the second trumps me. It is one of the puzzles of my own life. I wish some mother of five or six who does her own work and yet has her house in order and is sitting on her porch in a clean dress in the afternoon, would tell me how that modern miracle is performed, while her neighbor with one baby is still toiling at unfinished jobs.

Diet and Health

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Importance Notice—

Readers of this column who address inqueries to Dr. Peters must not expect replies unless they are willing to comply with the simple rules of the department. Stamped envelopes enclosed with inqueries for replies must be self-addressed.

It is impossible for Dr. Peters to take time to address several hundred envelopes each day. Furthermore, it is often impossible to make sure of the correct spelling of your names; a great many replies have recently been returned undelivered because of this.

Write your name, street number, city and state in full on an envelope, stamp it and enclose it with your inquiry. Otherwise, it will be impossible for Dr. Peters to consider your request for information.—The Editor.

Mrs. M.—Your kidneys may be affected from the excessive overeating which you say you do, and it is probable that the swelling in your feet is due to that. You have gained 50 pounds in the last three years and still are gaining, you tell me. As one pound of fat has 4,000 calories, that means you have eaten 50 times 4000, or 200,000 calories in three years in excess of what you need. Dividing that number by the number of days in three years, will give you the number of calories you have overeaten daily. According to my arithmetic, that would be about 200 calories a day.

Now 200 calories is not so very much. You have probably eaten two slices of bread or a couple pats of butter or two chocolate creams, or perhaps you have just gotten the 200 calories in tastes of things while you were cooking. But how it did mount up in three years! Begin now to eat 1000 calories a day less than you need, and you will reduce approximately ¼ pound a day of excess fat. I advise the three-day liquid diet, not averaging over 500 to 600 calories a day to start. This shrinks your stomach—the internal one, and the external one, too—and takes away your abnormal craving for food. However, this three-day shrinking-stomach party is not absolutely necessary, so don't let it deter you from starting. The booklet on reducing has been sent. Let us hear from you how you get along?

Mrs. T.:—You should see a skin specialist for your trouble. It sounds like hives, but I can not say of course. Until you can see a specialist, clear our your intestinal tract with a good dose of castor oil, then go on a milk and shredded wheat diet for three or four days, or an exclusive fruit diet.

In any skin disorder—or any other disorder, as far as that is concerned—special attention must be paid to the diet to see that it is balanced in every way, and one must make sure that the elimination is good. We have an article on balanced diet which you may have, by following the rules stated above.

Mrs. C. J.:—So, your husband has gained 14 lbs. by following our directions. That's certainly encouraging, isn't it? The letters from the T. T. T's are coming in pretty rapidly now.

Where there is edema (that is swelling of the tissues due to an excess retention of water), we usually suspect disorders of the heart, kidneys or liver. In any of these conditions, of course, you should be under the personal supervision of a competent physician.

Usually, physicians advise no salt in these cases—no salt even in the cooking of foods—until the edema goes down, and even then salt should be taken in great moderation. The minimum of protein should be taken, so that will mean very little meat, fish, eggs and cheese. All condiments and stimulating foods must be omitted. The bowels should have strict attention.

If the inclusion of a goodly amount of vegetables, especially the green leaf vegetables and fruits, does not cause a free evacuation every day, then granulated agar (the non-medicated kind, which you will have to buy in the drug store), or liquid petrolatum which is put up under different trade names, or bran, will have to be added to the diet and taken in sufficient quantities to produce results.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Nowadays each mail brings me a letter or two concerning the laundry problem. "I have so few summer dresses that I cannot wait to have them washed by a professional laundress or laundry," say some of these letters; and the writers then proceed to ask me how to wash the various materials at home. I believe that the following information may be appreciated by many of my readers:

To Launder an Organdie Dress: If the dress has never before been washed you must set the color by soaking it in a sugar-of-lead solution. To make this buy five cents' worth of sugar-of-lead crystals from a drug store (it is poisonous, so keep it out of the reach of children and pets) and dissolve these crystals in a pailful of cold water; let the garment soak in this for thirty minutes, then drip till dry in a shady spot, before you wash it. Wash as usual, in a mild white soap. If the color has faded in spite of the attempt to set it, the only thing you can do is to buy one of the cold-water tint-dyes on the market and tint it back to its former shade by following the directions on the box. Then stiffen the dress by wringing it out of cold water which contains a little starch-powder (a lump of dry starch the size of a baseball should be used for a gallon of water; do not boil it—just make the water cloudy with this starch). If the dress is a dark color which would be white-streaked by the use of this starch-water, use gum-arabic to stiffen it, as follows:

Gum Arabic Solution for Stiffening Dark-Colored Sheer Dresses: Buy a lump of gum arabic the size of an egg and dissolve this in a gallon of cold water. Dip the dress in this, wring it out, wrap it in a turkish towel for thirty minutes, then press carefully.

To Launder a Gingham Dress: Set the colors (blue, pink and lavender respond well to the sugar-of-lead color-setting solution), then dry, wash as usual, dip in the cold-water starch described above, and dry out of the sunshine. Sprinkle and iron.

White Dresses: Heavy white materials, such as linen, gabardine, pique, etcetera, are best starched stiffly, using the ordinary boiled starch. But surf-satin skirts are supposed to be limp and soft, so these should receive only the cold-water starching described above. Sheer white materials, also, need only cold-water starch.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Timely Views of World Topics

"INDUSTRIES SHOULD BE PREPARED AT ALL TIMES FOR WAR"

An earnest plea for industrial preparedness to save countless lives and billions of dollars in war was made recently by Grovesnor B. Clarkson, former director of the United States council of national defense. War today, according to Clarkson, demands that entire nations and not just armies enter the conflict. On the modern scale, he said, war is waged by science, not guesswork and sentiment, and is a matter of factories, mines and labor; of coal and wheat and of transportation and civil morale.

G B CLARKSON

In the last war, Clarkson said, Krupp and the steel masters of Germany were pitted against the steel captains of America. But in spite of the fact, he declared, that America was the last reservoir of supply not only for herself but for the allied and associated nations, freight piled up at the ocean terminals until trains no longer could reach them and had to discharge their loads at times thirty miles away.

"None of us want war again," Clarkson continued. "But this has always been a world of wars, and we have always been asleep when war came. Our refusal to prepare has always cost us untold lives and untold millions of dollars.

"Nowadays reasonable preparedness has become even more vital. We are helpless unless we know how to get raw materials and how to put them into finished shape, and we are even more helpless if we don't get them forehandedly.

"Sulphuric acid for high explosives and the like expresses the price of victory just as much as does the efficient fighting man. A soldier can be trained in from six months to a year. Industrial preparedness, which has no end to its detail, means doing the job long before war comes. It can't be done when the hour strikes, unless you want tragedy and billions of dollars wasted. And don't forget that industries today are best prepared for peace when they are best prepared for war. There is no particular difference in the kind of efficiency required.

"Finally, as the war industries board long ago recommended, in another war labor and dollars must be conscripted as well as troops. That must be done not only to get the whole nation on the job, but to see to it that all of those at home do their equal share with those shedding their blood at the front.

"Never lose sight of the fact that from now on war is a contest of all persons and all things, and that the armies of industry bear an equal responsibility with the armies in the field."

Iron kettles for out-of-door cooking are almost universally used in the Haiti rural districts.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 18.—Uncertainty, depression, uneasiness, like a fog blotting out the sunshine of other days, have settled over China.

What will happen next is the question in every mind. Americans who backed China during the world war and the Washington conference are silent. A year or two ago every American in the Far East was a booster.

Today there is a decided change of heart.

What has caused this?

Long before the Washington conference China was skidding. Since then, encouraged by the all-too-liberal promises of the conference (which when made we believed would help China get on her feet), corrupt officials have had a debauch of squandering. It has been an orgy of public theft, of defaulted obligations, of waste.

A week before the Chinese New Year in February of this year I was invited to the home of a very wealthy Chinese family on the night of the burning of the Kitchen God.

The servants built a straw fire. A group of priests began chanting a weird dirge.

The cook brought out the paper Kitchen God. As we watched him burn and his ashes flutter away, the old grandmother began to talk.

"In a week the New Year will be celebrated," she said, "but I sorrow for the trouble it will bring?"

Trouble—more trouble? The foreigners, ever hopeful, were trying to believe that with the new year conditions must improve.

"No," she replied sadly, "the new year marks the close of a cycle. In China time is divided into cycles of sixty years and the last year of every cycle is a year of disaster, strife and turmoil.

"During this year (1923) it will be dangerous to travel in China. No farmer will buy a piece of land. No merchant will expand his business or business man make serious investments.

"Instead of conditions growing better I expect to see them grow steadily worse."

At the time I thought that this slim quiet-voiced old lady, a patrician from her smoothly coiled hair, tapering hands and tiny "Golden Lily" feet, must be mistaken.

Business was so bad in 1922 that many leading hongs had been forced to retrench in every way possible. Smaller organizations had been forced to close and the men employed had taken their families and sailed for home.

How many friends were sailing?

Acquaintances, who had been stationed in the outports, were passing through Shanghai on their way to America. Their lives had been endangered by the great hordes of desperate armed robbers, kidnaping and looting. Even the missionaries were being forced to close their stations. Our friends mean everything to us in China.

When after a series of farewell dinner parties we see them waving farewell as the liner bound for San Francisco heads down the muddy Whang-poo our hearts ache.

Even now I can hear the old grandmother saying: "This is to be a year of death, of war, of famine, of ill-omen in China and I wish it were over."

This is indeed a year of ill-omen.

Li Yuan Hung has been expelled. Yes, again, China is drifting along without a president, and without a cabinet and without a parliament. There is no power or organization to which business can turn. Let the firm that takes the chance of a government contract whistle for its cash. This seems to be the general attitude.

Wave after wave of disaster keeps pounding against the rudderless republic.

Great bands of armed robbers descend on villages, killing, kidnaping, anti-foreign and anti-Christian movements (small it is true) have started. Missionaries are being kidnaped in the interior. An American official was brutally shot and killed. War lords are enlisting men for another civil war.

America believes in China and, true to her convictions, has watched over the infancy of the new republic, and even now is not willing to believe that this great country of 400,000,000 and fifty centuries of history is only an idol with feet of clay.

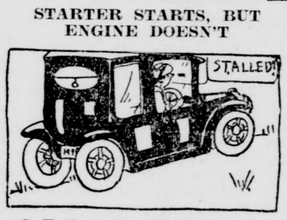
ELECTRICAL INSPECTION SERVICE

The Electrical Maintenance of a Car Is More Puzzling Than Its Mechanical Maintenance

It is simply wonderful what the motor car has done for the public at large in making it familiar with mechanical principles and constructions that, previous to its advent, were understood by professional mechanics alone and were mysterious to the average man and woman. Practically everyone now understands more or less about gears, pistons, shafts and all the rest of the complicated mechanism that is in an automobile. They have had ample time to do so in the last twenty-five years. But when, about ten years ago, complete miniature electric light and power plants, with storage batteries, began to be installed on cars, in place of the simple magneto, which had previously constituted the entire electrical equipment, a new problem was put up to the public, which it has not had time to master. Even now there is a lack of familiar knowledge with automotive electrical equipment, due partly to the fact that the force involved therein does not act in the visible and obvious manner that mechanical force does. Electrical devices require more delicate adjustment than mechanical ones and electrical defects cause more sudden and decided failures of car operation than do ordinary mechanical derangements. A car will keep running with leaky valves, but it will not with a leaky coil or loose electrical connections. Electrical troubles can, however, be more certainly and easily forestalled than mechanical difficulties, partly because all electrical apparatus is open to ready inspection, while the exposure of mechanical parts requires extensive and expensive disassembling. In view of the above facts, it is suggested that motorists who are not electrically versed, have periodic inspections made of their car's electrical systems, at electrical service stations, for the purpose of forestalling failures in operation. Such inspections are inexpensive, because of the ready accessibility of all devices involved and because special testing apparatus is available to facilitate them and include such points as tightness of connections, cleanness and adjustment of contact points, condition of commutators and brushes, integrity of insulation and many other features.

STARTER STARTS, BUT ENGINE DOESN'T



C. E. J. writes. When I step on the starting button, the engine of my Ford will not start, although the battery is more than half charged and the starting motor turns the engine over all right. Can you tell me what the matter is?

Answer: You do not state whether you can start the engine with the hand-crank, using magneto-ignition. If you can, it would seem that the starter-motor does not turn the engine over quite fast enough and you had better have the battery fully charged. If you cannot start by hand-cranking, it may be that the magneto needs recharging or other attention or that the choker does not close tightly enough to give you the required rich mixture. If you can hand-crank the engine, on battery ignition, we suspect that its failure to be started by the starter is that the battery voltage falls off too much, when supplying starting current to operate the ignition system successfully. Try putting a little gasoline into each cylinder through its spark-plug hole and see if the starter will then work. If it does you better examine your choker and see if gasoline is reaching your carburetor properly. If it does not, there is some ignition trouble.

SWITCH FOR "KILLING" GENERATOR

F. E. A. writes: Two cells of my battery test 1300 and the other one 1250. When running at twenty-five miles per hour, the ammeter needle vibrates from 12 to 20 amps. My bulbs burn out continually. Can I prevent trouble from overcharging by grounding the generator terminal during daylight runs, making use of a three-point switch, the arm of which is connected to the generator terminal, one point to ground and the other point to the battery wire?

Answer: This switch arrangement should prove very effective, although you will have to be careful not to leave the generator grounded too much of the time and thus let your battery discharge. The fluctuation of your charging current, to which you refer, indicates to us that there is an unreliable contact in the charging circuit. We believe that the charging current of your generator could profitably be somewhat reduced, as 20 amperes seems to us rather high for summer requirements. You had better remove the cause of the fluctuation of the charging curret, as this may cause voltage rises, which may be partly responsible for the burning out of your bulbs.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SOAP

The Woozie Wolf tiptoed softly into the den of the Fuzzy Fox. The Fox was gnawing a hard, dried bone and trying to make believe it was a bit of strawberry shortcake.

"If you will come with me," whispered the Wolf, "I will show you where to get something better to eat than dried bones."

"Where?" snarled the Fox.

"Off Uncle Wiggily's ears," answered the Wolf. "Wouldn't you like some nibbles off his ears?"

"Indeed I should like them," spoke the Fox. "But you know as well as I do that we have tried many times to catch that rabbit uncle, but we never do."

"We shall get him this time," said the Wolf, "never fear."

"How?" asked the Fox, pricking up his ears.

"This," said the Wolf in a whisper, "is Saturday."

"Well, I know it," spoke the Fox. "What of it? Saturday comes once a week. Tonight it will be Saturday night and——"

"That's just it!" interrupted the Wolf. "Saturday night—bath night! Uncle Wiggily is sure to take a bath, just as sure as Nurse Jane goes to the movies."

"Well, let Uncle Wiggily take his Saturday night bath, if he likes," snarled the Fox. "Let Nurse Jane go to the movies! I don't see how that is going to give me any ears to nibble!"

"Ah, that's just it!" whispered the Wolf. "Now, while Uncle Wiggily is in his bathtub we'll steal up and, before he knows it, we'll have his ears. He can't get out of the bathtub fast enough to run away from us. Will you come?"

The Fox thought it over for a minute.

"I'll come," he said. "But if that rabbit fools us—well, it will be a sad night for me."

"Me, also," growled the Wolf, so the two bad chaps set out to catch Uncle Wiggily in the bathtub and nibble his ears.

It was almost dark when the Fox and Wolf drew near to the hollow stump bungalow where Uncle Wiggily lived. Nurse Jane had gone to the moving pictures, as she often did, and the rabbit gentleman was up in the bathroom.

"See, I told you he was there," whispered the Wolf, pointing out the light on the curtain. "Now we'll slip upstairs and get him before he has a chance to leap from the tub."

Truly enough, Uncle Wiggily was in the tub. He sank down in the warm water and reached for the cake of soap, wetting it so it would froth up into a creamy lather.

"It's fine to be clean," thought the bunny, when, all of a sudden, he heard a noise in the downstairs room.

"Is that you coming back, Nurse Jane?" he asked, for he had left the bathroom door open.

There was no answer, but Uncle Wiggily heard footsteps come pattering up the stairs.

"Who is there?" he asked, and his pink nose began to twinkle a bit on one side, for he was frightened. "Who is there?" he cried.

"We are!" growled the Wolf, and then he and the Fox poked their heads in the open door. "We are here and we want your ears!" said the Wolf. "We want to nibble your ears!"

Uncle Wiggily said nothing for a moment. In his paw he held the cake of soap that he had just dipped into the water. The soap was very slippery. Uncle Wiggily felt it slipping from his paw.

"Oh " said the bunny at last, "you want to nibble my ears, do you? Well, let us see what happens!"

With that Uncle Wiggily gave the soap a hard squeeze. It shot out of his paw and toward the Wolf. The Wolf ducked his head so the soap wouldn't hit him in the face. Then the soap fell to the floor, making a slippery streak across the oilcloth.

A moment later the soap slipped downstairs, leaving a slippery trail. The Wolf, when he dodged back, stepped on the slippery, soap place. Down the stairs went the Wolf, sliding on the soap, bumpity bump. And as he fell the Wolf caught hold of the Fox and pulled him down the slippery stairs, bumpity bump.

"Bang!" the two bad chaps landed at the foot of the stairs.

"Are you coming up again?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "If you are, bring the soap with you!"

"We aren't coming!" howled the Fox and Wolf, and, lame and sore, they limped away. So they didn't get any ears that time, and the Fox said, "I told you so!"

After a while Uncle Wiggily found more soap and finished taking his bath. And how he laughed when he thought of the Fox and Wolf sliding, bumping and falling downstairs. But it served them right.

And if the chocolate cake doesn't put talcum powder on to make itself look white like a loaf of bread, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the coaster.

BILLY WHISKERS

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"And as I was a tellin' me old man," said Mrs. McDermott to her neighbor, after the fight of Billy and the boys, "it was the first time thim measly Hooligans has found their match. But moind what I'm tellin' ye, they'll niver rest until they have the life of that goat, they do be so revengeful!"

"Nannie," said Billy, "there is going to be trouble for us as long as we stay here with those boys. They are a mean lot. Anyone can see that. So be on your guard when even one of them is in sight, for they will do you a sneaking, underhanded trick whenever they have the chance."

Just before Mr. McDermott went to bed that night he shut Billy and Nannie in the old shed just back of the kitchen, for fear the Hooligan gang might do them some harm.

It was about 12:30 that night and everything was quiet in Shanty Town, with a pale moon dodging in and out of floating, silvery clouds, when Mr. McDermott was awakened from a dream of luxury, for he was riding in a seven-passenger touring car, smoking 25-cent cigars, with a party of friends. A terrible crash came which awakened him suddenly. At first he thought the auto had blown up, but the next instant came a repetition of the noise which brought him to his senses, and he found instead of being in an accident of a touring car that it was a noise coming from his own shed.

"Whatever can it be! It is thim blamed Hooligans afther me goats, that's what it is! I'll fix 'em!" And, so saying, he grabbed up a big blunderbuss that stood behind the bedroom door, and cautiously tiptoed through the kitchen toward the shed.

"Rattlety bang, bang, bang, bang!" went a terrific noise as a tin washtub fell off its nail. The next instant the kitchen door flew open and a big white goat charged at him through the open door.

(What can the matter be now?)

To the south of Atlanta, not far from the federal penitentiary, there is a statue that was erected where a famous confederate leader fell. On each side of the statue there is a group of cannon balls.

A young thing accompanied by her grandfather was observing where the great man fell. The old gentleman said solemnly:

"And this is where the great colonel fell."

The girl's answer was quick: "No wonder, I almost tripped over it myself!"—Yellow Jacket (Georgia Tech).

One thing that I always feel like thanking the weather bureau for is its optimism in hot weather. It is always cheerful and looks on the bright side. The other day I was downtown and I had an idea the weather was warm. I consulted a reliable thermometer which hung on a public building, and it registered 103. It was a great satisfaction to find that I had been right. It was hot. But when I got home and picked up the evening paper I found that the weather bureau's official bulletin took a decidedly cool view of the situation. It gave the maximum of heat as 86. Unfortunately we cannot all hang around the weather office. If we could, how pleasant it would be. At any rate, the bureau is doing all it can to make us cool, although it cannot really wipe out that difference of twenty degrees between its observation office and the street.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and I have a sister eighteen. My parents do not seem to love me, but they love my sister and do everything for her. She is allowed to have a sweetheart and go out evenings and have a good time and they buy her all of the nice clothes.

About two years ago we had to do dishes together. We also helped mother with the housework, but now my sister gets out of it all the time and I am the one who has to help.

When my sister asks for money or new clothes my father and mother always think she ought to have them, but when I want anything like that I can't have it. Most of my clothes are things which my sister won't wear any longer.

Do you think it is fair that my parents should show so much partiality? What can I do to make them think kinder of me?

UNLOVED.

Really, my dear little girl, you are not as abused as you think you are, but instead are living the life which is natural for a little sister. You admit that two years ago your sister had to do things around the house. Now that she is older and of an age to enjoy herself with young people, your parents are more lenient with her and give her privileges which she was not permitted to enjoy two years ago.

You probably seem more like a little girl to your parents than you really are, while they think of your sister as quite a young lady. One of these days she will fall in love and some young man will take her away from the home. Then, if not sooner, you will come into your own and your parents will regard you as grown up and entitled to the privileges of a young lady.

To help your mother with the work will not hurt you at all, and even if your sister gets out of doing her part, try not to be resentful because you have to help. Within a year or two your parents will realize that you are old enough to have pleasures with young people, too, and then you will not be kept at home merely for the work you do. It is natural, if not quite fair, that you should have to wear out the clothing which your older sister discards; such is very often the fate of the younger sister.

You can either be a happy or miserable little girl and everything depends on your attitude toward life and the way in which you accept the conditions of your life. You certainly have much more to make you happy than many girls and you ought to be thankful for your blessings.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man for several months and have liked him very much. He seemed to like me, too, and has done everything he could to give me a good time.

Sunday night he came to see me and just in fun I teased him about another girl he went to see and I pretended I was angry about it. I go with another fellow, too, and so I had no right to be angry. I was just fooling to see what he would do.

He got angry and said he would not have strings tied to him by any girl. He left early and he didn't say he was coming back again. I told him I was just joking, but he wouldn't believe me then.

What can I do now? I hate to lose his friendship. WORRIED.

There is nothing for you to do. Perhaps if you let the boy go and pay no attention to his wrath he will soon get over it and will come back of his own accord. You teased him about a dangerous subject and now you will have to stand the consequences.

Peter B. Kyne, who is going to leave California to live in New York, tells of a famous old "desert rat" who had been instigator of many booms around Tonopah in the old days. He finally struck it rich and went to New York for his first visit.

He remained for several weeks, put up at the Waldorf and saw the sights, says the Atlanta Constitution. When he returned to Tonopah several old settlers asked him what he thought of the metropolis.

"Well," he said, "it looks to me like it was going to be a permanent camp."

A lady was entertaining her daughter's caller who was just back from a summer outing. The conversation had been somewhat spasmodic and finally she decided to try him on some of the new books.

"Have you read 'Freckles,' Mr. Johnson?" she ventured.

"No, ma'am," he stammered, blushing, "mine are the brown kind."—Medley (N. Y. U.).

EGYPTIAN TEMPLE TO BE OPENED SUNDAY; PUBLIC INVITED TO INSPECTION

Colorful and Unique Structure On Verdugo Road Will Draw Crowds Sunday; Many Features In Its Decorations

SUNDAY, August 19 will be "open house" day at the Rossmoyne Egyptian temple on North Verdugo road in the most historic section of the city of Glendale. It is an unusual structure which should attract large attention. Haddock-Nibley Company, the owners and developers of Rossmoyne, invite everyone to motor north on Verdugo road from Glendale, or north on Glendale avenue into Verdngo road, and stop at the temple, tomorrow, Sunday.

The designer is J. S.. Schultz of 102 West California avenue, an artist who is thoroughly conversant with Egyptian lore and has given to this work the result of years of study and research.

The main temple sets back from the road, rising solidly, with a massive effect, gained by heavy columns and friezes. Egyptian archways span the curving drive at either entrance.

Story Is Told

Temple and archways are frescoed with Egyptian hieroplyphics telling, in the language of the Pharaohs, the story of Rossmoyne, of Southeastern California and of Glendale, from early Spanish days to the present.

The main building contains a reception room, main office, private office, men's rest room, women's rest room; the decorations and furniture of each have been designed especially to fit that particular interior.

The reception room, giving off the entrance is finished in gold tones with blue and red predominating, an arch swung over the main door, richly ornamented and bearing a freize of figures in silhouette, representing the treasures of California, an arc or treasure chest in center.

The women's rest room may well be described in detail, as an indication of the fidelity with which Mr. Schultz has carried out his Egyptian motif.

The color scheme of this room is in gold and blue, relieved with tones of orange and red. Along the ceiling edge runs a green spiked fret, edged in gold, a symbol of protection. Just below this, along the top of the side walls, runs a frieze of lotus buds. The walls themselves are in mottled blue and gray, suggestive of aged granite, and are richly decorated.

On the wall to the right of the entrance is a gorgeous barge of old Egypt, shown floating majestically down the Nile, manned by a sleek brown crew and topped by a wondrous sail decorated with symbols of the ancient god of good, guarding the craft from mishap.

Below this panel runs a dado of conventionalized lotus flowers on long stems, topped with a narrow green fret of curling waves, representing the waters of the Nile, on which rides the barge.

Along the floor panel, directly below the stem ends of the lotus flowers, runs a narrow blue fret, representing waters of the marshes where the sacred lilies grow.

Of Many Colors

The concrete floor is divided into numerous squares of divers colors. On the door panel is a splendid representation of the queen of Rameses III, bidding welcome, and above the door heading is a winged disc with the monogram "H-N" substituted for the customary sun disc.

The entire room has been gone over with several coats of ageing glaze, giving a final effect of the immense antiquity of the period represented.

The grounds of this magnificent temple are being laid out in conformity with the structure itself, Mr. Schultz states, the idea being to create the impression that a true palace of kings in ancient Egypt was not more magnificent than this administration building

Property Act Now In Effect In This State

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18.—California's new community property law is today in full operation, and nothing short of a legislative act or an active vote of the people can wipe it off the statute books, it was announced today by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The referendum movement, designed to hold up this measure and submit it to the people at the 1924 election, failed, it was definitely shown by a check of petitions today. The official count disclosed that 844 signatures were lacking of the 48,209 needed to stop the law.

Jordan announced that this is the first time since the referendum law became effective in 1911 that a legislature has escaped having some of its bills held up for a decision by the people.

The property law, sponsored by organized California women's clubs, allows a wife an equal right with her husband in disposition of community property. She may will away half of the community property as she sees fit. This right until now in California has been reserved for the husband alone, the old law in this connection being based on the code of the early Spanish settlers, according to the state legislative counsel bureau.

SOUTH WILL SEND OUT CARAVAN

Big Delegation to Attend State Realtors' Session At Capital City

Headed by the Pasadena Realty Board, a caravan of automobiles a mile long is expected to wend its way out of Los Angeles, headed for Sacramento, Tuesday morning, October 9, at 7:30 a. m.

The machines will be filled with the realty brokers and salesmen of southern California and their wives, bound for the nineteenth annual convention of the California Real Estate Association at the state capital, October 10-14, 1923.

Pasadena actively a bidder for the state real estate convention next year, asked the honor of heading the procession, pledging to have at least fifty Pasadenans in the caravan. This honor accorded to Pasadena by President Frazier O. Reed, who especially charged Richard D. Davis, Jr., chairman of the great ON TO SACRAMENTO committee, to spare no efforts to have everyone of the forty-five realty boards in southern California represented in big numbers in the caravan at the convention. All realty dealers throughout the state are welcome to attend the convention.

Chairman Davis has received assurances from the State Association offices in the Merchants' National Bank Building in Los Angeles that the Beverly Hills Realty Board has forty of its members already signed up for the caravan. Santa Ana is sending twenty-one or more, while from Long Beach will come a delegation of not less than twenty-five machines, according to State Vice President Henry P. Barbour.

Many From Los Angeles

A large number of the realty dealers of Los Angeles are planning to make the trip to Sacramento, according to State Vice President O. A. Vickrey who will aid in getting up the delegation from Los Angeles Realty board.

The San Diego Realty Board is entering the five minute contest again, and will have a large number of delegates.

The number of delegates to the state convention is not limited except that members of the state association have the right to vote on the business matters coming up before the convention.

The Southwest Realty Board of Los Angeles will have not less than 50 of its members and their wives present at Sacramento, according to President F. M. Shepard of that strong multiple listing board.

The San Bernardino and Riverside boards will be well represented, while from Monrovia, Glendale, Huntington Park, Anaheim, Hermosa Beach, Torrance, Venice, West Hollywood, Santa Monica and other leading cities will come great numbers of realty men and women to swell the attendance at the convention.

Will Leave October 9

The caravan will leave October 9th from the Vermont side of the Ambassador Hotel, and will go via Lankershim and San Fernando over the Ridge Route to Bakersfield where they will be the luncheon guests of the Kern County Realty Board. The evening will be spent at Fresno where the Fresno Realty Board according to President D. Richard Ainsley will provide for their entertainment.

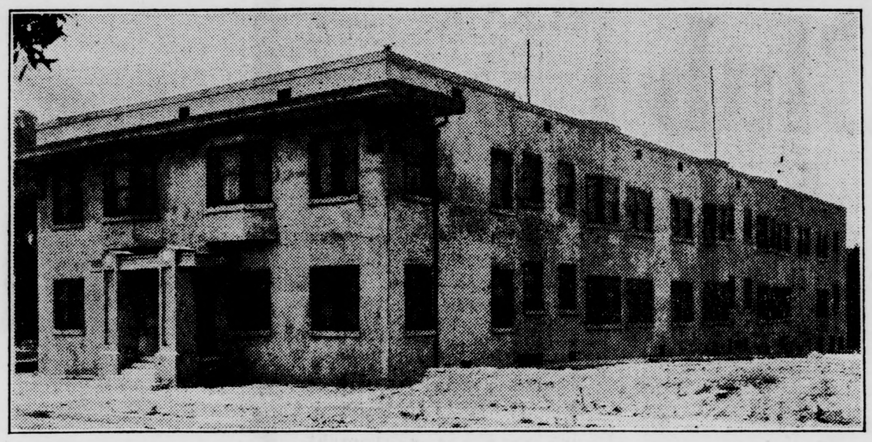
Apartment House With Many Fine Features



Picture taken by Dolberg's Studio of the Frederick Apartments, erected at a cost of $75,000, by Fred A. Reinecke, at 121 South Kenwood street. The structure, which is two stories high, occupies 45x142 feet on a 54x150 foot lot, and contains twenty apartments, each offering living-room with "In-a-closet" bed, breakfast-nook, dressing-room, kitchen and bath. The apartments are finely furnished and completely equipped, each suite containing among other features a radio plug with head-pieces supplied. The Frederick apartments are named in memory of Mr. Reinecke's father.

Land Company Will Test City Ordinance

Three women and nineteen men were arrested in a recent campaign by the city of Los Angeles to enforce an ordinance relating to solicitation of real estate prospects and which prohibits accosting persons on the sidewalk.

The ordinance permits firms to have solicitors on or behind the property line to offer free rides to subdivisions and to pass circulars, but prohibits solicitors from going onto the sidewalk and accosting pedestrians.

Enforcement of this ordinance was stopped by Superior Judge Keetch upon the injunction suit against the Los Angeles City Council by the Boulevard Land Company, who propose to test the legality of the ordinance.

OUT FOR NEW MARK

The average of building permits issued in Los Angeles during the first six working days of August was $1,100,000 per day, which if continued would produce a new high monthly building record.

San Diego Plans to Get New Industries

Members of the San Diego Realty Board recently were shown the industries of Los Angeles by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce officials in their attempt to solve the problem of securing more industrial development in San Diego, for which a concerted drive is soon to be made.

Under the able leadership of President Stephen H. Barnson, their president, and who so splendidly represented San Diego in the Five-Minute Hometown Speech Contest for the Chicago Realty Board cup at the national convention held in Cleveland, this progressive board is rapidly becoming the leading builder in the civic life of their city.

PURCHASING AGENT

The Los Angeles county civil service commission announces an open competitive examination for the position of county purchasing agent, to be held September 14. The salary is $300 per month, with an advance to $350 in two years.

'NO SIGN' DRIVE MOMENTUM GAINS

Restriction of Signboards on Vacant Lots Urged by Realty Men

Pasadena, Alhambra, and Torrance have joined the ranks of Berkeley, San Jose, Oakland, and Santa Monica as cities who either prohibit or restrict the number of "For Sale" signs which can be used on a lot, either by realty board regulations or city ordinance, according to announcement by the California Real Estate association.

Carrol Page Fisk of the Frank Meline Company, chairman of the anti-sign committee, was largely responsible for the elimination of the signs in Pasadena.

The Alhambra realtors met at 9 a. m. June 30, at the office of Mills & Burke and from there proceeded to collect all their signs. Later a parade of the realtors down the principal streets of the city was held.

Donate Signs

Torrance was a "no sign" board from birth, having written the anti-sign rule into their constitution and by-laws. The members of this, the baby board of the state, have donated all their "For Sale" signs for "To Torrance" signs which will be posted along the highways leading to their city.

Santa Monica has handled the sign problem by passing a city ordinance requiring that real estate signs must be at least fifeen feet apart thus restricting three to a fifty foot lot. In addition the board rules require realtors to post signs only when they have an exclusive listing for the property so posted.

At the suggestion of A. A. Baird the Hermosa Beach Realty Board discussed the advisability of removing signs. Those present decided that the time was not ripe yet for the removal of all "For Sale" signs. The matter of multiple listing was also discussed at the meeting.

Collector Warns of Avoiding Tax Paying

Notice was served yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell on aliens who are leaving the United States and who make false statements in order to evade the income tax laws, that they will be arrested and vigorously prosecuted. The penalty for this violation of the law is a fine of $10,000 and two years' imprisonment. One arrest has been made.

Collector Goodcell declared that investigations conducted by his field forces indicated that certain agents in Los Angeles, who are acting for attorneys and interpreters in obtaining clearance papers for aliens, were encouraging taxpayers, especially foreigners, to make false statements upon their application for clearance papers. This investigation will be continued, and where sufficient evidence is obtained these agents will be prosecuted for conspiring to evade the income tax laws.

Evidence collected by the collector shows that many aliens, on the eve of departing from the United States, have been making false affidavits upon calling at the Internal Revenue office for the necessary papers that would enable them to obtain passports.

The list of offenders is being checked and warrants of arrest will be obtained where sufficient evidence to convict is developed.

Collector Goodcell made it plain that the Internal Revenue bureau will prosecute each alien who makes an understatement of his income return, and similar proceedings will be directed against agents who conspire with aliens in their efforts to evade the income tax laws.

FREDERICK APARTMENTS, TO BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION; BUILT AT COST OF $75,000

Structure at 121 South Kenwood Contains Many Features for Appearance and Comfort; Invitation to Public

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

THE FREDERICK APARTMENTS, 121 South Kenwood street, erected at a cost of $75,000, will be open for public inspection Saturday and Sunday, August 18 and 19, reports Fred Reinecke, builder, who has spared no effort or expense to make these the finest apartments in Glendale.

The structure, which is two stories high, occupies 45x142 feet on a 54x150 foot lot with a paved alley in the rear, and is of plaster and concrete construction, very solidly built and pleasing in appearance.

There are twenty apartments in the building, each comprising living room, dressing room, kitchen, breakfast nook and bath, beautifully furnished and completely equipped, designed to rent at moderate rates.

As the different apartments vary only in minor details, a description of one will apply to all.

Many Special Features

The living room is spacious and cheerful, with a hardwood floor covered by one large and one small Turkana rug. The furniture comprises a luxurious day bed, walnut spinet desk and davenport table, leather rocker with air pillow, Windsor design walnut rocker and straight chairs, "In-a-Closet" bed and vented gas heater.

Special features of this room include Tiffany hand-painted oil walls, vacuum cleaner connections, radio plug with headpiece connecting with master receiving set in radio room, 'phone installation complete ready for attachment of instrument, center and side electric fixtures with toggle switches, noise-proof pads under doors and "Calafelt" sound-proofing under the floors, white curtains on windows with pongee side drapes and valances, natural wood door panels and many other distinctive features.

The bathroom contains a straight-wall tub with shower combination, all fixtures in porcelain, tile floor over "Calafelt," together with lavatory and toilet of the most modern type.

Offers Natural Light

The dressing room is provided with a glass panel giving natural light through the breakfast nook, and contains a panel mirror, dressing table, closet with drawers at top and bottom, all built in. This room connects the living room with the bath.

The breakfast nook, which connects the living room with the kitchen, is a bright, attractive room with a cream enameled Windsor folding table and four chairs. It contains many built-in features, among them an ironing board.

The kitchen is equipped with the latest cooking devices on the market, including a direct-action gas range, Nappannee cabinet, magnasite sink, full line of aluminum ware, fifty-pound ice box, connected with a drain pipe, and other features.

The Frederick apartments are fully equipped down to the minutest detail, obviating the purchase of any equipment or utensils. Among the things furnished are broom, Brussels sweeper, O'Cedar mop, use of a vacuum cleaner at any time, laundry tubs in the basement, with private locker for each tub, bath mat in bathroom, forty-pound "Neverstretch" mattress, fine linen and towels, Rogers' silverware, full set of decorated china, full set of kitchen utensils, including egg-beater, wastebasket, garbage can, together with a host of similar items, too numerous to mention.

Every Convenience

In building these apartments Mr. Reinecke had in mind to strike a happy medium between the spaciousness of a house and the confinements of the average apartment, yet to supply every convenience of the former and none of the discomforts of the latter. The result is, the Frederick apartments are undeniably "homey."

"There is nothing for the renter to worry about in these apartments," says Mr. Reinecke, "and nothing for him to purchase in the way of furnishings or equipment. We have supplied everything."

Outside, paved walks run to the rear, along both sides of the apartments, with front and rear entrances; while inside there are front and rear stairways, leading to the upper floor. The apartments were named Frederick in memory of Mr. Reinecke's father.

Proud of Result

Credit for the work is given by Mr. Reinecke to the following firms: Dietrich Realty Co., who interested him in the proposition; The Smith Realty Company, of Los Angeles, general contract; Russell & Pierce Furniture Manufacturing Company, Glendale, furniture; Los Angeles Wall Bed Company, beds; Jacob Fink, Glendale, art and decorative work; and William Peck, Glendale, radio installations.

Mr. Reinecke is justly proud of the Frederick apartments at 121 South Kenwood street. There is nothing like them in Glendale, he is confident. And they are near the heart of the city, convenient to business, schools, churches, theatres, library and sleeping district.

It is expected that large numbers of Glendalians will inspect the new apartments during the opening days, Saturday and Sunday, August 18 and 19.

PROSPERITY ERA LOOMING IN U. S.

Revenue Bureau Report Shows Increase in Receipts Over 1922

That the United States as a whole is entering upon an era of steadily expanding prosperity is indicated by a report received from Washington yesterday by Collector Rex Goodcell, in which increases in receipts from every class of internal revenue taxes is announced.

For July, income tax receipts were $2,365,216, compared with $1,387,164 for July, 1922. Miscellaneous tax collections netted $14,437,265, as against $10,903,231 for July, 1922. This shows a gain in one month in income receipts of $987,052, and for miscellaneous taxes of $3,534,534.

Total revenue receipts from January 1 to August 1 were $142,048,470, compared with $126,876,788 for the corresponding period of last year, a gain of $15,171,682.

Business Expansion

Collector Goodcell pointed out that this immense increase in revenue receipts could be due to business expansion alone, as no federal taxes have been increased; but, on the other hand, the last revenue bill repealed taxes that ran up into millions of dollars. In the Los Angeles district alone the reduction in taxes amounted to $15,000,000 a year.

In order to offset this tremendous loss in revenue, the collector said that the only solution was in business expansion that would cover the entire country and supply new sources of tax revenue.

"Evidently the wave of prosperity is sweeping from the Atlantic to the Pacific," Collector Goodcell continued, "for the revenue receipts for the first seven months of 1923 not only overcame the loss in revenue due to the reduction in taxes, but showed a gain of more than $15,171,000. That means prosperity."

Realty Department Increases Collections

According to information received by the California Real Estate Association, since January 1 the State Real Estate Department has collected $215,000 in license fees as compared to $166,000 for the entire year of 1922, according to figures made public today by Edwin T. Keiser, real estate commissioner.

Increasing activity in the sale of agricultural lands north of the Tehachapi, stimulated by the eastern advertising campaign being conducted by Californians, Inc., is one of the principal reasons for the record collection, Keiser declared.

The work being done by Californians, Inc., said Keiser, is bringing hundreds of easterners to the northern part of the state. Keiser also attributed the increase in fee collections to more rigid checking of real estate brokers and salesmen, and the recruiting of new dealers.

GLENDALE IS BUSY

With nearly $400,000 in building permits rolled up already this month, or approximately the entire total of $393,484 issued during August, 1922, Glendale is seen to be stepping along at a lively pace, despite the fact that it is now mid-summer.

Famous Anderson Ranch To Be Placed On Sale In Lots By Hamlin & Hepburn

THE famous Anderson ranch, in Burbank, known all over Southern California and the middle-west as the Edgemont dairy, has passed into the hands of Hamilton & Hepburn, subdividers of wide experience, whose Glendale office is located at 203 West Broadway.

Named Edgemont Park, this choice tract, which is one of the most fertile in the state and located midway between the centers of Hollywood, Burbank and Lankershim, adjoining the magnificent new Abraham Lincoln school, will be placed on sale today, Saturday, August 18, states E. D. Hamlin.

"Edgemont park is the center of a new city," he says, "but five minutes' distant from both Burbank and Lankershim, and ten minutes' distant from Hollywood. It is served by the new bus line, which goes into operation the day the tract opens, August 18.

"Running diagonally through the property is a ninety-foot highway, to be known as Edgemont boulevard. When completed it will make the connecting link between the forthcoming 100-foot Riverside drive, Los Angeles, and Magnolia avenue, Lankershim.

Reasonable Prices

"Two other main streets, each sixty feet in width, to be known as California and Florence avenues, are being put in; while ten feet is being added to Olive avenue, which intersects the tract, making it an eighty-foot thoroughfare.

"Prices of lots in Edgemont park run from $550 up, with payments of $50 down and $15 per month, and include gas, water, electricity, grading and in some instances curbs and sidewalks.

"The majority of the lots are covered either with walnut trees or alfalfa. The view is beautiful, the location with respect to air currents affording cool, fresh breezes always. The lots are of sizes and locations to meet almost every taste.

"The firm of Hamlin & Hepburn are experienced subdividers, having put on over 150 acres in Glendale, including the very successful subdivisions of Fairview, Sunset Grove and Castle Heights. Lots we sold in a barley field, barely two years ago, for $500 and $600, are today worth double this price and more," says Mr. Hamlin.

Big Re-sale Profits

"We have letters in our files, literally by the hundreds, telling of re-sales in our tracts with profits of 100 per cent and better on the money invested. In Edgemont park, we anticipate increases in value more pronounced than in any other tract we have ever handled, because with other conditions at least equal, we are offering a plan for building up the property that cannot help causing sharp advances."

Mr. Hamlin then outlined his plan, which he states that he has evolved himself and does not think has been worked elsewhere. The plan makes it possible for the buyer at Edgemont park to begin building at once. For a payment down of $50 he can get a lot, with additional payments of $15 per month until clear.

Then, to solve the building problem, Hamlin & Hepburn have organized the Edgemont Lumber company, with yard at 1622 North San Fernando road, at the foot of Western avenue. This yard will furnish for $225, $50 down and $25 per month, the total amount of lumber necessary to build a 14x20 foot house.

On Rear of Lot

This house they will recommend the builder to erect on the rear of his lot. Then, in a few months, when payments on the lumber have been completed and payments on the lot materially reduced, it will be possible to arrange a loan sufficient to build a full-sized house on the front of the lot. Whereupon the little rear house can be rented at a sum sufficient to substantially assist in making the payments from then on.

This plan, Mr. Hamlin feels, solves the rent problem and offers everyone the certainty of a home for no more than what would be paid out each month to the landlord, and this without any burdensome down payment.

Salesmen will be at Edgemont park Saturday and Sunday, when this desirable property close to the hearts of three cities will be offered to the public. The tract will be located by going out Olive avenue, Burbank.

Money Idle? No Better Place In World To Invest It Than City Of Glendale! So Try It

IDLE money is like a diamond mine on Mars—it does no one any good; and least of all does it benefit the possessor.

Big business men consider idle money as a liability rather than an asset. Can little business men become big business men except by employing the same economic precepts and obeying the same laws?

Idle money is like a ball-and-shackle about the feet of progress, holding it back by the very dead, useless weight of unemployed gold. Where development is not rapid, the economic folly of idle money is not so obvious; but in the Pacific Southwest, where progress is straining its every muscle and exerting every ounce of strength to forge ahead, any holding back of this giant of prosperity is nothing short of a crime.

Analyze the situation for yourself. Bring it right home. Let it apply to Glendale. Here is a city of 40,000 and more, that in 1920 was but 13,000. In three years its population has trebled. During the six-month period just passed, building permits exceeded $5,000,000, an average building program of $500 per family. And experts say the building total for the year will reach $10,000,000, or $1000 for each family.

But here is the point. The actual resources of Glendale's 40,000 residents have not begun to be absorbed. Enough millions of idle dollars are in the possession of the people of this city to buy and build on every vacant lot, and to put twelve-story buildings at every important intersection, all within the next year and a half, and bring Glendale into the home stretch of 1925 a glorious winner—60,000 strong!

Idle money is holding us back, here in Glendale, as it is retarding the growth of the entire Pacific Southwest. The one outstanding need of rapidly developing industries is capital, and the same principle holds good with rapidly developing communities. When an industry or a community is unable to finance its own development, it is forced to go to the money-lenders for funds. But outside capital is never as beneficial, in the end, as inside capital; it lacks the personal touch.

Witness the history of the Ford automobile company. At one time Henry Ford's business was to a large extent owned by outside capital, but now he and his family own every dollar of the vast enterprise, and the result is the greatest development of the organization since its inception.

If Glendale is to be financed from within and kept "in the family," its citizens will have to invest their idle money here. Millions are needed. Instead of having a $10,000,000 building year in 1923, let us have a $15,000,000 building year. And let the total swell to $30,000,000 in 1924.

That means opening the purse-strings as never before, going deeper into the reserve than heretofore. After all, aside from an automobile, a home, a life insurance policy and a little sum laid away for sickness or accident, what profit is there in a cash balance? INVEST THAT BALANCE IN GLENDALE!

REALTY BROKERS FACE STIFF QUIZ

Applicants for Licenses to Answer Question List To Secure Permit

The new real estate license law amendments enacted by the state legislature last winter became effective Friday, August 17. On and after that date all new brokers will be required to answer a questionnaire and also file bond for $2,000 with the state of California. Each broker now in the realty business in the state will be required to have a sign, "Licensed Realty Broker," conspicuously posted at his place of business.

State Real Estate Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser in a statement to President Frazier O. Reed of the California Real Estate Association said, regarding enforcement of the new amendments:

"The amendments to the State Real Estate Act became effective on August 17. All applicants for licenses on and after that date will be required to file with their applications a $2,000 bond and a questionnaire which will evidence their educational qualifications.

Must Answer Questions

"Persons applying for a broker's license are requested to secure application blanks and a copy of the questionnaire from the department, and they are notified not to send any application to any of the offices of the State Real Estate Department unless such application is accompanied by both the bond and the questionnaire.

"I call attention to all promoters of colonization projects and rural subdivisions regarding misleading statements about their projects. The amendment requires that all promoters of this character adopt policies and methods that may meet the approval of the real estate commissioner.

"I further call the attention of all brokers to the matter of the sign called for. Every broker is required to display at his place of business or office a sign which gives his name and states that he is a licensed real estate broker. Failure to display such sign will result in a suspension or revocation of license. Inspectors will be on the job immediately to check up with respect to this matter."

Hammer Slayer's Aide Ships Home to U. S.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Jesse Carson, who confessed to having sawed the bars of the county jail and aided in the escape of Clara Phillips, "hammer murdress" now serving a term at San Quentin, and who was with her when she was captured in Honduras, is reported to be returning to the United States and probably into the arms of the law.

NEW PHONE BOOK READY AUGUST 18

PRESENT DIRECTORIES TO BE SUPERSEDED BY LISTS OF NEW NUMBERS

"The present or February Los Angeles County telephone directory will be superseded on August 18 by a book bearing that date. Do not use the old directories after August 18.

"Due to the enormous number of books to be printed and delivered—275,000, or 562 tons of them—it will be impossible to complete distribution in one day."

This was the message today of Fred Deal, local manager of the telephone company, to the people of Glendale.

He added that the old directories will be collected as soon as possible after August 18 and the new ones distributed at the same time to those holding the obsolete books. Distribution, according to Mr. Deal, is scheduled to be completed as fast as possible.

Numbers Changed

The Los Angeles County directories now in the hands of subscribers will be worse than useless after midnight of August 18, because it is then that more than 70,000 Los Angeles telephone numbers will be changed. A call to Los Angeles using one of the old numbers after that date will result in service interference according to Manager Deal.

So, before placing any call to Los Angeles after August 18, if one of the new directories is not at hand, the Glendale telephone user should call "Information" and make sure of the new number, or that the old number has not been changed.

The number changes in Los Angeles were necessary, said Manager Deal, because of the extremely rapid growth of the city, which is comparable to the growth of all Southern California. Just as Los Angeles is becoming a true metropolis, the Los Angeles telephone system must be on a metropolitan basis.

Cut-Over August 18

"Los Angeles, and all Southern California points are presenting a great problem of telephone growth," Manager Deal said. "One of the mile posts in this year's expansion problem in that city will have been reached on midnight, August 18, when the big 'Olive cut-over' will put into use new machine switching apparatus to serve thousands of business district telephones. Co-incident with the 'cut,' more than 70,000 Los Angeles telephone numbers will be changed, and the new August 18 directory will go into use. Because of these changes, Glendale people should not fail to call 'Information' and make sure of their number before placing a telephone call to Los Angeles on August 19, and later. This should be done in every case until the August 18 directories is made available, and thereafter the new book should be used.—Advertisement.

JUDGE SHAW AND FAMILY RETURN

Spend Two Weeks at Camp In Mountains; Jurist Makes Address

Judge and Mrs. Hartley Shaw, with their three children, Dorothy, Evelyn and Lucien, have returned to their home at 212 West Park avenue, after an outing of over two weeks at Torrey's camp, near Forest Home, Mill Creek canyon.

The family made the trip by motor, leaving Glendale early Wednesday morning, August 1, and returning Friday afternoon, August 17.

While at Torrey's camp they occupied a bungalow, spending most of the time in walks and hikes about the beautiful wooded canyon. One night they built a camp-fire out in the wash and sat around in the flickering shadows, telling stories. Another night, they went with the children to a dance at Forest Home.

At Potter Camp

Perhaps the best trip they made was when they drove over the Mill Creek road to Big Bear lake, where they called on Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Potter, who run Potter's camp up there in the summer, living at Glendale during the winter season.

The Shaws enjoyed a motor-boat ride on the lake while they were at Big Bear. Judge Shaw reports the road in fairly good condition.

Returning to Torrey's camp, they spent the balance of their vacatio nwith but one other significant event. That was when, on Sunday afternoon, August 12, Judge Shaw was called upon to deliver a memorial address on the death of former president Warren G. Harding.

Judge and Mrs. Shaw and the children arrived back in Glendale tanned and rested, after a vacation in what they feel is one of the most beautiful spots in Southern California.

REAL INDIVIDUALITY

CASTLE HEIGHTS LOTS IN DEMAND

Tract More Than Half Sold And Remaining Property Is Going Fast

With lots in Castle Heights over half sold out and moving fast this high-class hillside subdivision is proving one of the most popular ever offered in Glendale, according to E. D. Hamlin, of Hamlin & Hepburn, 203 West Broadway, developers of many popular tracts in this city and vicinity.

"A number of our choicest lots in Castle Heights still remain," says Mr. Hamlin, "and these we are confident will be worth from $5000 to $10,000 in a few months' time. The prices at present range from $1750 up, on terms of $500 down and 2 per cent per month, for lots sized 50x165, 60x165 and 64x170 feet, with all improvements paid for, including water, gas, electricity, curbs, gutters, sidewalks and the best macadam pavement, while restrictions run from $5000 to $7500.

"We had an opportunity to buy the Castle Heights tract at a price such that we can turn the lots over cheap and allow all buyers to make good profits if they care to re-sell."

Near Brand Estate

The Castle Heights tract lies just west of the L. C. Brand estate "Miradero" on Mountain street, at the head of Grand View avenue, and is approached by driving up Grand View or by driving up Central avenue and turning west on Kenneth road, then north on Grand View.

Salesmen of the Hamlin & Hepburn firm are on the tract at all times, including Sundays, and the tract can be identified by the orange and black streamers along the property on Mountain street.

COUNTRY CLUB HIGHLAND LOTS

Many Glendale People Buy Property in Subdivision On Pico Boulevard

Country Club Highlands, the big Pico boulevard subdivision by A. G. Smith of Glendale and Senator Benjamin C. Sheldon of Hollywood, who opened up the popular Wing Orange Grove tract on East Colorado boulevard some months ago, is now being offered to the people of this vicinity through Marvin Smith, sales manager.

"We are selling frontage on Pico boulevard as low as from $80 to $135 per front foot." says Mr. Smith, "while fine residence lots can be bought at from $750 up, with terms of 15 per cent down and the balance spread over a period of five years.

"Many Glendale people have bought boulevard or residence lots at Country Club Highlands. We believe that in a few years, frontage on Pico boulevard will be selling for $800 per front foot, with residence property nearby up accordingly.

"This tract offers one of the best investments in southern California. There is only one Pico boulevard in southern California, and only one southern California in the world."

MONTROSE

NEW FURNITURE COMPANY OPENS

Former Owner of Blue Bird Cafe Launches Business Today

The Montrose Furniture Company is scheduled to open its doors for business today at 625 Honolulu avenue, with a complete line of new and used furniture.

George Charbonneau, who has been associated with business activities in Montrose for some time, is the proprietor. He was formerly in the restaurant business, having established and but recently sold the Blue Bird cafe.

After careful consideration of the prospects, Mr. Charbonneau decided that Montrose would welcome and support a furniture store and acted upon the decision.

New Equipment

Cylde Sanderson has recently installed new equipment in his battery and ignition plant. With this addition the facilities are modern in every respect and qualified to handle any class of work.

Mrs. Frances W. Brown, postmistress, has her son and daughter Edwin and Edith, with her during the summer vacation. They have just returned from an outing at Big Bear Lake and will return to college in the fall.

George T. McHugh, formerly of Taft, California, has bought property in Montrose and plans to build a home for himself and family.

A Home for $100 Down

A Home for $100 Down

This home is now built on the tract. The lumber in it costs $225. A lumber company sells it to you through us for $50 down, $25 per month. A few days and a little help and you have a home ready to move into.

This Is What You Have Been Looking For

WHY PAY RENT?

Edgemont Park is being developed by successful subdividers. When we put on Fairview two years ago, we sold lots at opening prices as low as $500 and $600. These same lots are now worth $1000 and $1200.

For years Edgemont Park was the pride of its owner, Mr. C. W. Anderson. Its pure-bred cattle won blue ribbons from coast to coast, and Edgemont stock was known all over the country.

But Edgemont Farm was at the City's gates. In a few years the edge of the "solid city" will stretch far beyond Edgemont Park.

$600 and $700 lots will then be worth $1500 to $2000.

Come out today. See the green alfalfa, the refreshing shade of the walnut trees, gaze at the nearby mountains, consider the nearness to school, the accessibility, and you will realize the inevitable increase in value, and the desirability of Edgemont Park for a home, which we make available to every one for $100 down.

From Glendale drive out San Fernando Road to Olive Ave., in Burbank, then left to tract office.

PHILS HELP TO GIANTS IN RACE

By Consistent Losing to the McGraw Men They Become Great Helpers

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—If John McGraw, the well-known manager, should jockey his Giants into another National league pennant, he can do no less than rise upon his insteps, if any, and give three ringing cheers for Arthur Fletcher, an ex-employe, but not an ex-friend. Arthur, now manager of the funny Phils, has connived to such purpose as to have been more than an indirect influence on the present status of the race, in spite of the fact that his club is a confirmed second-runner.

The influence, in passing, is all in favor of the Giants. In nineteen meetings, to date, with the New York outfit the Phillies have won exactly twice, contributing no little to the Giants' long lead. Seemingly the Giants hold a mesmeristic spell over the Phils similar to that formerly enjoyed by the Yankees over the Athletics.

Another Team

Against the Pittsburgh Pirates, McGraw's staunchest competitor, the Phillies have been another team entirely. Their present record with Pittsburgh is six victories in thirteen starts.

The Cincinnati Reds, the third contender, have been virtually as helpless as they were in facing the Giants, winning only twice in fifteen games. However, the two victories were most inopportune. They came in a double-header just before the Giants arrived in Cincinnati to win five straight, the result being the almost permanent exit of the Reds as a pennant possibility.

Having accomplished this much, the Phillies moved over to Pittsburgh and won three out of four from the Pirates, while the Giants were frolicking on the banks of the American Rhine. This piece of business also tossed the Pirates for a loss behind the line of scrimmage.

All He Needs

These rather plausible performances are not so much the result of haphazard chance as the fact that Fletcher seems to be getting something out of nothing with his ball club. As a matter of fact, all he needs is pitching to carry the team well up toward the head of the second division.

It has plenty of hitting, featuring Williams, Walker, Tierney, Lee, Mokan and others, and a first-class young catcher in Henline, another lusty socker. All of them are aided by the short fences at Philadelphia, but the same applies to opposing hitters there, and, unfortunately, the Phillies' staff of pitchers is not the kind to confine, unduly, the offense of rival teams. Ring is about the only real pitcher in the outfit, and Jimmy is by no means the man he was with Cincinnati in 1919.

BOXER RECOVERS AFTER COLLAPSE

Downey's Condition Serious After Beating by Firpo, Doctors Declare

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 18.—Joe Downey, opponent of Luis Firpo, heavyweight champion contender, who collapsed after their bout here at midnight, regained consciousness seven hours later. While Downey's condition is serious, physicians thought his recovery likely. Downey was able to walk out of the ring, and his collapse was not attributed to any particular blow by Firpo.

Downey took a severe beating, particularly in the tenth round, though sixteen ounce gloves were used by order of Sheriff Snider.

Merchants Nine Will Meet Pasadena Elks

One of the largest crowds that ever attended a local ball game is anticipated tomorrow afternoon, August 19, at 2:30 o'clock, on the home grounds at Park avenue and San Fernando road, when the Glendale Merchants, led by Walt Heidler, will go up against the snappy Pasadena Elks.

"If the large crowds with their good financial support continue to attend our games as they have in the past few weeks," says Walt, "we will soon be able to put on one of the fastest semi-pro teams in the county.

Athletic Club Plays San Gabriel Sunday

The Glendale Athletic Club nine will meet the San Gabriel Merchants tomorrow afternoon, August 19, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Haddock-Nibley Happyland Amusement park, Verdugo Woodlands.

Hurler Tom Morgan will do the stuff for the locals, with Faultner behind the platter. With this battery the visitors will have to step lively to get a look-in, feels Charles Brice, manager of the G. A. C.

Arrangements have been made to take care of a large crowd at this game.

'Jumbo' Stiehm Dead From Long Illness

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Aug. 18.—Euwaldo "Jumbo" Stiehm idol of the Indiana football fans and for many years athletic director of the state school, died here today of cancer of the stomach. Stiehm resigned from the University about a year ago because of ill health.

The Braves lost their fifteenth game in nineteen played with the Cubs, 6 to 2, Keen having a decided edge on the Boston players.

The Senators moved into fifth place by scoring a ten inning victory over the White Sox, 6 to 4.

REALTY PROFITS PROBE LAUNCHED

Internal Revenue Bureau to Compel Payment of Delinquent Taxes

Investigations conducted by field deputies, acting under instructions received from Washington by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell, indicate that many taxpayers in Southern California have neglected to include as income in their returns for 1920, 1921 and 1922 profit realized from the sale of real estate. The probe has been on a wholesale plan.

Collector Goodcell declared yesterday that he believed the failure of taxpayers to include this item of income was due to an erroneous interpretation of the income tax laws and to misleading publicity that was given out prior to the ruling of the supreme court of the United States holding that such gains were taxable income under the internal revenue laws.

List All Transfers

In order to close up the dragnet a transcript is being made of all realty transfers. The collector said that a fair investigation would be made of his files, to determine whether or not these sales have been reported upon the income tax returns. He suggested that any person who failed to include the profit realized from the sale of real estate call at his office or file an amended return, as it is the policy of the internal revenue department not to assess heavy penalties when the disclosure of failure to include income is voluntarily made by the taxpayer.

Where the taxpayer does not voluntarily disclose items of income that were omitted and where the gains from real estate sales have not been reported, Collector Goodcell said it would be necessary to assess full penalties upon all returns where the investigation disclosed the failure of the taxpayer to include real estate gains in his income tax returns.

Prompt and voluntary action by taxpayers who have not declared their real estate profits will save them thousands of dollars in penalties.

TAGGING ALL BASES

"Bitter" Pillette, the untamed wild cat was generosity itself his gratuities giving the Athletics a 7 to 6 win over the Tigers.

George H. Ruth, the well known left fielder, made a personal matter of presenting the Yanks with a 5 to 4 victory, his double in the eighth paving the way for Van Gilder's ultimate defeat and his homer in the first giving the Yanks their first run. The latter was his 31st home run of the season.

Southland Will Send Delegation to Meet

On Wednesday, October 10th, the caravan passing via Madera, Merced, Turlock, and Modesto, will arrive in San Joaquin county shortly afternoon and be feted by the Stockton Realtors' Association and the Lodi Board of Realtors. The caravan is due at Sacramento at 6 p. m. Wednesday evening, in time for the President's Reception and the annual grand ball of the state association.

The California Real Estate Association Convention this year will be one of great interest and general rejoicing for the state men. For at the recent national convention two prominent association men won high honor for their state. C. C. Tatum, past state president, was elected vice-president of the National Association for the Pacific Coast. Fred E. Reed, past state president, won the 5 minute home town cup contest for Oakland and California. Both of these distinguished leaders will be guests of the convention.

1000 Guests Expected

"If advance reports from many of our 104 realty boards are an indication of our convention interest," Glenn D. Willaman, state secretary of the California Real Estate Association declared, "we will have 1000 realty visitors from all over California as the guests of Sacramento from October 10 to October 15. Wherever I have gone in my work I have found the board members eager to go to Sacramento this fall. They are planning for a big time for themselves and their wives, and the Sacramento members and their ladies have been working all summer getting ready for the big event. Many boards have already chosen their five minute speakers for the Fred E. Reed home town cup.

"Many realty members play golf, and the Sacramento Realty Board through its golf chairman, A. R. Galloway Jr., has offered a perpetual silver loving trophy to be awarded by the Association annually in the golf tournament. The tournament will be held at the beautiful Del Paso Country Club course on the Sunday following the convention."

State President Frazier O. Reed announced today that there will be caravans from the San Joaquin Valley, led by Chairman D. Richard Ainsley of Fresno; from the west coast, Santa Clara Valley, San Francisco and Oakland led by Charles F. Crothers, treasurer of the California Real Estate Association; of San Jose; from the San Rafael to Eureka country, led by General James H. Gray of Santa Rosa; from the Sacramento Valley led by W. E. Luman of Chico; and that in addition to the general entertainment provided by the Sacramento Realtors at the capital, the Sacramento Valley Realty Boards of Marysville, Chico, Red Bluff, Redding, Orland, Willows, Woodland, would provide free a trip for the delegates to visit the main points of the valley as their guests. It is planned to have the delegates see the rich valley farm land possibilities and to visit the Durham Land settlement, Orland Government Irrigation Project, the largest lemon orchard in the world in Colusa county, and the University of California farm at Davis. The trip will take days, and, according to Chairman W. E. Luman, will be as big an event of the trip as any. It will probably be arranged for Sunday and Monday, October 15 and 16.

Ruth Takes Lead in Home Run Contest

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 18.—Babe Ruth smashed out his thirty-first home run of the year here yesterday in the first inning of the New York Yankees-Browns game. The clout put him ahead of Cy Williams, his closest rivel for home run honors. Van Gilder was pitching.

Watch Glendale Grow!

The Development of Glendale Seems Almost Miraculous

—No city in its class in the country has made so much material progress in late years.

—Many are the reasons for this growth of building—population, location and wealth.

—One reason is our faith and our optimism in our city and in ourselves.

In Regard to the Furnishing of Lumber and Building Material

—It has been our privilege to supply much of the material that has gone into Glendale's beautiful HOMES and COMMERCIAL BUILDINGS—going back for over ten years. This is a record of constant ability and stability, dependability and reputation, of which we are justly proud.

—We expect to put into the buildings of today and tomorrow our share of the BEST GRADES OF LUMBER and MATERIALS. The sort we have always furnished for the building of Glendale.

—We take a helpful interest in your building problems and are glad to assist you wherever possible.

TAX VALUATIONS SHOW INCREASE

County Auditor's Report for Taxable Year Reveals $1,250,000 Addition

Approximately $1,250,000 has been added to Burbank's property valuation for the taxable year of 1923-24, as over that of 1922-23, according to City Clerk Webster, who has received a report to this effect from the Los Angeles county auditor's office, based on figures compiled by County Assessor Hopkins.

	1923-4	1922-3
Value real estate	$3,337,705	$2,719.310
Value of improvements	1,912,100	1,537,660
Net value personal property..	1,138,200	900,995
Money and solvent property..	113,860	67,385
Exemptions	119,650	87,440
Unsecured personal property..	215,855	159,600
Total non-operative value	6,598,070	5,337,510
Operative value	330,115	306,110

The valuation of railroad property in Burbank was, according to last year's figures: Southern Pacific, $443,600; Pullman, S. P., $6,361; and Pacific Electric, $32,946,—a total of $482,907.

The municipal tax rate is based on these figures furnished each year by the county auditor's office, and they are therefore of more than ordinary importance, Mr. Webster states.

Elmer Dale Resigns

Elmer Dale, who has been city building inspector for over a year, has tendered his resignation to the city trustees. His place is being filled at present by William Coryell, who has substituted for him on previous occasions.

R. W. Colburn, who recently resigned from the executive secretaryship of the Chamber of Commerce, is now representing an outside newspaper in Burbank. A Mr. Blakey, who was the latest person to hold this position is understood to be seeking to fill the position vacated by Mr. Colburn.

Dr. Ralph McGee, aged thirty-two years, a chiropractor for two months in the office of Drs. Burwash, died suddenly Saturday night, August 11, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, heart failure being given as the cause of death. The body is in charge of the Fillbach Undertaking company. The young man's parents are on the way from Pittsburgh, Pa., to be present at the funeral, which will be held upon their arrival.

Lake Street Meeting

A meeting of the residents interested in the improvement of Lake street was held Thursday afternoon, August 16, at the home of J. W. Fawkes, on Olive avenue, when members of the city planning commission and others were present. Among the matters discussed was that of a bridge across the river at that point, while the subject of truck loads also came in for considerable discussion, the use of Front street instead of Flower street being proposed.

Mr. Edwards, chief engineer of the Southern Pacific, was among those present.

SEVEN DAYS FOR LONG JOURNEY

Drives Chevrolet Truck From Pennsylvania to Coast; 400 Miles Day

Seven days and a half elapsed time between New Kensington, Pennsylvania, and Glendale is the record made by W. H. Morgan, a resident of the former city, who arrived here on August 8 after a trip of about 3,000 miles that began on August 1. Mr. Morgan, his wife and child, made the trip in a Chevrolet No. 2 Delivery truck, which he had specially fitted up with a bed in the body of the truck, and the machine stood the strain of almost constant driving without a falter, the only trouble on the entire journey being four blow-outs.

The mileage made by Mr. Morgan was over 400 miles daily, except on two days, when it fell below that figure, but he made up for the loss when he drove 465 miles from Kansas, through Colorado, to Raton, N. M. Mr. Morgan, who is on a month's vacation, wished to spend as much time as possible on the coast, so he kept a-going right along, driving the entire distance himself and finishing strong, he claims. Gasoline consumption for the 3000 miles averaged 20½ miles per gallon.

The startling accomplishment of Mr. Morgan and the Chevrolet No. 2 Delivery truck has been carefully checked up by C. L. Smith, Orange and Colorado, local agents for the car, and the absolute dependability of his claims has been established beyond a doubt, Mr. Smith asserts, showing what can be done with a car built to stand hard driving combined with ability to economize on fuel.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, who are visiting in Glendale with friends, expect to leave for their home in Pennsylvania within a few days and will endeavor to emulate the time made on their trip west.

EAGLE ROCK

HARDING MAY BE NAME OF SCHOOL

Improvement Ass'n Propose Name to Los Angeles Education Board

The Warren G. Harding school may be chosen as the name for the fine new building now being erected at the corner of Toland way and Valley drive. The idea was discussed at a recent meeting of the Occidental-York Valley Improvement association and has been suggested to the Los Angeles Board of Education.

The matter of affiliating with the surrounding improvement associations was discussed, but it was the consensus of opinion that the body can be more effective in securing improvements of the Occidental district as at present organized.

Mrs. H. R. Collins, "the mother of six," presided over the meeting, as president pro tem, being also president of the Buchanan Parent-Teacher association. She stated that she has conferred with the heads of most of the city departments on the matter of a safety button at the dangerous crossing of York boulevard and Glassell avenue, where there have been many fatalities.

Circulate Petition

She has been promised some action, she said. A petition asking for relief at this point has been circulated throughout the neighborhood and it seems likely that something will be done to remedy the situation.

The question of poor mail service was under consideration and steps were taken to improve it. Bus or rail service for Franklin school also came up and is being worked out by a committee of representatives from Eagle Rock and Occidental. Other grievances were aired and it was agreed the meeting had been most satisfactory.

Another meeting of the Occidental-York Valley Improvement association will be held the night of August 27, in the lecture room of the Occidental United Presbyterian church, at which time officers for the year will be elected.

Social and Personal

Rev. Hardy G. Koen, of College View avenue, is supplying the church at Spokane, Wash., for the month of August. He was formerly pastor of the Christian church here, giving up the pulpit on account of ill health.

Mrs. Clara S. Ellis, of 2340 West Mariposa avenue, has been the guest of her friend of many years, Mrs. Emma Marshall, at Venice.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Donnell, who have returned from their honeymoon trip spent in the east, will occupy their home on Paloma avenue as soon as it is completed.

Mrs. J. Hopkins and daughter, former residents of Eagle Rock, have returned and are living on North Highlands avenue. Miss Hopkins will enter Occidental College in the fall.

Tennesseans Here

Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Kirkes, who are visiting their daughter and family in Highland Park, attended the Presbyterian church here last Sunday and greeted old friends. They come from Nashville, Tenn., and were one-time residents of this community, when they owned the property at 107 North Acacia avenue. Dr. Kirkes was one of the organizers of the Presbyterian church here. Their son Leonard works in a lumber lard at San Fernando.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross have purchased a home on Ellenwood drive and Mr. Ross is looking around, thinking of going into business here. They come from Cincinnatti, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hunt and family, who are spending six weeks at Big Bear Lake, are erecting a cabin on their site there.

A. P. Steel, of 119 Rowland avenue, has sold his home to some Burbank folks, and will move with his family to Glendale.

Fire Boss Is Blamed For Kemmerer Blast

KEMMERER, Wyo., Aug. 18.—Probably the last word of the disastrous explosion which wrecked the Frontier Mine No. 1, of the Kemmerer Coal Company, took ninety-nine victims and left misery and want in its wake to half the population of this city, was spoken yesterday afternoon when the coroner's jury brought in their decision. The accident was blamed on the fire boss, who was killed in the explosion, and gas which had accumulated in one of the tunnels. The following verdict was made public here at 2 p. m.:

"We, the undersigned jury, empanelled to determine the cause of the explosion in No. 1 mine of the Kemmerer Coal Company, come to the conclusion that the explosion was caused by gas being lit by the fire boss, while lighting up his lamp, and as a result of the explosion all victims are dead."

The verdict was signed by George Brown, Joe Bird and William McAllister, coroner's jury.

The Canadian government is planning a chain of radio stations extending right into the Arctic Circle.
